

BULLOCH SAW MANY CHANGES

He Was the Son of a Revolutionary Soldier.

The death of Major M. Bulloch in Hillsdale, Columbia County, N. Y., a fortnight ago removes another of the few surviving sons of Revolutionary soldiers. Major Bulloch was the son of Comfort Bulloch of Rehoboth, R. I., a descendant of one of Roger Williams' followers. Comfort Bulloch enlisted in a Massachusetts regiment in 1780, at the age of 18, and served until the close of the Revolution, when he was honorably discharged. He died in 1821.

Major Bulloch was the youngest of seven children of the Revolutionary soldier and Bethan Bowen, whom he married in Rehoboth after the war. In 1800 Comfort Bulloch and his family moved to Dutchess County, N. Y., and in 1806 moved to Hillsdale, where Major Bulloch was born on March 23 in that year.

Major Bulloch was a farmer during the greater part of his life. From 1850 until just before the outbreak of the Civil War he engaged in the lumber business in Hudson, N. Y. He served two years as an alderman in that city. His military title from an appointment as lieutenant in the Forty-fourth regiment of infantry in 1823, but he did not serve in either the Mexican or the Civil War.

Major Bulloch saw the transition from stage coach to railway train, from sailing vessel to steamship. He saw the adoption of the electric telegraph and the kindred developments of electrical science, the telephone, the phonograph, the electric light and all the inventions by which electric force is now applied to man's use.

In warfare he saw the advance from the old flintlock to the modern machine gun, and in the industries he witnessed the wonderful adaptation of machinery to almost every branch of manufacture. Most wonderful of all, he saw the expansion of the United States, from a narrow strip on the Atlantic seaboard westward to the Pacific until it embraces almost one-half of the North American continent and large insular possessions. He has left one son, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

COMMENCEMENT

(Journal Special Service.)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 20.—Many visitors are here for commencement week at Yale which was ushered in today with the usual Townsend prize orations in Battell Chapel. Sunday President Hadley will deliver the baccalaureate address and the week will come to a close next Wednesday with the graduation exercises proper.

HOW HE BEAT A POKER GAME

(Journal Special Service.)
REDDING, June 20.—A lone bandit held up a saloon at Red Bluff. While the bartender was serving drinks to four men playing poker a man entered the saloon. He had a can under his arm, and it was presumed he came for beer.

CASEY GOT GAY

(Journal Special Service.)
SEATTLE, June 20.—Casey Moran, a newspaper man of Dawson, on June 6, got himself into trouble by carrying on a long range conversation with the quarantined passengers of the steamer White Horse on Dog Island. Health Officer MacArthur has charged him with exposing himself to infection from smallpox and with having left quarantined premises without the consent of the medical officer. It is alleged that the latter is sore because of Moran's exposure of the fact that quarantined people on the island were not given enough water.

FLEDGLING PEERS AT THE KING'S CORONATION

(Journal Special Service.)
LONDON, June 20.—A pleasing impression has been created by the report that the King has intimated his wish to have the young Marquis of Bute attend the coronation, despite the fact that the latter, according to strict rule and precedents, would not be entitled to admission to the Abbey with his fellow-peers. Lord Bute came of age today, but as he will not take his seat in the House of Lords before the coronation ceremony he would not be allowed the seat proper to his rank at the great function next week. If there was a strict adherence to official etiquette it now seems probable, however, that the question of form will be waived and the young Marquis will be found seated among his elders, instead of on the special bench provided for peers and peeresses in their own right who are minors.

If King Edward makes an exception in this case it will not be the first time he has shown special favor toward the young Marquis. A year ago when the Marquis of Bute was received in audience by the King for the purpose of returning to the sovereign his dead father's

FOUND DYING ON SIDEWALK

(Journal Special Service.)
KANSAS CITY, June 20.—Bernhard Steinert, a slater 40 year of age, was picked up on the sidewalk at the corner of Fourteenth street and Grand avenue at midnight, unconscious and with his skull fractured, and died soon afterward at the Police Station.

Several boys told the police that they saw Steinert accost a man and woman, whom he met at that corner, that the man at once felled Steinert with a club or slugshot, kicked the prostrate form in the face and fled with his female companion. The police have no clew to the murderer.

FIRE ON MORMONS

Kentucky Saints Are Not Wanted in Paducah.

(Journal Special Service.)
PADUCAH, June 20.—The people residing near Davis Chapel, in Marshall County, are greatly exercised over the firing of a fusillade of bullets into a Mormon meeting by opponents of the Mormons. Harry Lamb was shot in the leg, and the Mormon converts, 15 or 16, returned the fire and more bloodshed is feared. Less than a year ago the Mormon Church there was burned and two elders driven away. The Mormons have taken the matter to the grand jury.

GOOD CROPS.

(Journal Special Service.)
PAUL, June 20.—Reports of crops of all kinds that have been coming in from all sources during the present week never have been more favorable at this time of year. Every part of the Northwest, except the wet region in the Red River Valley, where seeding was delayed, is sharing in the bright prospects. The outlook in Southern and Southwestern Minnesota is exceptionally bright. Reports from every place on the line of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad show a prospect that could hardly be improved upon. Corn, of which there is an increased acreage, is growing fast. Many people also report an exceptionally good prospect for a heavy hay and potato crop.

SOCIETY OF WAR OF 1812

Is Meeting Today in Bean Town on the Bay.

(Journal Special Service.)
BOSTON, June 20.—The General Society of the War of 1812 began its annual meeting in Boston today with delegates from Illinois, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts and Connecticut. The gathering was called to order by the president-general John Caldwell of Philadelphia, and the opening prayer was by Bishop Coleman of Delaware, chaplain-general of the society. These sessions are to continue through tomorrow, the business meeting being interspersed with short trips to places of historic interest in and about Boston.

Sheep Quarantine.

(Journal Special Service.)
HELENA, Mont., June 20.—Governor Toole of Montana has issued a proclamation to the effect that all sheep imported into the State of Montana must be loaded at point of starting into properly disinfected cars and when arriving in the state must be disinfected under the supervision of the State Veterinarian.

THREW EGGS AT MR. BROWN

Seattle Woman and Her Idea of Revenge.

(Journal Special Service.)
SEATTLE, June 20.—C. Brown, an employe for a local real estate company, was the victim of a sensational assault at the corner of First avenue and Columbia streets at 1 o'clock. Mary F. Johnson, because of an imagined wrong, used her umbrella and a paper sack full of eggs as weapons against Mr. Brown, with telling effect. He could do nothing to protect himself and to retreat was the only way for him to get out of the awkward

WEALTH IN ELKS TEETH

Elk teeth by the bushel are one of the chief assets which John Loekamp of Billings, Mont., enumerates among his big fortune.

Loekamp keeps a general store at Billings and for many years it was his custom to trade supplies of one kind or another for elk teeth, which by the way, were used for charms and amulets long before the Elks took them up as the emblems of their order.

The action of the Colorado lodges in agreeing to wear no more elk teeth because the demand of the teeth caused a wholesale slaughter of elk, had a marked effect in reducing the price. Other lodges respected the motive, and quite a boycott on elk teeth was on for a year or more. It seems, however, they are in demand again. Loekamp has been selling his at 25

PARDON FOR MRS. MAYBRICK

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)
LONDON, June 20.—After years of fruitless effort to obtain a pardon for Mrs. Florence G. Maybrick, her friends are at last hopeful that success is at hand. It is announced here that King Edward will at his coronation issue a special pardon to the famous prisoner as a special compliment to the United States.

When 17 years of age Florence Chandler, of Mobile, Ala., was met and courted by James Maybrick, of Liverpool, then ward scrape. He was not hurt physically, but his clothing was quite badly soiled and his feelings very badly hurt. The affair caused considerable commotion on the street and a large crowd of curious people gathered to witness the affray. The encounter was a short one, however, and the woman went away victorious.

OVER THE WIRES.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)
NEW YORK, June 20.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland delivered a speech at the opening of the new Tilden Club here on Thursday night. The burden of his remarks was unity in the Democratic party.

THE PANAMA MEN CONQUER

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)
WASHINGTON, June 20.—In the Senate yesterday the Spooner substitute for the House Nicaragua Canal bill passed by a vote of 42 to 34. The measure provides that the President shall select the Panama route provided that he can obtain a clear title to it, falling which the Nicaragua route is to be chosen. It is designed that the construction of the canal shall be placed in the hands of a commission to be appointed by the President. Their compensation shall also be determined by him; $120,000,000 in 2 per cent bonds is provided for to meet the construction expenses. The passage of the Spooner amendment is regarded as a great personal victory for Mark Hanna and may be the means of securing him the presidential nomination in 1904.

MINES AND MINING.

It will be of interest to mining men to learn that they will no longer be required to put revenue stamps on mining stock after July 1. The recent law enacted by Congress abolishes the revenue act applying to mining stock.

J. H. Burlington, a mining man of Sumpston, returned home yesterday from a business visit to Portland. He is interested in the Umpqua group of claims in the Cracker Creek district. Mr. Burlington reported that the mining outlook for Eastern Oregon is very bright. Capital is coming in from the East, and properties are being developed on an extensive scale. Prospects of a year ago are giving evidence of being converted into producing mines, and rich strikes are being encountered with unusual frequency.

GUITEAU JURY

Eight Still Living Despite His Curse.

"It is currently believed," said one of the old inhabitants of this city, "that the members of the Guiteau jury, which was composed of 12 citizens of Washington, have all died since the trial and conviction of the assassin of President Garfield 20 years ago, but such is not the case. Only four have passed to the other shore—the last one, a retired butcher (Mr. Prather), having been a member of the Oldest Inhabitants' Association of the district.

John P. Hamlin, the foreman of the jury, is living in this city, a hale and hearty old man of more than three score and 10 years. I was talking with him on the subject of the Guiteau trial, in which he played so prominent a part, the other day.

"I and my fellow jurymen," says he whenever questioned on the subject, "were convinced that Guiteau was conscious of what he was doing when he fired the shot."

"Guiteau denounced the jury with a curse that caused a shudder to pass over the vast throng in the Courtroom. When the verdict was announced he said: 'My blood be on the head of that jury, and don't you forget it! That is my answer, and God will avenge this outrage.'

"The average age of the jury was 50. Gates, I think, was the youngest, and Hobbs the oldest. Hobbs, Thomas Heintzel, Fred Brandenberg and Prather are dead; while Bright, Langley, Wormley, Stewart, Gates, Sheahan, Branner and John Hamlin are living—enjoying, as the latter said to me, the consciousness of having performed their duty in convicting the assassin.

"Poor Sheahan, I understand, from physical trouble, has been in the insane asylum for some years—not because of Guiteau's curse, I am sure. Those of the jurors who have died lived to be old men, you might say, and died as other men die, the cause of the cause."

who are living, I understand from my friend Hamlin, are doing first rate. He tells me he often meets his fellow-jurymen in this city, but that they scarcely ever refer to that incident in their lives. It is a memory of the past, and not a pleasant one.

"The confinement was long and arduous—over two months in the National Hotel, closely guarded by United States Marshals."—Washington Times.

Green's Rise.

William E. Green, who has just been elected vice president of the St. Louis & Southwestern Railroad "Cotton Belt Route," is one of the most widely known railroad men in Chicago. A native of Whiteside County, Illinois, he began his career in the railroad business as a boy of 16, and worked his way up to his present high position. He has served as division superintendent of the Union Pacific, trainmaster on the Burlington, general yardmaster of the Illinois Central during the World's Fair, superintendent of the Kansas City Southern and general superintendent of the Shreveport and Red River Valley at Shreveport, La. Mr. Green is a first cousin of S. W. Bethen, United States District Attorney at Chicago.
