MUNLEY'S VIEWS ON CAMPAIGN

With Special Reference to Col. Butcher's Candidacy.

W. A. Munley has recently returned from a visit into Eastern Oregon. Mr. Munley was asked by The Journal to speak particularly of the state of the campaign of Colonel W. F. Butcher, Democratic nominee for Congress from the Second District. He said:

"I found that Colonel Butcher had gained in strength every day since the beginning of the campaign. His speeches have been effective. He offers a rational program of procedure and gives excellent reasons why the people of this district would be in a stronger position in the eyes of the Federal government and the managers of the dominant party in the East, if they elected a Democrat to congress."

"In the first place, he argues, that sure States receive no consideration from party managers. They say, for instance, Oregon has always been a sure Republican State. Why need we bother to give any favors to the people of that commonwealth? And he cites, and pertinently too, that the States of Washington and California, neither of them sure Republican States, have received unbounded favors from the Federal government."

"In calling the attention of Portland business men to Colonel Butcher's argument, I suggest that they apply it to the question of government contracts for army supplies and the shipping of the same from Pacific Coast ports to the Philippines during the present war. There has been constant complaint that justice in that port has been overlooked, and that Seattle and San Francisco have received practically all the concessions from the War Department. This illustration is concrete, and rests upon solid business considerations. Can any one successfully controvert Colonel Butcher's contentions that sure Republican States receive no favors from the disposing powers of the dominant party?"

Colonel Butcher also finds as he canvasses Eastern Oregon that his opponents are telling the people they must vote for Mr. Williamson if they expect any appropriation for the Lewis and Clark Centennial. He answers this as he does the general proposition to which I referred and very rightly suggest to the people that the Republican managers have been very liberal in their appropriations for New York, a doubtful State, and Missouri and South Carolina, both Democratic States, when great expenditures were planned.

It occurs to me in this connection that the people of Oregon ought to look at it in this light. If the Republican managers should refuse the appropriations because this state went Democratic, the people of Oregon ought to do very violent things to them when the next election arrived. However, the claim that the election of Democrats will operate to prevent appropriations is silly, as the merest tyro in politics well knows.

LUNCHEON ON THE GAULOIS. Notable Gathering on French Warship.

(Journal Special Service.) WASHINGTON, D. C., May 23.-Everything is in readiness for the unveiling tomorrow of the Rochambeau monument. The ceremonies will take place at 11 o'clock. Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, has been chosen orator of the occasion, and General Brugere will make a speech, to which Ambassador Cambon will respond. French music will form most of the program, and French and American flags will wave side by side.

Today's luncheon on board of the French warship Gaulois proved a notable entertainment. The invited guests included the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Alice Roosevelt, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Hay, the Admiral of the Navy and Mrs. Dewey, the General of the Army and Mrs. Miles, and the Ambassadors and Ministers of the European powers.

FLAGS FOR THE ST. LOUIS FAIR. (Journal Special Service.) ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 23.-The selection of a flag for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition has been narrowed down to two designs, and these have been submitted to the Board of Directors so that a choice may be made. The size of the flag is 9 by 15 feet. One has a blue bar next the staff, covering one-fourth the flag, and carrying a giant fleur de lis. The remainder of the flag consists of three longitudinal red, white and yellow stripes, the white stripe, in the middle, having blue stars, one for each State in the Louisiana Territory. The other design is all blue with the exception of a broad cross which divides the field into equal sections. The horizontal bars of this cross are yellow, the vertical red, with a large fleur de lis at the intersection. A circle of white stars, one for each State and Territory in the Louisiana Purchase, surrounds the fleur de lis. The four colors, red, white, blue and yellow are all the colors of the three nations, France, Spain and the United States, under whose sovereignty the Louisiana Territory has been at different times.

A MODERN ENOCH ARDEN

Missing Man Came Back After Forty-Seven Years.

CARLINVILLE, Ill., May 23.-A story rivaling that of Enoch Arden has come to light at Hettick, a village in Macoupin County, when William Cole, mourned for 47 years as dead, returned to his old home to find that his wife had married again and that his children, whom he left as youngsters, were grown to manhood and womanhood and themselves married.

Forty-seven years ago William Cole, then a wealthy farmer, residing in the vicinity of Hettick, harnessed his team, bade his wife and family good-by, and started for Tennessee to collect $1,700 from his estate and close up his affairs in that State, from which he had come a few years previous. From that time to this he has not been heard from and had been given up by his wife and children as dead.

For years his wife lived single, although she believed him dead, but finally remarried, and the children grew to maturity, married and scattered about the country. In time the second husband died and finally the wife.

Yesterday he walked into the village and inquired what had become of the family of William Cole. He was directed to the home of Mrs. Flora Ballow, a daughter, and asked for a few days' board, and she related the story of her father's disappearance as told her years ago by her mother.

When the daughter had finished her narrative, the old man said simply: "I am he of whom you speak. I am your father."

The old man grew wealthy in California. He will make his home in Hettick.

SOCIETY INSURANCE

Is Strongly Attacked by an Insurance Commissioner.

(Journal Special Service.) HARTFORD, Conn., May 23.-Much interest has been aroused in the report of State Insurance Commissioner E. L. Scofield relative to secret or fraternal society insurance. The commissioner takes a decidedly pessimistic view of the matter, and his statements attract all the more attention as Connecticut has long been regarded as a banner state for nearly every fraternal insurance organization in America.

The increase in assets and decreases in liabilities in 1901 over 1900 would be taken to indicate a prosperous condition of the organizations, when reference is had to the increase in expenses as compared with the increase in membership and the amount paid for death claims, satisfactory conditions are not manifest. It would seem that the time is at hand, the report continues, when some very decided move should be made to reduce the expenses, and that careful thought should be given to the increase in the mortality experienced.

Popularity. "Do you think he would be a success in politics?" "Yes, indeed. Why, he has thoroughly mastered the knack of looking interested when he is being bored."-Chicago Post.

ALL FOR SWEET CHARITY'S SAKE. (Journal Special Service.) CHICAGO, Ill., May 23.-The relief fund for the Martinique sufferers will be increased by many hundreds of dollars as a result of the mammoth theatrical benefit held at McVicker's Theatre this afternoon. The affair was one of the largest of its kind ever seen in Chicago. All the prominent players now appearing in the city contributed their services, and their efforts were rewarded by the applause of a fashionable audience that packed the house from the parquet to the topmost gallery, and overflowed into the aisles and foyer. HOT TIME. (Journal Special Service.) ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 23.-The contractor who is building the Varied Industries Palace at the World's Fair has suggested the holding of a dancing carnival upon a magnificent scale to celebrate the completion of the floor of the building. In the construction of these mammoth palaces the floors are built first and then the superstructures put in place. In the Varied Industries building the main floor area is about 14 acres. The contractor proposes to have a mammoth brass band occupy a stand in the centre of the floor and play tunes suitable for dancing while 100,000 dancers join in the promenade. The contractor expresses the opinion that he will have no trouble in securing permission from the directors of the Fair to carry out his carnival idea.
