

CITY BRIEFS

The Board of County Commissioners today made an allowance of $500 for the salaries of the judges and clerks of election.

County Clerk Lot O. Swetland and the County Commissioners have everything in readiness for the election Monday. All the booths have been sent out to the different precincts, and eight tents have been pitched about town where it was impossible to secure other quarters.

The receipts of the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue for the past fiscal year amounts to over $1,000,000. This does not include the month of June, in which receipts are very heavy.

The Collector of Internal Revenue, Dunne, has completed the removal of his office from the Worcester Block to the new government building. It has been a big job, as the accumulation of old papers amounted to several tons.

Watson's Restaurant, open nights to 1 a. m.

The Federated Trades has arranged with one of Portland's best brass bands for its excursion to Salem tomorrow. There will be plenty of good music.

The Willamette River has risen one foot in the last 24 hours, according to the following bulletin, issued by the Weather Bureau: The stage of the river at Portland is 19.7 feet; The Dalles, 36.3 feet; Umatilla, 21.7 feet; Northport, 27.5 feet; Riparian, 13.8 feet; Lewiston, 12.8 feet; Weiser, 7 feet. The lower Columbia River will continue rising for the next four or five days, but the rise will be slight after Monday. At Portland a stage of 21.5 feet will be reached by next Monday afternoon and probably 22 feet 24 hours later.

The United States Civil Service Commission will hold an examination in Portland on June 11, 12 and 13 for applicants for appointment in the Revenue Cutter service. There are only about 10 candidates to be appointed in the entire United States, and a rigid examination will necessarily have to be conducted.

The fourth and last pontoon has been launched at Supple's boatyard, and the free baths will be finished next week. The house and pootons at the entrance of the baths are complete, as are also the dressing rooms. The painting and framework of the swimming pool are all that remains to be done.

The matter of securing a right of way for the Portland City & Oregon Railway Company is still progressing. The line will probably pass through Sellwood to Willsburg. There are very few obstacles in the way now to prevent the making of the proposed extension.

The funeral of Dr. Stephen A. Young was held yesterday afternoon from the residence, 63 Clinton street. Dr. Young died last Thursday from paralysis, from which he had suffered for the past four years. Dr. Young was born 62 years ago near Springfield, Ill., and came to Oregon with his father. He graduated from Cooper Medical College, of San Francisco in 1876, and has practiced medicine till four years ago. A wife and daughter survive him.

Fred Machnke, a logger at Kalama, was caught between two cars of a log train yesterday as the train was taken across the river by a party of loggers, and was seriously injured. His leg was broken in two places, his hip fractured and his side torn by one of the logs, besides being badly crushed. He is being cared for at St. Vincent's.

Mrs. Mary M. Beutgen died last night at her home in this city, 40 Thirteenth street, after a short illness, at the age of 79 years. She was born in Scotland and has lived in this state for the last 24 years. She leaves eight children as follows: N. D. Beutgen, Mrs. Frank D. Hennessy, Mrs. P. J. Flynn and Mrs. Frank Keenan, of Portland; Rev. Father Peter Beutgen, of Eugene; J. M. Beutgen of Los Angeles; F. J. Beutgen, of New York City; Mrs. George Wicke, of Anacosta, Mont.

Ancient Order of Foresters. Louis Dammach, D. H. C., returned last week from San Francisco and reports that the session of the High Court was one of the most successful ones ever held. About 100 delegates were in attendance, representing the various courts of the Pacific Coast jurisdiction, and the proceedings were remarkable for the great enthusiasm and interest shown. Most important of the new laws adopted is one making its obligatory upon all courts to display the Stars and Stripes during their meetings. Another innovation has been made, permitting the ladies of the Companions of the Forest to join the Endowment Rank. Brother Dammach was appointed one of the committee on state of the order, and he states its condition is highly flattering and prosperous. He speaks in the most praising terms of the consideration shown all the delegates by the officers of the High Court.

LAST SAD RITES

Funeral Services of the Late Sylvester Pennoyer.

The last respects to ex-Governor Sylvester Pennoyer were paid yesterday afternoon, when the funeral services were held. The body lay at the family residence and was viewed by hundreds of friends and acquaintances, who wished to gaze for the last time upon the man who had played such an important part in the history of Oregon.

The body was conveyed to St. Stephen's Episcopal chapel, Thirteenth and Clay streets, at 1:45 p. m. The chapel was crowded to the doors and many stood in the streets. The funeral party was preceded by the St. Stephen's choir, in black attire, who rendered an appropriate anthem as the casket was borne up the aisle, and the rector, Rev. T. N. Wilson, began the funeral service, concluding with a spiritual reading, after which the choir sang, "Lead, Kindly Light." After a short prayer service, the choir sang "Nearer My God, to Thee," which was followed by the recessional. The casket was borne by George E. Chamberlain, W. A. Munley, C. H. Page, Alfred Holman, F. V. Holman and T. Scott Brooks. Mrs. Pennoyer and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Russell, and a few relatives and intimate friends followed the casket.

Governor T. T. Geer, ex-Governor Z. F. Moody, Judge George H. Williams, Colonel John McCracken, W. K. Smith, A. T. Smith, George T. Meyers and Phil Meischam acted as honorary pall-bearers. The remains were buried in the family plot in Lone Fir cemetery where many floral tributes were laid by friends. Hundreds of telegrams and messages of sympathy were received by the family from all parts of the country.

TALLY-HO PARTY.

Tally-ho, tally-ho, rah, rah, rah! Tally-ho, tally-ho, tally-ho, zip, boom, bah!

Roy Stowell's tally-ho party given to the Sandy and return on Decoration day was undoubtedly one of the most enjoyable outdoor events of the season. Twenty young couples left Portland shortly after 7 o'clock Friday morning in a four-horse tally-ho, followed the Base Line road to the Sandy bridge, a distance of nearly 18 miles, and spent the day rambling through the verdant woods. Camp was located on a shady eminence above the Sandy, where two fine lunches were served by the ladies of the party. After partaking of the bounteous repast the brave ones took the lead on a veritable Alpine expedition. The way was broken along the winding banks high above the cool, rippling river, and no halt was made, except for rest, until the excursionists reached a delta beside the river a mile above. The return was made with more success, except for some impromptu toboggan runs.

Dinner was served about 7 in the evening, and the home was reached about 10:30. The day was an ideal one. More sun would have been oppressive, and the road was in the best condition. Mrs. J. C. Carrigan acted as chaperon. The party was composed of the following: The Misses Estella Hazard, Edna Haight, Effie Sharno, Ada Souls, May Staples, Georgia Harrington, Nina, Faye and Alice Killingsworth, Mrs. J. C. Carrington, Dr. Keeney, Clinton Haight, Clinton Sharno, Dr. Posten, Mr. Ray, Roy Stowell, William Killingsworth, Will Bennett, J. C. Carrington and Claude Simpson.

The Portland butchers have decided in the future to charge for the exact weight of all the meat they sell, and in order to do this will give pennies in change when the weight is not what it ought to be. Butchers claim that since the price of meat has advanced, the public keeps both eyes on the scales, to see that they are getting the right amount of meat. The system will be satisfactory to the butcher and the buyers, as they will both get their money's worth. It is intended to put the new change into effect about July 10.

SHALL WE CELEBRATE THE FOURTH?

READ THE ANSWERS OF BUSINESS MEN.

Shall we have a Fourth of July celebration in Portland this year or not? This is the question that is agitating some of the patriotic people of Portland. In order that the voice of some of our leading citizens may be heard, The Journal has collected the following opinions by placing before the gentlemen the following questions:

"Do you favor a Fourth of July celebration in Portland this year?"

"What kind of a celebration would you favor—parade, barbecue, sports, fireworks, or what?"

"Do you favor a celebration in the city or in the vicinity?"

"Do you favor any river sports?"

"Would you be willing to contribute?"

The answers follow: F. E. BEACH, president of the Board of Trade—"Personally, my judgment would be against holding a celebration this year. If anything is done, I suggest omitting the parade and fireworks and favor a barbecue, patriotic musical selections and literary exercises. I favor a celebration on the river banks or back of the City Park, and to have river sports. I am willing to contribute."

EDWARD HOLMAN—"I favor having as much of a celebration as possible—parade, barbecue, sports, fireworks and river sports. I would favor the celebration in the city, and the best kind to be gotten up. I will contribute."

C. H. McBAAC, secretary Manufacturers' Association—"I want a celebration, the best to be had. I favor a barbecue—a good, old-fashioned barbecue. Cut the salute at sunrise; it costs $125 and no one hears it; it is a mere waste of money. I favor a celebration because the people around and in Portland expect it, and it is nothing but right that we should have it. I do not favor river sports because accidents are liable to happen. Let us have a barbecue and sports."

A. B. STEINBACH—"Of course, I favor a Fourth of July celebration in Portland this year, and the best that can be gotten up, too. I favor the main celebration to be in the city and also to have river sports. I have always contributed and will do so now."

ADOLPHE WOLFE of Lipman, Wolfe & Co.—"The matter being in the hands of a committee, I do not care to express myself. The committee has made all arrangements and I think they will do the proper thing. They have given the matter more consideration than I have."

WILLIAM M. LADD of Ladd & Tilton—"I favor a Fourth of July celebration for the impression it makes on the children. I would suggest a parade on the West Side and fireworks on the East Side of the city. If there is money enough, I would favor river sports. I have always contributed and am willing to contribute now."

BEN SELLING—"As a Fourth of July celebration this year, I would favor a parade, sports and fireworks in the city. I do not care for river sports. I will contribute."

TILUS L. MEIER of the Meier & Frank Company—"Of course, we want a celebration this year in this city. Any kind of a celebration the committee decides upon. This company has always contributed for the past 15 years and will also contribute this year."

JAMES M. MOORE, secretary of the Board of Trade—"I favor an old-fashioned business men's baseball game between the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade; also all kinds of games and sports on land and water. I am ready to contribute. Portland should celebrate the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, not only this year, but every year so long as the sun sets of a free, self-governing people, that the nations of the world may read of the glorious freedom we have inherited from our ancestors, whose struggles and death resulted in such a glorious inheritance for their descendants and those who afterward made this country their home."

M. C. BANFIELD of the Banfield-Versy Fuel Company—"The proper celebration of the Fourth of July would be the setting of all labor troubles and the taking off of all boycotts, which are a disgrace to this city. I favor a celebration in the city, in the vicinity and on the water. I will contribute if the labor troubles are settled."

LEO SELLING—"I want a celebration this year as well as any other year. I favor the best kind of a celebration that can be had. I will contribute and will work as hard as I can to have a celebration that Portland should be proud of."

GENERAL O. O. SUMMERS, president of the Fourth of July committee—"There is no doubt but that we want a Fourth of July celebration. The committee will do the best it can, but it all depends on how much the people contribute. The trouble now is that patriotism is turning into commercialism. Anyway, we will have a celebration, and a good one at that."

L. G. CLARKE of Woodard, Clarke & Co.—"I am certainly in favor of a celebration—the best to be had. We have always contributed and will do so now. I think river sports should be included in the program, as they are very attractive."

LIE NAILED

The Journal has taken the pains to communicate with people at Salem in reference to a slander in the Oregonian concerning the present Governor of the state. Over the signature of "Silas R. Witcome" in frame and double-lead, it is charged that Governor Geer, after he had served as a member of the Legislature, was clerk of a Legislative committee. "Witcome" claims to hail from Marion County. Nobody can be found in Salem who knows the fictitious gentleman, his name cannot be found on the tax rolls nor among the registered voters, and as to Governor Geer serving as a legislative clerk, the Governor himself telephoned a friend that he not only never was a clerk of the Legislature, but never applied for a clerkship, nor thought of applying. Such tactics resorted to by the Oregonian should defeat the men such slanders are intended to benefit.

THE JOLLY DRUMMERS.

All preparations for the convention of the Travelers' Protective Association this week are in good shape. One of the members, who believes that "the prayers of the righteous availeth much," asks that all good people pray for good weather.

The request is still for roses, to be delivered at the Hotel Portland Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning of this week. It is probable that the time-honored "badger fight" will come off Tuesday night at 10:30 or 11 o'clock.

Every member of the Oregon and Washington division is especially requested to be on hand at the Hotel Portland promptly at 8:45 o'clock tomorrow morning, to take part in the parade.

Special attention is called to the reception at Elks' hall in the Marquam building this evening, and also to the grand ball at the Army Thursday night.

CONFERENCE ENDS.

The 10 days' camping of the Seventh Day Adventists on the Williams-avenue tract closed Saturday. President of the Conference H. W. Decker concluded his work and started at once for Walla Walla to attend a meeting of the board of trustees of the Walla Walla College and from there he will leave for California. Elder Decker has been president of the North Pacific Conference for about five years and has endeared himself to the members of the conference.

LODGE ELECTS OFFICERS.

At the regular meeting of Ambroia Circle No. 368, Women of Woodcraft, Friday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Guardian neighbor, Lizzie Claggett; magician, Sarah Chase; adviser, Lizzie Jack; past guardian, Ella Helyard; attendant, Tillie Helyard; captain of the guard, Flora Neubeur; inner sentinel, Emma Manary; outer sentinel, Grace McKerrrow; managers, William Helyard and Mrs. Mollie Scoville.

Naval Examinations.

In the United States naval examinations now being held in the grand jury room in the Postoffice building, and which will close June 5, there have been 15 physical examinations thus far.

WOODMEN MEMORIAL

Lone Fir Cemetery was thronged with people yesterday, anxious to be present at the annual memorial services and unveiling of monuments of the Woodmen of the World. The ceremonies were participated in by a majority of the city camps and circles.

A parade preceded the services. Headed by a platoon of police and Grand Marshal Jameson and his aides, the procession moved from Tenth and Washington down Washington to Third, to Burnside and to the gates of the cemetery, where they were met by the Women of the Woodcraft and their guards—women attired in blue and red costumes, carrying lanterns, who escorted them to the stand.

J. J. Jennings, chairman of the committee of arrangements and master of ceremonies, and the speakers of the day were at the stand ready to welcome the procession. The first number on the program was a dirge by the band, after which "Abide With Me" was sung by a quartet composed of J. Adrian Epping, N. C. Zan, J. W. Belcher and Louis Dalress. Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. J. E. Manley recited the ritual, and Mrs. L. E. Llewellyn recited the ode at the unveiling of the Women of Woodcraft monument. Wm. Reid unveiled the monuments, after which flowers were strewn at its base. The monument was dedicated to Virginia Lee Burkholder, Margaret Powers, Martha Costello and Iva Ella Fulliam.

The Woodmen of the World monument was unveiled by Mr. Reid and christened by Frank S. Fields, John Van Zante, consul-commander of the day. He dedicated it to the dead of the past year: H. N. Anderson, A. E. Clarke, J. E. N. Sellwood, C. J. Peterson, E. L. Keenan, G. E. Ledyard, F. S. Beets, P. Grant, J. C. Leasure, J. B. Cole, J. Haeblen, J. S. McHugh, U. F. Blouin, T. S. Finnegan, H. C. Buzich, S. Spredborough, E. M. Inelmerock, C. G. Pruitt and T. H. Strowbridge.

J. E. Werlein, the orator of the day, made a brief and appropriate address after which there were selections by the band and quartet.

ODD FELLOWS OF WISCONSIN

(Journal Special Service.) LA CROSSE, Wis., June 2.—Men wearing the familiar three links in the lapels of their coats and women with the insignia of the Sisters of Rebekah gathered every turn in the streets today. They are the delegates to the grand lodge meeting of Odd Fellows and the annual meeting of the woman's auxiliary, which will be in session here during the next three days. The number of early arrivals indicate that the expectations of a record-breaking attendance will be realized. The visitors come from every part of the state, and by tomorrow morning, when the sessions begin in Germania Hall, it is believed there will be upwards of 1000 strangers here.

BOARD OF TRADE.

The local Vice-Consul of Japan, T. Sumihiro, will address the meeting of the Board of Trade this evening, on the exposition at Osaka in 1903. Arrangements will be made at this meeting for the entertainment of the Editorial Association of Utah and the formation of a local life insurance company.

The committee having in charge the selection of a site for the Portland Sanitarium will report.

Woodworker's Ball.

The Amalgamated Woodworkers gave a ball Saturday in Arion Hall, on Second and Oak streets. Everest's orchestra has been engaged for the occasion. The reception committee is composed of J. A. Erdman, H. Martin, J. J. Gotthardt; floor-committee—E. J. Harlan, Charles E. Hoyt, H. Claus, M. Krieger, J. A. Versteeg, N. Amunds and Al Cartor.

NORTHEAD STATION.

J. J. Kellher, an observer of the Weather Bureau, will have charge of the office at Northhead, Wash., as soon as the building is completed. He is looking over the construction work at present and expects to have everything in running shape by July 1. A steel tower 50 feet high will be put up for the display of storm warnings and general observations. From his office Mr. Kellher will furnish the conditions of weather and bar and report on the vessels going in and out of the river for the benefit of the Chamber of Commerce and the shipping interests.

THREE DEATHS.

Serilla Hendren, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hendren, 365 North Seventeenth street, died last Wednesday after a long illness. She was 28 years of age.

M. Ellen Hill, the wife of J. Farmer Hill, 9875 Corbett street, died Wednesday, aged 42 years. She was buried Saturday in Riverview cemetery.

Mrs. Dora S. Lakin, wife of the well-known traveling man, Lawrence O. Lakin, representing the Rosenfeld-Smith Company, died Friday, May 20, aged 27 years. She had been ill for a long time with tuberculosis. The funeral will be held at the family home, 287 Tillamook street, and interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

New Mining Company.

The St. Helens & Galice Consolidated Mining Company has been incorporated with August Oiger president and A. B. Cousin, secretary and manager. This company makes a remarkable showing in assets for a newly organized concern. Besides owning the Washington Treadwell group of quartz claims in the St. Helens district, Washington, it owns and will continue the operation of the Atkinson and Cousin hydraulic mines on Galice Creek.

Mr. Cousin has been actively engaged in the mines of Southern Oregon for nearly 10 years, his principal operations being on Galice creek, where he has with J. L. Atkinson spent thousands of dollars in consolidating and equipping with ditches and hydraulic machinery a number of valuable placer claims there.

EILERS PIANO HOUSE SUNDAY SCHOOLS

(Journal Special Service.) PORTAGE, Wis., June 2.—More than 200 delegates representing every county in the state are in Portage for the annual convention of the Wisconsin Sunday School Association. The convention opens with a big welcome meeting in the First Presbyterian Church this evening and the sessions continue through Wednesday. Reports of President McKillop, Secretary Potter and other officers show that Wisconsin ranks among the first states in the Union as regards the number of Sunday schools and scholars, the membership reaching a total of nearly 500,000. La Crosse has sent a large delegation in an endeavor to secure the selection of that city for next year's convention.

NEW LINE

(Journal Special Service.) DETROIT, Mich., June 2.—After the lapse of 45 years the old Detroit and Buffalo Lake route was re-established today, when the palatial new passenger steamer Eastern States, of the recently organized Detroit & Buffalo Steamship Company, sailed from this city on its initial trip to Buffalo. The company has arranged a schedule of weekly sailings between the two cities, the boats being among the largest and finest on the great lakes.
