

CITY BRIEFS

M. E. Freeman is under arrest for riding a bicycle on the sidewalks. Lena Wilson caused the arrest last night at Annie Smith on a charge of larceny. Don't forget the concert at Woodstock tomorrow, from 4 to 6 o'clock. Take cars at Third and Yamhill. The air pump on the new dredge of the Port of Portland broke yesterday and the proposed test yesterday afternoon could not be taken. William Stewart died yesterday at his home at 170 North Twelfth street, aged 82 years and one month. He was born at Campbellton, Scotland. Very low rates to the East and return via the Chicago & Northwestern Railway. Tickets on sale June 28, July 1 and 2. For further information call at 153 Third street. Francis Dumont went into a Third-street second-hand store last night to purchase a revolver. It was loaded and he snapped it. As a result a bullet pierced his left arm. If you are going to spend a few days at the seaside, you cannot do better than call and see the Harvest Home Hotel at Long Beach. Over 16 years in business and still retaining first place is a good record. There will be a meeting of the Board of Trade Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, for the purpose of sending a representative to Japan to secure information regarding the extent of the exposition and nature of exhibit to be sent there. The commencement exercises of the Portland High school will be held at the Marquam theater next Tuesday evening. A good program is prepared, which concludes with the presentation of diplomas to the class of almost 80 graduates. Professor H. T. French, of the chair of agriculture and animal industry of the University at Moscow, Idaho, was in the city yesterday, en route to Corvallis, his former home, with his wife and daughter. He expects to return here next Tuesday. Inspector Lillis has ordered the Chinese storekeepers, on the north side of Alder street, between First and Third streets, to keep their trays within two feet of their store fronts. At this time the hot weather and fish do not combine very well. At the Marquam theater tonight a violin recital will be given by the pupils of Reginald Hadden. The accompanists will be Mrs. R. L. Hadden, Mrs. Roy Welch, Miss Beatrice Hadden and Miss Huggins. The program consists of numbers from the classic composers. J. E. Courtney presented some apples to the permanent exhibit on Washington street which were raised by W. H. Stewart of Medford. These apples were on exhibition at the Portland Carnival last year and have been kept in Mr. Courtney's cellar since then. A short musical program has been arranged in connection with the Merchants' Carnival at Parsons' hall on Wednesday evening, June 25. Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab and Dr. W. A. Chung will sing, and Evelyn Hitchcock, the little pianist, will give a piano solo. Parsons' orchestra will furnish the music. The reception to Captain Watson of the Volunteers and the farewell to Captain and Mrs. Doltz was held at the Volunteer hall last night by the W. C. T. U. The meeting was to have been in charge of Mrs. Addison, but on account of the death of her sister in Massachusetts she could not attend and Miss Gottschall was in charge. At Turner Hall tomorrow, Max Wiley, Champion middleweight wrestler of America, vs. Joseph Acton, Ex-champion of the world. General admission, 50 cents. While Joe Hodson, a driver for the Novelty Laundry Company, was crossing the Mount Tabor car track yesterday with his wagon, he was run into by a street car. Being in a closed wagon he did not hear the car, which struck the front wheel of the wagon and broke it, throwing one piece about 50 feet, and badly splintered the shaft. Portland Club, Fifth and Alder. Finest lunch in city. Portland Club, Fifth and Alder.

STRIKERS PASS RESOLUTIONS

Show no Signs of Yielding— Federated Trades Meeting. At the regular meeting of the Federated Trades Council last night the following resolutions were passed: "Whereas, Certain master carpenters and mill-owners have circulated and are continuously circulating lying reports of men working on unfair material and of the woodworkers having gone back to work and of the boycott having been declared off; and,

"Whereas, These reports are calculated to do us harm and create an unfavorable impression with our union men and the sympathizing public; and,

"Whereas, Such reports have influenced the daily papers in that they have given them publicity, and commented editorially in a manner to prejudice our cause; and,

"Whereas, Out of over 200 members of the Woodworkers on strike for seven weeks, only four have deserted, two of which were $1.75-per-day-men, and after three weeks of boycott only one carpenter has been proven to use unfair material; and,

"Whereas, The Building Trades Council will place three more men next Monday to canvass the different jobs and draw the lines close on unfair matter, to the end that none shall be used; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That all concerned are hereby notified that when the strike is settled the unions and public will be notified by public notice in the daily papers, signed by the president, J. K. Carr, and secretary, J. E. Lewton, of the Building Trades Council, and they are cautioned against reports of any character, and further,

"Resolved, That the daily newspapers be requested to give this resolution publicity."

It was decided to have the strike fund, which has been raised by voluntary contributions, divided among not only the Amalgamated Woodworkers but also those who have been thrown out of employment by reason of the boycott. Action was taken to make arrangements for a fitting observance of Labor Day, and the following committee was appointed to look after the matter: Messrs. Harry, Reed, Goldraiser, Steiner and McDonald. It is the intention to have a rousing celebration, and ample preparations will be made for the occasion. Reports relative to labor matters were received and acted upon. The M. A. Donahue Publishing House and Midelman & Steinberg; butchers, were removed from the unfair list. The visitors requested union men, before patronizing a restaurant, to demand the proprietor to show a union card, and the brewers requested that they drink no other brand but bear bearing the union label.

Davenport's Fowl Pictures.

T. W. Davenport, accompanied by his daughter Mary, were guests at the rooms of the Oregon Historical Society yesterday. Mr. Davenport was cruising about the pioneer relics when he came across an old, original, hand-drawing of his son Homer—a batch of Chinese pheasants, roosters and other feathered game and fowl. Mr. Davenport did not know that the drawing was in existence and when the history of it was given he was surprised. Mr. Himes secured the picture from a shanty at Gervais over a year ago, while rummaging about for relics. The sketch was one of the earliest of Davenport's. It was drawn under peculiar circumstances. The story is told that young Davenport went to an old friend and told him he did not want to be a burden on his "old man" any longer, and wished to make his own living. He then produced a large picture of the birds and asked his friend to sell it for him. The request was granted, and 50 of the drawings were disposed of at $1 each. A unique feature of the group is that under each of the birds appears the name of one of the noted prizefighters of the day. Jack Dempsey's among the rest. Mr. Himes says that Homer himself is not aware that the original is in his possession.

10,000 Increase of Population.

There is a man in Portland who is a careful thinker and who delights in making computations. Some men have a penchant for such things. This man has seen Portland grow from humble beginnings to a city and takes optimistic views of its future. He thinks that there is no limit to its future growth. He has made some recent figures which perhaps others will think are too expansive, but he does not think so. He says that it is his honest opinion that the city has increased somewhere from 7000 to 10,000 since January 1 in population. This seems a big increase. The new directory just issued by the Columbia Telephone Company shows that company to be growing.

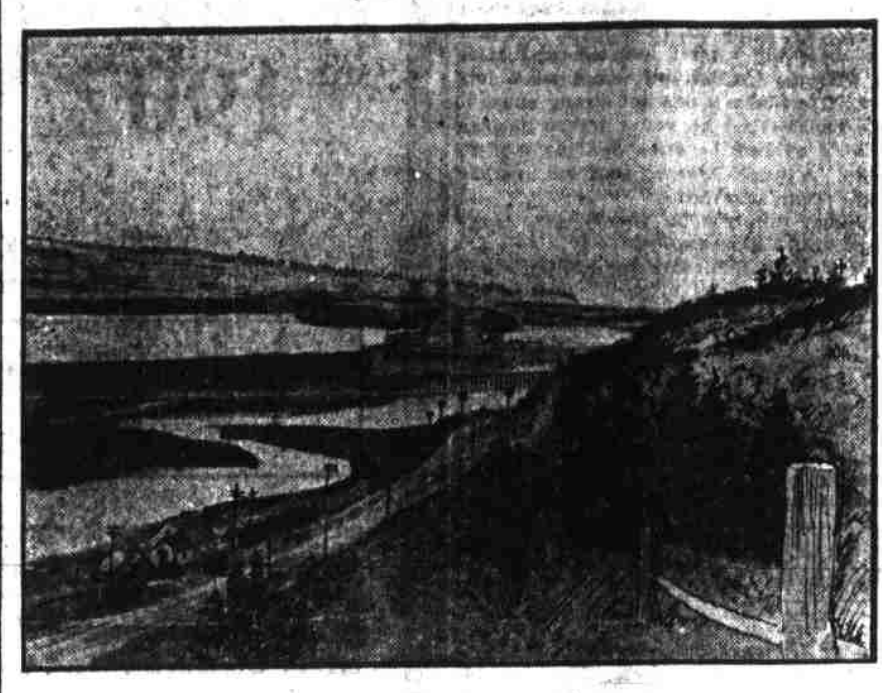

Lafayette Badge.

George H. Himes, secretary of the Oregon Historical Society, has just placed an exhibition a badge worn by Daniel F. Higgs, his wife's father, at Newark, N. J., September 28, 1824, in honor of the reception of General Lafayette. The badge bears a list of the famous benefactor of the United States, and a short historical sketch of the soldier.

SITES OFFERED FOR THE LEWIS AND CLARK FAIR

Ten sites are offered for the Lewis and Clark Centennial Fair. The Journal will present them one at a time, with the salient points urged by their advocates. Today comes the Abrams and Knox tract. This lies a little more than three miles, via the streetcar lines, from the corner of Third and Washington streets, the route going across the Burnside or steel bridges, and the "L" car being the one that will carry you to that point. The passenger, according to present street car arrangements, alights from the car at Fremont street and walks five blocks; or, boats may land at any place along as well as from all parts of Portland. People of Washington would more heartily support this location as the Columbia River would receive the benefit, hence the State of Washington would benefit thereby. BY MR. HASELTINE. Gentlemen: In behalf of Messrs. Abrams & Knox, I wish to make the following proposition for the site of the 1906 fair: They will give the use of the 97 acres of ground in Albina and donate two the waterfront before the Abrams and Knox tract, 1000 feet distant from the proposed site; or, the steam car lines may and would construct spurs running into the locality. Both the City & Suburban and Vancouver lines may easily offer good facilities for access to that site.

POINTS IN ITS FAVOR. The points in favor of the Abrams and Knox tract, as outlined by the Albina Sub-Board of Trade, and by J. E. Haseltine, representing them, are: Fine view of the harbor. Fine view of the railroad shops, warehouses and factories. Easily reached by all railroads, boats and car lines. One hundred-foot boulevard for driving. Ten acres of fine grove. Many acres of beautiful shrubbery. Below all bridges, hence would interfere less with traffic. Permanent building there could be seen by all craft entering the harbor. An electric display could be seen from Vancouver and the Columbia River re-blocks for a permanent building or buildings on condition that the city will remit the taxes for the next four years. Mr. Cook, who owns eight acres adjoining on the south, and Mr. Griswold, who owns about three acres on the northwest corner of the Abrams & Knox tract, have stated they will let the exposition have the use of their tracts on the same terms—namely, remitting their taxes—making 104 acres in all. J. E. HASELTINE. ALBINA'S OFFER. The Albina Sub-Board of Trade, by M. E. Thompson, president, and L. M. Davis, secretary, add to Mr. Haseltine's proposition the following: We, members of the Albina Sub-Board of Trade, being deeply interested in the success of the Lewis and Clark Centennial, and further believing that the Abrams & Knox tract has more advantages to offer as a site for said centennial than any other locality, hereby offer to purchase 10 acres of said tract to present to the fair committee for their use and afterward to be presented to the city for a permanent park.

NEED OF AN EMERGENCY HOSPITAL

BY EDWARD HOLMAN. "There is no use in talking, there is one thing that Portland is sadly in need of, and that is an emergency hospital, where the most serious cases can receive instant attention. "I have been seriously thinking for some time of establishing an emergency hospital, the main reason being that I believe that the city is very badly in need of such an institution. I have talked with a number of prominent physicians about the project, and they all say that it should by all means be established at once. "Now, for instance, if there should be a street car accident or some other accident of a serious nature and a large number of people were very badly wounded, as they are in a great many cases, would it not be a good thing to have a place to take them where they will receive medical aid at the earliest possible moment? "I think it is the duty of the City of Portland to establish an emergency hospital at once—the sooner the better. The institution should be located on the waterfront, somewhere between the Burnside and Morrison street bridges. It would not cost a very large sum to establish it, the only expenses being for the rent of the building, the wages of a nurse or two, and a doctor. The cost should not be considered when it is thought how many human lives can be saved by prompt medical aid."

THE ROSE SHOW

Prizes Awarded at the Floral Parade This Afternoon. Crowds came bright and early to feast their eyes on Oregon's most beautiful collection of roses. As one person said: "This is not a 'rose' show; this is a 'roses' show." There are all kinds of beauties—both in plant and human life, the girls in the booths being a cure for sore eyes. They are there in cool summer dress, depriving themselves of the company of their male friends, all for the Rose Show. The show has accomplished its purpose, and is a social success, and undoubtedly will be a financial success, also. Judging by the number of people who are to be seen there. The officers of the Portland Rose Society, to whom much credit is due for their energetic work in behalf of the show, are: President, Mrs. J. C. Card; first vice president, Mrs. V. J. Holman; second vice president, Mrs. G. H. Lamberson; secretary, Frank Lee; treasurer, Mrs. D. H. Stearns. Although not holding an office in this society, much work has been done by Mrs. A. E. Rockey, who has supplied society, much work has been done by make the show a success. The following ladies have also materially assisted the show: Mrs. George Greene, Mrs. A. M. Shannon, Mrs. R. E. Jones, Mrs. H. L. Pitcock, Mrs. E. F. Riley, Mrs. Milton W. Smith, Mrs. C. M. Cartwright, Mrs. Ella C. Leigh, Mrs. Dreyden, Mrs. John Minto, Mrs. D. McLaughlin and Miss Susie Congrove. FLORAL PARADE. The program for the Rose Show this afternoon was opened by a grand parade by all entries, after which there was

N. Wright; automobiles, for mirror presented by Frank Nau, and fancy traps, for cup presented by Portland City & Oregon Railway Company. The judges of award are Mrs. Charles E. Ladd, Mrs. W. E. Aye, General Chas. F. Beebe, C. E. S. Wood and H. C. Bowler. In addition to the judges there was an advisory board composed of Governor-Geor, Governor-elect Chamberlain, Mayor Rowe and Mayor-elect Williams.

Two—But Not of a Kind. It was a little act to do, but it showed thoughtfulness. He was only a laboring man, but he showed a great deal more sense than the man with the Panama hat and the ice cream shoes just ahead of him along Morrison street. The former was carrying a bag of fruit. He reached into the sack and fished out a banana. He peeled the fruit and threw the skins upon the pavement. The laboring man came along. He realized that if anyone stepped upon that banana skin he would be likely to fall and would probably suffer a fracture of a limb. He leaned over and picked up the offending peeling and tossed it into the street, where the other man should have thrown it.

Wonderful Freak of Nature. E. T. Farr, a butcher at 844 Washington street, has probably the most wonderful freak of nature ever seen in this country. It consists of twin calves, with well-formed bodies grown together, the two inside feet having grown upward over the back. The calves lived but a few hours. They have been well mounted and are causing much interest.

M. W. A. PICNIC. Local Camps to Join in Grand Log-rolling at Canemah Park, Oregon City.

Local camps to join in grand log-rolling at Canemah Park Oregon City. Local camps of the Modern Woodmen of America have made arrangements for a grand picnic at Canemah Park, Oregon City. A large program of athletic games, including baseball, tug of war, foot races, sack and potato races, will furnish amusement for those who do not care to trip the light fantastic in the commodious dance pavilion. The most beautiful and fascinating electrical display ever conceived will be witnessed at 9:30 p. m. by those who attend; when the great Willamette falls will be lit up by varied colored lights. This scheme of making beautiful the great rushing, roaring body of water after night had its origin in the mind of an eminent young electrical engineer, who was touring the Pacific northwest for pleasure and imparted by him to the Portland City & Oregon Railway Company, who will assist the Woodmen in arranging the grand display.

CHURCH PICNICS

Sunnyside M. E. Church will give strawberry and ice cream socials on the church lawn on the evenings of June 24 and 25. An address will be delivered by Dr. Talbot, of Taylor Street M. E. Church, and music and literary features will combine an entertainment with the social. The annual excursion and picnic of the Church of the Good Shepherd will take place on next Wednesday. The steamer Albany has been chartered for the occasion, to leave Alder street dock at 8 a. m. It will land at Albina and then go to Latourelle Falls for the day.

DIVORCE SUITS.

Eva Holmes has commenced a suit for divorce against Fred Holmes on the grounds of drunkenness and cruel treatment. She alleged that he assaulted her in October, 1901, and threatened to break up everything in the house. They were married at Portland, January 13, 1901. Frances J. Hughes has filed suit in the State Circuit Court against John S. Hughes, on the grounds of drunkenness. The couple was married in this city 33 years ago. The wife claims she is the owner of certain property in Pendleton and asks that her husband's adverse claim to the same be declared void.

Eastern Minister Here.

Rev. Charles F. Huss, pastor of the McKeesport, Pa., Presbyterian Church, will occupy the pulpit of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, of Irvington, tomorrow morning and evening in the absence of the regular pastor, Dr. Templeton. Mr. Huss enjoys the honor of having built and dedicated, free of debt, a new church in the East, and is now on a leave of absence from his congregation. Although a young man, he is a speaker of decided power, and his previous discourses in this city have been greatly appreciated.

WOODARD, CLARKE & CO. FRENCH ICE CREAM

The discovery of M. Alphonse Perrier, Chef de Cuisine of the great Hotel de Paris, is a most delicious frozen dairy. It is served in all the leading hotels of Europe, on the great Atlantic steamers, and in a few of the more select hotels of America. It is easily distinguished from the old-fashioned ice cream, by its richness, delicious flavor and butter-like consistency. Regardless of expense, we have imported the machinery from France and are now serving this dainty product in select flavors to our patrons. Being strictly pure, made of sugar and pure cream, it is not only pleasant to the taste, but nourishing and healthful.

For Parties, Dinners, Etc., We deliver it to your home in one-half gallon lots or more. WOODARD, CLARKE & CO.
