

BIG CROWD HEARS CHAMBERLAIN IN ALBINA

The Reception Given Leaves no Room for Doubting the Successful Outcome.

Comes Hall was crowded last night to its utmost limit by citizens of Albina and other supporters of George E. Chamberlain, the Democratic candidate for Governor.

The presence of so large a concourse of people, gathered irrespective of party, was a fitting tribute to the man whose candidacy has aroused such enthusiasm and brought to his support thousands of citizens of the state of Oregon, who, for the first time, are going to firmly protest by their votes for Chamberlain against the unscrupulous methods of the Matthews-Scott political machine.

Samuel White, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, presided at the meeting, and, without wasting any words, introduced Mr. Chamberlain as the next Governor of the state of Oregon. When the gentleman stepped to the front of the platform he was greeted with prolonged applause.

Looking over the great crowd assembled in the hall, and after waiting for the outburst of applause to subside that greeted his introductory remarks, Mr. Chamberlain said:

The Usual "Frost."

"This is a specimen of the big frosts that I have met during my campaign, as told in some of the papers opposing my election."

Continuing, he said:

"The representatives of the majority party hitherto have always made an aggressive political fight, setting the pace for the opposition, but this year the Republican speakers have violated the established rule, trailing along in the rear, finding fault with the Democratic party and pointing out all the mistakes made excepting those committed by Moses and Fulton. They are now two days behind the procession. Next Monday they will be a week behind and 8000 votes short. It is charged that I am conducting an abusive campaign. I deny it. The platforms of the two parties are very similar, leaving little chance for discussing partisan politics. The only difference apparent is that there seems to be no connecting link, but, judging by some of the caricatures they have been pleased to publish, they think perhaps I am the missing link. The Republicans have put in their platform the Democratic planks of the initiative and referendum, the election of United States Senators by the people and the right of labor to organize, and then coolly appropriate the same as their own, and after doing this, have ruthlessly invaded the sanctity of the Democratic home, kidnapped one of the family, and put him on their platform as the Republican candidate for Governor. Don't fool yourselves. You are going to have a Democratic Governor, no matter who is elected. He's got the brand on him and he can't rub it out."

The State Issues.

"The official extravagances that characterize our state administration has grown to such startling proportions as to prove of more than passing interest to every taxpayer. I favor the paying of the salaries to state officials as provided by the constitution, without any additional fees or perquisites, and yet, in the face of this plain constitutional prohibition, today the Governor receives $6700 per annum, the Secretary of State $22,000, the State Treasurer $8000, the Supreme Court Justices $3500, and the services of a stenographer for each of them. All this has been done in ambush. The Legislature has created sundry commissions and making the state officials members thereof, with additional fees and salaries. The State Printer in four years received $128,000, and who has ever received anything from that establishment? I declare myself here in favor of paying flat salaries to our state officials. The platforms of both parties have declared for it, but the speakers for the Republicans are fighting the measure on the stump. Something ought to be done to check this stupendous extravagance, and if I am elected I will endeavor to find out if the courts will declare or not if the constitution of the state means what it says.

"May be I will be unable to carry out the reforms I desire to, but if I don't I will turn the flashlight on the scene and show to the people what is actually going on. If I am elected Governor, I will demand to see the appropriation bill 15 days before adjournment, and, if it contains any trace of jobbery or extravagance, I promise you it will receive my prompt veto. I am not here to criticize the past. Let the dead past bury its dead. It is a question of eliminating these extravagances and doing better in the future."

The Erstwhile Democrat.

"My opponent is coming along in the rear with Mr. Fulton as his spokesman who sees fit to abuse me. Mr. Furnish can't abuse me. I don't believe he knows how. I certainly am not going to abuse him. He is a nice gentleman and a good organizer. Mr. Butcher and myself have set with him in Democratic conventions, and I hope you will get the benefit of his education in our school. What is there in his record that he should have been selected to attract the public eye, to be singled out instead of Stephen A. Lowell, an honored and respected citizen of Oregon; or in place of T. T. Geer, who has fought the battles of his party for a lifetime, or in place of H. E. Ely, who has been a household word, a man of known integrity and unblemished honor? Why were these men turned down? Gentlemen, you know why. Mr. Furnish says he is not a man of words, but a man of action, and would make a campaign that the people of Oregon would be proud of. What has he done to swell your hearts with pride?"

No Illegal Voting.

"A few days before the primary election in this city, the opposition paper held me up as a sort of boyman and warned the thugs and others that any attempt at illegal voting would be met by the prompt enforcement of the law by me. Let me tell you that I will be in business again here on June 2, and any Democrat or Republican who makes the attempt to use money to secure votes will sleep that night behind the prison bars. I do not say that the attempt will be made, but give fair warning now."

"I am charged with being a genial, companionable fellow. I plead guilty to the charge. That knowledge has brought to my support thousands of young men and horny-handed sons of toil, irrespective of politics.

"One important measure that is presented to you is the initiative and referendum, and I want to refer to it here so that the railroad men and all laboring men can know just where I stand. Two years ago a bill was introduced in the Legislature providing for a modification of what is known as the fellow servant law. The railroad employees want to be relieved of some of its burdens. What became of that law? It was introduced in the Senate. Fulton was President of that body. The bill was tossed about like a chip on an ocean wave until suddenly the 90-day passes provided the members of the railroad companies were all called in and in their place annual passes were issued and then the bill disappeared. It was a piece of legislation hard to explain, but the railroad employees never got sight of it again. I advocate a modification of the present law concerning fellow servants and my opponent, through his proxy, Fulton, says I am giving the people 'hot air' and that I will obstruct legislation. I will not obstruct it, but when elected Governor I will be able to hold it down."

"My opponents in combining to defeat me resort to the basest methods. They appeal to the greed of the people and say if Chamberlain is elected, Oregon can not get anything from the administration. Don't you know how the Oregonian has been howling because you have not been able even to get a little transport, while California and Washington are reeking with the favors showered on them by the administration that is carefully looking after doubtful states? Why has Oregon failed to share in this? Because the state is so safely Republican in the estimation of the patronage dispensers at Washington that no heed is taken of it. If I am elected, I think I can safely promise you a warship every Fourth of July."

Sacredness of His Oath.

"They appeal to the prejudices of the people, sending East for speakers to assist in defeating me and have even gone to the expense of having Mark Hanna interviewed, who says, 'don't elect Chamberlain, but save the party.' They say also that I am a Democrat. Well, I am too well known, have lived too long in Oregon to deny it, but let me assure them and assure you that when it comes to the discharge of my duties, I will not know a Republican from a Democrat. Acting under the sacredness of my oath of office, I will always consider the performance of duty above politics, race or religion. I leave the matter in your hands, promising never to be guilty of an act that would tend to bring the blush of shame to your cheek. I will do all in my power to give to all the people of Oregon an honest government and hope to so conduct myself that at the close of my term you can say, well done, good and faithful servant. The matter is in your hands to decide."

Following Mr. Chamberlain, Professor W. A. Wann, candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, spoke briefly on the school system and the reforms he would introduce, if elected.

Chairman White then introduced Col. W. F. Butcher, candidate for Congress in this district, as a man who would do his own talking. For an hour or more Colonel Butcher, made the word of the chairman good. He talked and the people listened to him. He provoked continued applause. Colonel Butcher is fairly in it; undaunted in spirit, aggressive in speech and telling a good many wholesome truths in advocacy of his election. He carries a conviction in his remarks that not only puts men to thinking, but is also making him voice.

Mr. Chamberlain will speak at Burkhart hall, on the East Side, tonight.

mission to visit the man in his cell, the girl planned the details of the escape. "As far as I know every prisoner in the guardhouse has a sweetheart," said Adjutant Dunham. "How they get them is more than I can find out. A man cannot get too desperate to have a girl who is willing to buy him a suit of clothing and give him money with which to get away. They must do this at a great sacrifice."

LOVE LAUGHS AT LOCKSMITHS

How Gallant Soldier Boys Escape From Fort Sheridan.

(Journal Special Service.) CHICAGO, May 29.—In the frequent visits of sweethearts to the prisoners in the guardhouse at the Fort Sheridan authorities think they have discovered the agency through which so many men have been able to escape. The solution of this new problem, they admit, is the hardest task they have encountered.

How does every prisoner get a sweetheart? How can the Adjutant of the post refuse a pretty girl permission to see the man of her heart? These are questions which the officers are called upon to answer. No solution of the problem has yet been offered, and it is feared that none will be found.

Since the first of the year between 20 and 30 general prisoners, those who have been sentenced for two years or more, have escaped, and not one of them has been recaptured. In many instances these escapes were made by daring dashes across an open space of 75 yards in the face of a sentry armed with a repeating rifle, whose orders were to shoot straight. One man was hit, but got away in spite of his wound. Others overpowered their guard, while still others escaped in the crowds of visitors who flock to the post every Sunday afternoon.

In almost every case the escaping prisoner found a suit of civilian's clothes which had been hidden in the dense wood surrounding the reservation. Having exchanged his military garb for the less conspicuous garments, he was able to leave the place unnoticed while the soldiers were scouring the country in search of him.

An investigation disclosed the fact that in nearly every case the civilian's clothes were secreted in the woods by the prisoner's sweetheart. Having secured per-

NO PRIMARY ELECTION HELD

In Bohemia Precinct—Crawford's Proxy Invalid.

(Journal Special Service.) ROSEBURG, Ore., May 29.—It has just come to light here that no primary was held by the Republicans in Bohemia Precinct in this county. That is the precinct which was represented by A. C. Crawford. No primary being held, his proxy was therefore fraudulent. This gives further light on how he obtained his nomination as Attorney General.

CANUCKS RIOT IN HALIFAX

(Journal Special Service.) HALIFAX, N. S., May 29.—Four hundred men of the Canadian mounted rifles, who were scheduled to leave for South Africa, broke from their barracks and created a riot. They attacked the negro female keeper of a dive where one of the soldiers was sandbagged, smashed all the glass in the dive and then tore the front of the building out. The inmates fled for their lives. Squads of armed military men and civil officers arrived and dispersed the rioters with difficulty. Nearly all of the 400 are from the prairies of Western Canada.

Ferry Salaries Raised.

The Board of County Commissioners have decided to raise the wages of the employees of the Albina ferry $10 per month each, the increase to take effect June 1. This action was taken on the showing of Captain W. H. Foster, superintendent of the ferry, who stated that the men were receiving less pay than those in the employ of the steamboat companies, and that he and two other men on the ferry work 14 hours a day, and the two engineers 15 hours each. The night engineer acts as watchman, keeps the engine in order, washes the decks, also runs the engine two hours in the evenings, and does other extra work. He suggested that his own wages be raised from $30 to $40 a month, the first engineer from $35 to $40, the second engineer from $35 to $38, and the $60 men to $75.

ERIN GO BRAGH

(Journal Special Service.) SEATTLE, May 29.—With her little head nestling on a green satin pillow, on which was inscribed "Erin Go Bragh," little Mary Florence Clancy, three weeks old, slept sweetly, while her happy parents and two hundreds of their neighbors and friends celebrated a christening party in true Irish fashion.

The reception took place at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Clancy, on the corner of Tenth avenue and Yeeler way, last night, and was occasioned by the christening of their little daughter, the first child to gladden their household in the twenty-two years of their married life.

The christening took place at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Father Wood, with M. C. Scully and Rita Magee as sponsors. In the evening, at the house, the baby was carried out by the father into the parlor, where the walls were draped with American and Irish flags, and while a harpist picked out the beautiful notes of Killarney, the christening party were photographed by flash-light.
