Logan & Bryan's grain letter to Bolton de Ruyter & Co.:

Wheat—Liverpool, ⅝@¼c lower; Paris, ⅝@2½c lower; Antwerp, ⅝c lower. Visible decrease, 2,535,000 bushels, against 2,227,000 bushels last year, and is now 21,000,000 bushels, against 32,900,000 bushels last year. There was a weak opening here on the lower cables, and better weather; but later market turned strong on lack of selling pressure. The visible supply was larger than was expected, and there was quite a little bull help from local scalping interests. The stock of wheat is not large, movement so far is slow, and no selling pressure except from the bear side. The Southwest reports increasing offerings of wheat and diminishing premiums for the spot stuff. Weather in Europe is reported more favorable. The news, on the whole, is bearish, but the action of the market is strong. Shorts no doubt will be covered freely. Estimated receipts tomorrow, 30 cars.

Corn.—Visible increase, 370 bushels, against 85,000 bushels decrease last year, and is now 5,100,000 bushels against 17,100,000 bushels last year. The market here was strong. Buying was mainly in the line of covering shorts. July corn is not easy to buy, although no doubt there is a scattered outside long interest. There is no change in crop news or the cash situation. The crop needs dry, warm weather, but has not suffered to any great extent. The cash situation comprises moderate receipts and a very poor demand. Estimated receipts tomorrow, 845 cars.

Oats.—The market was active and strong. There is no modification of the strength in the cash situation, and oats are in urgent demand with small supply. Oats also need dry, warm weather. There is good buying of both July and September options, but shorts were also free buyers today. We still think September oats are cheap and likely to sell higher. Estimated receipts tomorrow, 250 cars.

Provisions.—The market is again strong and higher. Packers in the main own the property, and they are pushing up prices to meet the advancing market for live hogs. Receipts of hogs are 57,000, against 54,000 last year. The average weight last week was 220 pounds, against 223 pounds last year.

THE MARKETS.

The wholesale district was unusually quiet today, even for a Monday.

Changes in quotations today were rather scarce, but most articles were steady at printed prices.

The egg market continues to be the surprise of the district. A year ago eggs were a drug on the market at 12½ cents a dozen, while today they are selling at 18@18½c, single case lots sometimes being sold as high as 19@20c a dozen. A prominent egg authority said today that a few cold storage eggs were being placed on sale, but as yet the practice had not become general. He said that there were at least 3000 cases of eggs at the present time in cold storage. With meat and provisions at such a high figure, a great many people now prefer to eat eggs instead of meat, some of them saying that it is cheaper.

California tomatoes have begun to arrive again, and the market is fairly well supplied. The California variety is quoted slightly lower than the Mississippi product, which formerly held the market. Quotations today range from 90 to $1 a box. A slightly lower quotation will be noticed today on California flat Dutch cabbage, the price being $1.50@2 a cental. Artichokes, too, are quoted lower.

The poultry market did not open well today, receipts being very small, even for the first of the week. Prices are the same.

No other changes appear in today's quotations.

GRAIN AND CATTLE

Professor H. T. French, of the University of Idaho, who was here last week, is well satisfied with feeding experiments in his capacity as professor of agriculture and animal industry in the Moscow Institution of Learning. His experiments with feeding cattle and sheep are the result of the earnest efforts of an earnest man.

It is the intention of Professor French to continue his work, with the idea of producing beef and mutton at the lowest possible cost. He is now keeping a record of his findings in the matter of feeding the dairy cow in order to ascertain the exact cost of a pound of butter and other dairy products. Professor French's experiments will be exhaustive.

Professor French will leave next week for the Michigan Agricultural College, where he will unite with others in his line of work in a series of experiments. There are few men who work harder or more zealously than Professor French. Since he was given permission by the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., to frank seeds of different varieties by mail, he has labored earnestly and with the devotion of a man thoroughly in love with his work. He has mailed packages of special seeds adapted to special localities.

Along this line Professor French has sent out what is known as quick-growing oats. He has made interesting tests with this new variety of oats. It matures 15 days earlier than the common varieties, and is therefore specially adapted to high altitudes. He has tried it at elevated locations in Idaho and is delighted with the success attained. What he is doing for oats he is also doing for other cereals.

Recently Professor French sent to Colonel R. C. Judson, the industrial agent of the O. R. & N. Company, a sample of boom grass, 4½ feet high, which is immensely valuable as forage for cattle. The advantage which this species of grass has over other grass is that it will grow well in a soil impregnated with alkali, provided there is a clay subsoil. Colonel Judson's specimen was grown in the alkali district of Eastern Oregon.

HOPS WILL BE POOLED AGAIN

It has been decided by the Oregon Hopgrowers' Association to pool their hops again the coming season, the satisfactory ending of the last season's crop being the cause. It has not as yet been decided by the association as to whether this year's crop will be shipped abroad or not.

It is said by one of the officers of the association that a prominent contracting firm had made the association an offer to contract the present year's supply at 15 cents a pound, the offer being refused because the officers of the association thought that they could get a much better rate after the crop was picked and ready for the market.

James Winstanley, secretary of the association, has just returned to his home in Salem after an extensive tour of the hop fields of the state. He says that he estimates that the crop this year in the state would not amount to more than 85,000 bales, although, as he says, it is yet too early to make much of an estimate on the growing crop.

He says that during his tour of inspection that he found a large number of vines being missing from the hills. Mr. Winstanley is opposed to the action of a large number of the growers of the state in contracting their crops at 12 to 13 cents. He says that it is like losing money.

MARINE NOTES.

The Columbia will sail for San Francisco this evening on schedule time.

The steam schooner Fulton left up this morning at 9 o'clock. She will load lumber for a Southerin port.

The Japanese liner Hong Kong Maru has arrived in San Francisco two days ahead of her schedule time. Between Yokohama and Honolulu she broke all preceding records.

The steamer Regulator brought down 200 sacks of wool from The Dalles this morning to be shipped from here on the Elder to San Francisco. This is the first shipment of this season's clip to arrive here.

The Oriental liner arrived from Yokohama last night at Victoria, B. C., for which port she brought 90 passengers. She will arrive at Astoria tonight and will reach Portland tomorrow morning. She has a large cargo for this port.

The steamer Victoria, which was damaged recently by coming in contact with an uncharted rock along the British Columbia coast, has gone into drydock at Esquimalt. It is estimated that 15 or 16 new plates will be needed to make the repairs to the hull.

The members of the Presbyterian churches and Sunday schools of the city to the number of 525 people left on the Harvest Queen this morning for an excursion trip to Multnomah Falls, where they will espend the day picnicing and having a good time.

The British steamship Quito started at noon on her long voyage to the Philippines, where she is taking a large cargo of government supplies. The Quito has been in port several months. Before receiving her cargo she underwent a thorough overhauling.

Workmen are busy this morning cleaning off the lower section of the Ainsworth dock into which the transportation company expects to move the first of the week. The river is falling rapidly, and it is likely that all the lower docks will soon be occupied again.

Considerable building material has been coming up on the boats lately from points down the river. It is said that there is strong talk among the sawmill companies at various points along the river of putting in planing mill plants if the strike continues here much longer.

Considerable apprehension is being shown concerning the steamer Portland which left Seattle April 26 for Nome. The Alaska Commercial Company is owner of the vessel and is hopeful that she will make the voyage in safety. The Portland carried 1,000 tons of freight and 110 passengers, 46 of whom were booked from San Francisco. She started with provisions and coal sufficient to last a year.

A letter from Consul-General Williams at Singapore states the reasons why the manufacturers of the Pacific Coast should recognize the importance of that city and Asia in general. Mr. Williams quotes statistics which show that Singapore is a greater harbor than San Francisco. He concludes with: "Our Pacific Coast is 5000 miles nearer the markets of Eastern Asia and Polynesia, with their 500,000,000 of buyers daily more and more demanding Western comforts, manufactures and conveniences of modern life, than are our Europeans competitors for their trade—and Indias 300,000,000 are about as near to us as to Europe."

NEW YORK.—The cruiser Brooklyn will leave for England with the body of Lord Pauncefote on Thursday. She is having difficulty in securing enough coal as a result of the strikes.
