THE NEW LONDON

most backward white man's city in the world. This is true today. Tomorrow it will all be different. For a new city is coming into being, not quickly—it would not be itself if it hurried-but surely. Within 20 years one will see it not only almost wholly rebuilt, but a city with all the modern conveniences. Great sovernment buildings in the course of construction, as well as Yankee-built sky-scrapers, will give the old town its new dress, And tube railways burrowing in every direction for underground will actually make it possible to cross London in a reasonable time. Everywhere that it is possible streets are being widened and great evenues cut at untold expense through populous sections. This rebuilding and renovation is not received wholly with satisfaction. The English love the elsurely ways of their capital as much as they love its dinginess and dirt. As one old Tory put it, to his mind the reformers were trying to convert the place into a "shricking American pandemo-I am sure that man is fond of penny busses,-Chalmers Roberts in the World's Work.

Miss Inez Riggs Ends Her Life in the River

On Account of a Broken Engagement With Charles Ray.

Late yesterday afternoon the identification of the body of the woman found floating in the river, partly established by The Journal, was completed by Bernard MacMahon, a friend, who called at the morgue.

"Yes, that is Inez Riggs, beyond s 88 North Eighth street Sunday afternoon, May 25, at 1 o'clock, saying that she was going to visit-a cousin living in Albina. She left her money in her trunk and was only lightly attired as you see her there. She left no message and we did not know what te make of her disappearance. The police were notified, and we set afoot private inquiries." "Do you know of any reason why Miss Riggs should commit suicide," Mac-Mahon was asked. With some heattation he answered:

"Well, no. She was keeping company with a drummer, whose name I don't know, and I believe they had a tilt some weeks ago, and called their engagement all off. He is now in California, I be-

Albert F. Wing, a cousin of Miss Riggs favored the suicide theory. He told how she was on her way to visit his mother in Albina when she disappeared. Her way lay by the Albina ferry, just north of which the body was found floating He also referred to the long courtship between Miss Riggs and the traveling man, saving:

"She has been nearly crasy ever since that fellow left, and her mother immediately said that she was satisfied that Ines had committed suicide. We shared her opinion."

The Coroner held an inquest yester day afternoon but nothing beyond th identification and the above facts was developed. A verdict of drowning, presumably suicide, was rendered.

The Journal learns from other sources, however, that the name of the man concerned is Charles A. Ray, with whom she was infatuated for several years, and it was understood by mutual friends that the couple were engaged to be mar-The cause of their parting will probably never be known, as the young woman would not speak of it, and it is hardly likely that Ray will give any in

Miss Riggs had a wide circle of friends in Portland. She was one of the leading dressmakers, and at the time of her death had a large number of good orders on hand, showing that business matters had nothing to do with her suicide.

Stirs Up Ladies Reception Committee.

Local Women Involved in Dissension.

There is dissension among the ladies' reception committee named for the entertainment of the ladies of the Travelers' Protective Association.

Certain ladies of the city thought they should have been placed in prominent positions on this occasion, and because they were not, have hindered the ladies of the committee and caused several of them to decline to take part in the reception of the visitors. Those outside the committee have freely displayed their injured feelings by casting slighting innuendoes upon the ones who are at work, and the bitter feeling and strife promises to become permanent among a few.

The ladies of the committee believe they understand the motives of the others, and one lady said: "It was all caused by the suggestions of an outsider who was not considered in the arrangements for the convention. Those outside who wished to receive the visitors make remarks about certain people always being prominent when they are left out entirely, and with repetitions and occasional meetings the matter may not be settled in the most amicable way."

About one-fourth of those on the committee have entertained the Travelers' ladies, each day providing something new for their amusement, and the praise they receive is as sincere as it is profuse. Yet they say they cannot but feel the result of the remarks being made about them. The regular committee was composed of the appended names: Mrs. J. C. Pritchard, chairman; Mrs. A. N. Smith, Mrs. D. M. Dunne, Mrs. N. T. Collette, Mrs. S. Beall, Mrs Robert Lutke, Mrs. M. W. Gill, Mrs E. Shelley Morgan, Mrs. H. M. Ogden, Miss Harris, Mrs. J. A. Waddle, Mrs. Alexander Kunz, Mrs. T. W. Cuthbert, Miss Amelia May, Mrs. W. M. Cake, Mrs. F. P. King, Mrs. T. W. B. London, Mrs. H. M. Carlock, Mrs. Thomas Collinson, Miss L. G. Dunne.

Will Be Well Represented at Lewis

Hoyt Sheman, the general agent of the Colorado & Southern and also of the Ft. Worth & Denver City, has been in Portland several days. Mr. Sherman is a quiet and unobtrusive man, but he is a wideawake railroader, for all that. He. is a real home missionary for the lines he represents. His real mission in Portland at this time is in connection with the T. P. A. convention. He is busy distributing advertising matter relative to the companies he represents and hopes to induce some of the delegates to make side trips over the Colorado lines on their way home. Speaking of the railroad literature Mr. Sherman has been scattering so lavishly. it is sufficient to saw that it is nest in the extreme and shows all the advantages of the Colorado lines.

Mr. Sherman is connected with the family of General Sherman, but he is too modest to say anything about that. He is one of the board of Utah Lewis and Clark Commissioners, and is very much interested in the outcome of the big Fair. In speaking about it this morning Mr. Sherman said:

"The two houses of the Utah Legislature passed a joint resolution instructing the Governor to appoint a commission of three members to gather such information as we could in this matter and to submit our report thereon to the Legislature at its meeting next winter. The commission has already held three meetings at Salt Lake and feels much encouraged. I had a talk with Hon, H. W. Corbett here, and he assures me that the exposition will be properly financed. That's the main thing, you know.

"Little by little we have been gathering information here. At the coming meeting of our Legislature we will ask for an appropriation to defray Utah's part of the expenses. I have no doubt but that we will succeed in having a respectable sum set aside for the end

"The promulgators of the St. Louis Exposition are showing much zeal in pushing its interests. They recently sent a delegation to Utah to stir up interest in their big show. I presume these delegates visited Oregon and the other Coast states. I think that the Lewis and Ciark promulgators ought to adopt similar tactics, so that interest may be kept

"I would like also to make a suggestion that Portland would do well to secure as many meetings and big conventions for 1905 as possible. Such things will help to swell the attendance and would be a very good thing all around. "The Pacific Coast has been particularly fortunate this year in securing so many large meetings. All these things help to advertise the great Pacific Coast country as nothing else could possibly Mr. Sherman has been in the railroad business for about 20 years. "I haven't man. "Billy insists that I came out here with the Lewis and Clark expedition and set up an office." Mr. Sherman's companies keep him busy attending the various meetings being held on the Coast, as a sort of standing delegate. He will leave for San Francisco tomorrow to attend the gathering there of the Mystic Shriners and will afterwards come back to Portland in time to attend the convention of the A. O. U. W.

Ancient Order of Foresters.

In accordance with the new laws passed by the late session of the subhigh court in San Francisco, Court Portland, No. 8977 had a bright new "Star-Spangled Banner" floating from the altar last Monday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Thomas C. Stephens, chief ranger; Will-iam Thompson, sub-chief ranger; A. Culpin, senior woodward; W. W. Doan, junfor woodward; George N. Huntley, senior beadle; C. E. Quirt, junior beadle; W. A. Pursel, financial secretary; Julius Adler, recording secretary and press committee: Louis Dammasch, treasurer: S. L. King, court physician.

BATHS NEARLY COMPLETED

The new public free swimming baths being constructed at the shippard of Joseph Supple, East Water and Belmont streets, are nearing completion and will be ready in a few days for the summer The buildings have all been completed with the exception of the swimming tank, which will be 100 feet long and 32 feet wide, and will be constructed of lattice work to allow the free entry of the water. Mr. Supple says that the baths will be ready to turn over to the committee the fore part of next week. The baths will be located on the east side of the river. about 100 feet from the Madison street bridge, and about 200 feet out in the This will give the swimming tank fresh water at all times.

Teacher's Association.

The Western Oregon Division of the State Teachers' Association meets at Eugene June 25th and 28th. President Campbell of the State University was in the city yesterday making plans for the convention, which he assumes will be the largest ever held, from 600 to 700 teachers having made arrangements to attend. A prominent educator of Dayton, O., Prof. William I. Crane, will address the teachers every day. The program is being arranged by State Superintendent Acker-

VACATION

Contest Brings a New Leader Today.

Still they come!

The figures in The Journal vacation contest are assuming large proportions now. Miss Winkelmann's total reached the four-figure mark yesterday, with Miss Benedict and Miss Chapman close seconds. Today Miss Benedict is in the lead by a few votes.

The girls are beginning to wake up to the situation, and the ballots are coming in as thick and fast as the flakes in a Dakota snow storm, However, the contest is considerably warmer than a snow storm in the Dakotas. The girls have begun to realize that a 10 days' trip to the seaside is nothing to be sniffed at. There is nothing small about it. Girls, don't you want this opportunity to be yours? Don't you want to go to the seashore, where you can dash in the whirling spray, lie in the arms of Mother Nature and listen to her voice as it speaks to you in a thousand ways?

This opportunity will be all yours if you are only willing to spend a little of the time and labor necessary to keep your name at the top of the list until the close of the contest. Send in the ballots and see the figures grow!

Hereafter all votes received after 8 a. m. will be included in the count for the following day. Here is today's vote: Miss Margaret Benedict......1034 Miss Etta Winkelmann......1010 Miss Margaret Chapman 783 Miss Barbara Westenfelder 500 Miss Rose Franklin.... Miss Lizzie Saub...... 339 Miss Minnie Harris...... 251 Mrs. Catherine Adams...... 233 Miss Elizabeth Reiffenbach...... 922 Miss Lessie Lind...... 166 Miss Alice Stayton..... 144 Miss Lizzie Wilson 78 Miss Mildren R. Hunt Club Tomorrow.

Prof. Nichol led his class of the Hunt Club through its final rehearsal last night at the Irvington track, preparatory to the great field day meet tomorrow. Twelve gentlemen and 12 ladies, each mounted on a charger, will take part in the events. Prof. Nichol has evolved many beautiful figures, in all of which the equine actors do their part with credbeen a railroad man quite as long as it. An Idiotic Letter.

James Francis D'Arcy, of Fernando, Cal., has written the following to County Recorder F. E. Beach: This is to certify that I will give $50,000 for the punishment of any man or set of men that are guilty of killing me and pro rata for any material damage done to my person; dit- route to Washington to answer charges to for my son Francis and my daughters Clarissa and Elsie May D'Arcy." Mr. Beach will not comply with the request that it be placed on file until he learns more of the strange case.

A BAD MAN

Officers Again Looking Out for Pug Ryan.

The police of the Northwest are again on the lookout for "Pug" Ryan, the Colorado murderer, arrested in Seattle by Detective Barbee. When taken through Portland by the Colorado officers the prisoner was doubly ironed and carefully guarded by two deputies armed with sawed-off shotguns, as Ryan bragged that he would never be hanged. It looks as if he nes a good chance of keeping his word.

He was in Seattle some time before being arrested and sent back to Colorado and is believed to have considerable plunder cached there. Several burglarles occurring in the city prior to his departure are accredited to him.

"Ryan has a case of Alaska fever." says Detective Barbee. "Not only would the territory afford him a comparatively safe refuge, but he wanted to get there badly before he was captured and would have secured passage north in some way or other if he had been given a little more time. When he left I told him at the train that he had taken a chance and been landed. He answered: 'Oh, that is all right. I don't blame you neither do I cross a bridge before reaching it. You'll see me here again before
