"MIKE" IN THE GRAND STAND

M. J. Roche is the traveling passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande Railway Company and the Rio Grande Western Railway Company.

"Mike," as he is familiarly called among his fellows, is not only a good passenger "rustler," but he is also one of the best sporting writers on the Coast. Not so many years ago he held down the sporting editor's desk on the Pioneer Press, St. Paul, where he gained an enviable reputation. St. Paul is one of the greatest railroad "towns" on earth, and Roche naturally drifted away from the paste pot and shears.

One of Mike's greatest diversions is baseball and on this he is a thorough "crank." Asked what he though of this year's league, and, by the way, he was prominently identified with putting baseball where it is in the Northwest, he said this morning:

"While business engagements prevented me from seeing yesterday's 3 to 1 game, I was there with both feet the day before and I felt like jumping clear out of the grandstand and getting down where I could pat some of the boys on the back.

"It was a real treat to see such a ball game as that played at Twenty-fourth and Vaugns streets Tuesday afternoon between the Portland and Spokane clubs. Eliminating the latter half of the first inning it was probably the prettiest and fastest game played in Portland for this season. Both teams played ball from the strike of the gong, and neither quit until the last man was out. It was such a game as the public likes to see. With the score 6 to 0 in favor of Portland, and two men out in the last inning, Shortstop Kelly stood upon the coach line and exhorted Elsey, the big firstbaseman and captain of the bunch-grassers all he knew how to 'line it out.'

"'Only six tie and seven to win,' shouted Kelly. 'Go at him, Cap.' 'That fellow Engle can't pitch, he is simply giving an imitation of pitching;' 'come, old boy, start the ball a rolling.'

"But it was no use, for the pitching of Engle was not an imitation, but the 'real thing.'" Three hits and one of them the rarest kind of a scratch was all Jack Grim's men could get off the little German. Elsey failed to meet the ball square and hard, and the big firstbaseman was retired at first and the first game of the Spokane club in Portland was played and lost.

"It was not so much the fact that Portland won the game, though that was a very satisfactory ending, that pleased the crowd, as it was the vim and life the visitors put into the game. They were playing ball all the time, and barring a couple of errors in the first inning it was in championship form the bunch-grassers played. The people pay their money to see such playing as that yesterday, and so long as they keep it up the sport-loving public of Portland will be satisfied, no matter what the final score may be.

"Jack Grim, Portland's ex-mangaer, has gotten together an aggregation of ball players that will not be in the last division when the present race is over. His weak spot now is 'in the box.' Russell is supposed to be Grim's best man, but even he has been rapped hard and often.

"Outside of the pitching department, Spokane should take a back seat from no one. With Kelly back at shortstop Grim has a particularly strong infield. If Howell can always make such catches as the one he made yesterday he will rival our own Max Muller in leftfield.

"In my opinion Muller is the surest man in the league on a fly ball. He should never drop a fly in his territory, no matter where it goes. He is not only a sure 'catch,' but he is a very fast runner and none can judge a fly ball better than he. If Muller did not always try to 'murder' the ball he would make one of the very best all-round players in the league. He has an excellent eye for the ball and always meets it. Besides, he stands at the top as a base runner. Another thing for which he is pre-eminent is getting away from the plate—witness the way he beat out that bunt in the first inning of yesterday's game.

"The other two Spokane outfielders are all right, except when on the bases. Big McKevitt, who plays rightfield, as he expresses it, 'Don't like to hit de dirt.' Had he slid into second base Tuesday he would have had a two-beggar instead of a single to his credit. The big fellow, all the same, is a good 'sticker,' and will be a top-notcher at the end of the season.

"Henry Reitz, the old National Leaguer, covers all sorts of ground at second, while Donahue, at third, is as graceful as a woman. He is light on his feet, quick and a lightning thrower to first. He has an excellent arm. Every movement of his is graceful and that is what one likes to see. Kelly, at short fills in nicely between Reitz and Donahue. Big Elsey at first may not be the most graceful man on the initial but what a reach he has and how he does save his men a lot of wild throws! For a big fellow he is very quick on his feet.

"Portland's ex-manager is to be congratulated on the team he has gotten together for Spokane. Grim realizes his weakness in the box, and is keeping the wires hot to strengthen this department. Had it not been for mishaps to Kelly, Reitz, et al., Spokane would not today be so far behind Portland and Seattle.

"I must not, however, forget Ralph Frary, Spokane's big catcher. He is a modest and unassuming player, but how he can get them down to second, and no catcher in the league hits so hard and often as he does.

"In the matter of catchers, however, all the clubs are well fixed. No league in the country can boast such men as our own Sammy, Stanley, Sullivan, Gearfoss, Sullivan and Swindells. There is not a weak one amongst them.

"In the pitching line Portland, now that Salisbury is back, and Seattle have decidedly the best of the other clubs of the league."

Portland is again on even terms with Seattle for first place. The local team won from Spokane, while Seatlte lost to Tacoma, making the percentage of the two leading clubs .667.

It was not only ladies' day at the ball grounds, but there was a large attendance of T. P. A. delegates. There were fully 3000 people present, which is a large crowd for a week-day game. Both teams played good ball, and at times excitement ran high.

Salisbury made his first appearance here this season, and showed himself to be the same old "Sol." Pitted against him was Kostal, who also showed up well.

The feature of the game was Howells' long running catch of one of Vigneux's fouls out to the left garden. The summary:

O'BRIEN AND NEIL TONIGHT.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 6.—Considerable interest is manifest among followers of pugilism in the fight at the Wabash Athletic Club tonight between Jack O'Brien of Philadelpiha and Al Neil, the middleweight champion of the Pacific Coast.

The go is at 154 pounds for 50 per cent of the gross receipts. Though the distance is to be but six rounds, it will be sufficient to test O'Brien's prowess, as Neil is recognized as one of the most clever and hard-hitting middleweights in the country.

CORBETT VS. ATTEL.

DENVER, Colo., June 6.—For the second time in two weeks, Young Corbett goes into the ring tonight to defend his championship title. His opponent this time is Abe Attel, a Western fighter, who by his clever fighting and gameness has worked his way well up the pugilistic ladder during the past few years. The mill is scheduled for 10 rounds, and takes place before the Denver Athletic Club.

Probing by his recent experience with Kid Broad, the champion has trained faithfully for tonight's go, and expresses confidence in his ability to dispose of Attel within the stipulated number of rounds. The Californian, on the other hand, is in excellent trim, and his admirers expect him to give a good account of himself before Corbett.

BERKELEY'S FIRST DEFEAT.

After trimming everything on their Northwestern tour, the University of California was taken into camp handily yesterday by the Whitman College team at Walla Walla.

If the club will bear part of the expense, he is ready to send for Billy and have him there in time to fight Turner on July 3, when the club wants to bring off a fight. It is believed that the club will consent to share part of his traveling expenses, and if he does it will have a first-class attraction.

SHALL WE HAVE PUBLIC SCHOOL KINDERGARTENS?

Shall we have public school kindergartens in this city or not?

Every other city that makes anw pretensions has them, and if Portland can't lead in matters of public benefit, then let's follow the lead of other cities.

As the matter stands now regarding public school kindergartens, we are just behind the times. A school election to be held June 16 may put this city abreast of the times. Let us hope so.

The Portland Free Kindergarten Association, comprising Rosa F. Burrell, Milton W. Smith, Charles E. Ladd, William R. Mackenzie, Winslow B. Ayer, H. C. Campbell, Helen Ladd Corbett, Caroline A. Ladd, Margaret M. J. Levinson, Fannie A. McKee, Valentine Pritchard, Gussie A. Sichel and Joseph R. Wilson, has sent out an apeal to the public to vote favorably upon the question. The appeal follows:

APPEAL TO VOTERS.

"If this question is voted in the affirmative at that time the school directors will then take charge of the work and support it from public school funds without the necessity of an appropriation each year. This is allowed by our state law. If this measure is not voted for by the people, the free kindergartens now maintained will be closed and the Kindergarten Association will be obliged to abandon the work, for the reason that previous subscribers have withdrawn their subscriptions demanding that kindergartens be made a part of the public school system of this city as they are in other cities.

"Knowing you to be a taxpayer who is interested in the growth and progress of this city and one who is desirous of the very best possible school advantages for the children of this city, and reminding you that the kindergarten is universally considered by educators as the necessary foundation for the best public school system and that 250 of our largest cities have already recognized and adopted it as such."

That is only a mild appeal, after all, yet no man having the welfare of his children or the upbuilding of his home city at heart could fail to recognize its truth.

Miss Valentine Pritchard, one of the board of managers of the association, furnishes The Journal with the following statement of facts in connection with the matter:

HISTORY OF LOCAL KINDERGARTENS.

The kindergarten work has been carried on in this city for about 17 years. During that time a number of free kindergartens have been maintained by the Kindergarten Association. About two years ago the Kindergarten Association decided that the kindergartens ought to be made a part of the public school system. This resolution was reached for the reason that previous subscribers gradually withdrew their subscriptions, stating that they felt that kindergartens ought to be made a part of the public school system of Portland, as they were in other large cities.

A state law regarding kindergartens had been passed some years ago. That law allowed public school kindergartens to be established by the school board when authorized to do so by the authorized electors.

In January, 1901, the free Kindergarten Association, acting upon the belief, which was based upon legal advice, that the body referred to as qualified electors in this state law was the body of taxpayers of the annual taxpayers meeting of Multnomah County, requested the school board to submit to that body the question as to whether kindergartens should be adopted as part of the public school system of this city; and the school board did at that time submit that question to a vote of the taxpayers at that meeting, and also made a statement of the increased tax which would be necessary to support public kindergartens. It was voted by a large majority of the taxpayers present to adopt kindergartens as part of the public school system and to increase the tax levy one-fifth of a mill, thereby increasing the school fund to the extent of $5000, which sum was to be used for the support of public kindergartens.

The association, feeling that now they were to be relieved of the work which they had carried on for so many years, and that at last kindergartens had obtained their rightful place in the public school system, offered to turn over to the school board the entire work, with all its equipments. But as it was the opinion of some members of the school board that an association which had carried on the work for so long knew better the needs of the work, and how to meet them, the board requested the association to continue the control of the work for a year, in trust for them, while they would supply the money for its support.

On April 8, 1901, the school board passed a resolution agreeing to pay over to the Kindergarten Association the $5000 proportionately as it was received from the tax collector, provided that the teachers of the Kindergarten Association obtained such certificates as the board should require. Acting upon this promise, the association agreed to continue the control of the work and to carry out the request of the school board, though there was not one member of the association, composed of busy men and women, who would not have been much relieved had the school board taken complete control of the work themselves.

At the suggestion of Superintendent Rigler a supervisor was elected, whose duty it should be to give direct personal supervision to the work, and to see to it that the work was placed on the best possible basis as a preparation for future primary work. In this the supervisor has throughout the year received the hearty co-operation and advice of Superintendent Rigler.

The kindergartens already in operation were better equipped, two new kindergartens were opened, and another already started by a mothers' club in the south part of the city was adopted, making in all six under the direction of the association and representing nearly 400 children.

In compliance with the law which regulates such matters each kindergartner in the department took steps to obtain the necessary certificates which should entitle her to teach in the public schools and to draw public money, and to each kindergartner was granted such certificate by the regular board of examiners.

At the end of the school year they had a well-equipped kindergarten in charge of a director and assistant and all doing good work.

As this $5000 was to be paid over when received from the incoming taxes, the friends of kindergartens advanced the money which was needed for immediate use. At the beginning of the school year in September, a full record of the work accomplished and money expended, was made to the school board by the Kindergarten Association, and the request made that the money be paid; but as there was doubt in the minds of some members of the board as to the legality of using this money for kindergarten purposes, the money was refused. The matter was then taken into court and was there pending for three months. During that time the six public kindergartens remained closed.

On December 13, 1901, a decision was rendered by Judge George, of the Circuit Court, which implicitly stated that a special fund, which was raised by tax for the maintenance of kindergartens, must be used for that purpose and that purpose alone. After this decision the $5000 was at once paid over to the Kindergarten Association by the School Clerk, H. S. Allen.

The six kindergartens were then reopened, and have continued in operation since; but they will all be closed on Friday of this week, as the $5000 allowed for their support has been exhausted.

The school board now feels that the question of public school kindergartens should be decided by vote of the people at the school election, and have agreed to present that question to the people at the school election which occurs on June 16. If this question is voted in the affirmative at that time, the school board will then take charge of the work and support it from public funds henceforth. For this reason the friends of kindergartens are endeavoring to arouse a general interest in the subject, that this question may be decided once and for all.

This question is one which nearly every city in the United States, of any size, has acted upon before this. Forty states have Legislatures regulating the public school kindergartens and 250 cities have already regulated them.

The Kindergarten Association is endeavoring by means of literature to inform the people of the city of the benefit of public school kindergartens, and in regard to the extent to which they have been adopted and the universal opinion of educators, in regard to kindergartens as a necessary part of the best public school system.

GRANTS PASS

A Big Strike of Gold Powdered Quartz.

(Journal Special Service.)

GRANTS PASS, Oregon, June 6.—J. A. Banfield, who with T. H. Stewart, both of this city, discovered a quartz claim in the Althouse district, came into Grants Pass with a sack of quartz that was fairly peppered with free gold. In each piece of the rich rock the free gold glittered in large grains of metal. Much of the quartz was worth $20 per pound. Mr. Stewart stated to a Journal correspondent that the rich rock was taken from their discovery at a depth of but 27 feet. They have sunk a shaft to this depth following the vein which shows a width of 18 inches and growing wider and better as it it followed down. He says that rock is so rich that they can make fancy wages mortaring out the gold. They believe their find to be the making of a very rich mine.

EUGENE

(Journal Special Service.)

EUGENE, June 6.—The California and Oregon Land Company which owns large tracts of timber land in Lane County, has instituted injunction proceedings against B. F. Gully and Riley Garten, two well known logging contractors, restraining them from trespassing on the Company's lands.

A public meeting of citizens was held last night to discuss the proposition of holding a street fair and carnival in Eugene this summer or autumn.

It seem that Gully and Garten have commenced the erection of chutes and other logging apparatus and felled considerable timber on the Company's lands already. Sheriff Withers left this afternoon to serve the injunction papers on the parties.

Hon. R. A. Booth, Mayor G. R. Chrisman and Hon. E. R. Skipworth have been nominated as school directors to be voted upon at the annual election which occurs June 16. W. O. Zeigler and Mrs. C. M. Collier are on the ticket. Dr. W. L. Cheshire, who was nominated to run with the last two named has declined because of being non-resident. He owns a homestead in another district.

The highest price paid in the state for hops this year was paid today by Frank Page, a local dealer, when he purchased from F. E. Denn 100 bales at 17 cents per pound.

It is proposed by the promoters to hold a six-day carnival with new and special features for each day.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

What's in a name?

Whether much or little, depends largely on what the name is and what it stands for.

The name "Hazelwood," to the lover of frozen dainties, is a word to conjure with. To the person who is "cranky" about his butter, "Hazlewood" is a guarantee bond. To the housewife who wants whipped cream that will whip, "Hazlewood" is a benediction.

Scarcely a year and one-half ago the name "Hazlewood," as applied to creamery product, was little known in this section; today it is a household word in the state. The last year has seen the business of the Hazlewood Cream Company more than double and in Seattle, Tacoma and way points the name and product is as well and favorably known as it is here.

It is not generally known in Portland that the Hazlewood Cream Company is one of the largest of its kind in the West. Besides the local establishment they own and operate extensive plants at Sioux City, Ia., and at Spokane, Wash. One of the finest modern dairy and poultry farms in the West is the property of the company, located near Spokane, Wash.

The local business of the company, under the careful management of competent men, has grown in a year and one-half, as stated, to wonderful proportions. The increase of business has made it necessary to increase the capacity in the butter-making department and a new churn, ripener and U. S. separator have recently been installed.

The new cream ripener is a decided departure from the old style and is, as far as known, the only one of its kind in Oregon. The old style flat vat ripens the cream from the bottom, making it almost impossible to thoroughly and evenly ripen the cream. The new style is equipped with a revolving vat, outside of and around which, the ripening agent is applied while the vat revolves, thoroughly agitating the cream, thus producing even results. The new U. S. separator, for which the company is agent, and of which they have placed more than two carloads, has a capacity of 3500 pounds of milk per hour. They are now handling in the creamery about 2000 gallons of cream daily, all of which is the very purest Oregon farm product gathered from every available point in the state. At Corvallis, Oakville and Gaston the company operates skimming stations to which the neighboring farmers bring their milk to be skimmed; but the days of skimming stations is past, for the farmer is learning the lesson of economy as taught by the small farm hand separator, with which every business-minded farmer is now equipped. The hand separator saves the farmer the station fees always charged for separating, gives him his skimmed milk for feed purposes, saves him time in hauling to and from the station and gives him a higher percentage of cream than hand skimming ever could give.

In connection with the creamery they are also operating a most completely equipped ice cream freezing plant. Immense power freezers of 400 gallons daily capacity are kept busy in the season congealing mysterious mixtures into the delicious ice creams, water ices and sherbets that so agreeably reduce the higher touches of temperature in the hot months. Ice cream in bulk, in fancy moulds of a thousand shapes, in bricks frozen solidly that they will stand two hours without ice, in all the known flavors and in any color to suit the fancy of all and in quantity sufficient to surfeit the appetite of the ice-cream girl or the voracious small boy.

The fame of the Hazlewood product is well deserved and its popularity is not the result of accident or widespread advertising, but has been brought about by strict care that no inferior product ever bears the name.

"Hazlewood" stands for excellence.

WILL STAR A "BELTED EARL"

Charles Frohman Has Signed the Earl of Rosslyn.

LONDON, June 6.—The Earl of Rosslyn has signed a contract with Charles Frohman to open at the Garrick Theatre in New York on September 5th as the hero in Captain Marshall's new comedy, in which the Earl will play the part of a young lover. The Earl of Rosslyn will attend the coronation of King Edward as a peer and will sail for the United States on August 8th. Up to the present time the Earl has always appeared on the stage here under the name of James Erskine, but it is provided in Mr. Frohman's contract that in the United States he will be billed as the Earl of Rosslyn.

Mr. Frohman has also engaged Alice Cortelyou to support William Gillette in the United States. Miss Cortelyou is a cousin of George B. Cortelyou, secretary to President Roosevelt, and quite well here as William Barrett's leading lady.
