

PAT DONAN IS DEAD

Versatile Writer and Scholar Succumbs to Pneumonia.

At 4:30 Sunday morning, Colonel "Pat" Donan passed away at the family residence, 446 West Park street, in this city, after an illness of only 10 days.

Those who hovered about his bedside hoped for the best, though fearful that there could be only a fatal ending.

Colonel "Pat" Donan's real name was Peter Donan, though but very few persons were acquainted with this fact.

The Donan family is one of the best known in the South, and Colonel Donan's name is very familiar in every Southern state.

He had lived, would probably have founded another, because he expected soon to have entered upon a position which would have profited him handsomely.

A free liver, a kindly-hearted, generous man, Colonel Donan will be long remembered. His acquaintance was world-wide.

He had no sympathy with the politics of either Democrats, Republicans or Populists. Though not a professor of religion, he was a believer in it and abhorred infidelity.

urns of the great papers of New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati and Denver were glad to open their columns to him.

Colonel Donan was of slender build, but erect as an Indian. He was always a picturesque figure.

Colonel Donan only recently resigned his position with the O. R. & N. Co. As soon as the officials of the latter learned that he had succumbed, they immediately took charge of matters, and the funeral arrangements were all made by them.

The funeral of the late Colonel P. Donan will take place at the Holman undertaking rooms, Fourth and Yamhill streets, at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

BRIDGE CLOSING.

A public meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the United States court room, Post Office building, in connection with the question of regulations requiring closure of the draw-bridges within the city limits of Portland, Ore., during certain hours of the day.

The purpose of the meeting is to give all parties interested in the question opportunity to be heard, and as all the papers will be laid before the Secretary of War, it will best suit the purpose to submit in writing whatever may be presented.

No Money for It.

In answer to a letter sent by the local Chamber of Commerce requesting the appointment of a special consul to China on industries and commerce, the following communication has been received from David J. Hill, assistant secretary of state:

"Dear Sir: I have received your letter of the 17th inst., recommending the assignment of a special consul to one of the principal cities of China for the purpose of reporting on Chinese industries and commerce, and beg to say in reply that there is no authority of law for the appointment of such a special consular officer. Yours, etc."

Goes Up Against Oregon City Railway.

Petition Asks for Removal of Superintendent Tiffany.

Fred Morris, principal stockholder of the Portland City & Oregon railroad, has more troubles, and so has his manager, Mr. Huriburt, but Superintendent Tiffany has more troubles than the others.

The petitions call for a service that does not endanger the lives of the traveling public, and this road is not giving such a service now.

At the end of the first half of the third inning yesterday, it looked as if Portland would go down to certain defeat.

At the end of the first half of the third inning yesterday, it looked as if Portland would go down to certain defeat.

The game was not a good one, by any means. At the start-off Witbeck pitched wretched ball, and allowed the visitors five hits, which, with an error by Desei, and a pass, netted four runs.

But when Portland came to bat in the third they commenced to do business, and piled up two runs. Then again in the fourth two men scored, making it 6 to 4 against Portland.

Max Muller put the ball in center field for a safe hit. Letcher handled it in poor form and Muller traveled around to third.

Deisel followed with a hit that brought Max across the rubber. Van Buren came next and put the ball in Pitcher Johnson's hands, who in turn threw to McCarthy in an endeavor to get Desei at second, but he failed, and Jake went to third.

Anderson and filled the bases. Amid cries for a home run, Hupp came to the bat. He sent the ball along the line to the first base and Swindels hit him out, and Desei came in and tied the score.

Weed's long fly to left brought in Van Buren, and Anderson came home on a hit by Mahaffey. Mahaffey was caught at second.

This ended the run-getting, as it was more of a pitchers' contest than anything else to the finish.

William ("Sol") Salsbury, one of Portland's last year's pitchers, who has been re-engaged by Vignoux, arrived from Britt, Iowa, last evening, accompanied by his wife.

He is in fine trim, and could step into the box immediately, but will not until the Spokane-Portland series opens.

Ernest Thompson-Seton—he of animal story telling and converted game fame—was describing to a clergyman the other day some of his experiences with various animals, particularly squirrels.

"It is an astonishing fact," said Mr. Seton, "that I found, after some few sets, that I could attract squirrels, however wild, by singing to them."

When I sang they would come out of their holes or down from trees, and though at first showing some timidity, sit and listen intently—and apparently with enjoyment.

I remember one day, however, when, after singing them various songs—rag-time and others—I tried "Old Hundred" on them. Would you believe it, the instant they heard it they scampered off, nor could I induce them to return that day.

And to this day I can't understand why. The clergyman, a far-away look in his eyes, suggested very briefly:

"Probably they were afraid you would next proceed to take up a collection."

Washing with the following fluid can be commended as not injurious to the clothes and a great saving of hard labor.

Put into a big kettle one pound can of lye, one-half ounce of salts of tartar, and one-half ounce carbonate of ammonia.

Four over them one gallon of boiling water, stir well and bottle. Always shake before using.

On Decoration Day the men's contest bogy was again won by Mr. Walker, who was only one down, with a handicap of four.
