He Feels Badly and COMPLAINT ON Roasts Some Officials.

you published an article headed "Scrap party who could be found at Captain Riley's gun store had delivered up his bicycle to a couple of deputies. The facts of this cake are:

I live on the Base Line road east of the city limits and use a path that was a good bicycle path years before the grafters dubbed it a bicycle path. At I was coming in Monday morning I saw a bieyelist just ahead of myself at Thirtyfifth street, which is well in the city limfis dumped into the ditch. Several parfies were there. I rode up, thinking the man was hurt. As I stopped they grabbed wheel, displaying their stars. I offered no resistance, but offered the men

$5 or $10 cash as security for payment, They said no, that Judge Cake's order was to bring in the wheels. The Judge must have been thinking of the recent conventions that he could not break in on for nomination and had a bad grouch on when he issued that order. These two valuable deputies, after turning a trick early in the morning, came back into town and hung around the Courthouse all day. The same valuable service was given by these worthies today. They made a capture and returned early to the Courthouse to loaf around like the loaf-

Deputy Jackson was around the hall, using the vilest kind of language; but that kind of service and men are expected to be found hanging around Horse Jockey Frazier and Judge Cake.

Regarding the blcycle tax moneys colcted, it is probably all spent in the same er as it is doled out to these valuable deputies for doing very little except to make the graft stick. Last year for a bluff a few of the Courthouse hangerson got together and formed a bicycle league to do a little boosting for the graft by passing a resolution and giving t out in the newspapers that the bloyolists had agreed to pay the tax for 1901. Complaints are still coming in at a To The Journal-In last evening's issue lively rats over the delay of the property owners on Grand avenue between East Averted." In which it is stated that a Clay and Belmont streets in replanking that thoroughfare. Following are the opinions of several of the business men on the subject:

H. H. Newhall, East, Side Bank: "I think that it is a disgrace that Grand avenue south of Belmont street had not been improved several years ago. When the street north of East Morrison street was about to be replanked, the property owners on the south were approached and asked to do the same thing. They refused and the improvement was never made.

J. E. Gottsacker, of Gottsacker Bros., grocers, 163 Grand avenue: "What a foolish question to ask, 'Shall Grand avenue be improved? Well, I shauld say that something certainly ought to be done to improve its appearance. For example, during the fire on Saturday, the fire engines had to go around to the fire by way of East Sixth street, where they ought to have gone up Grand avenue. When I want to buy any berries I have to go up to East Sixth street because the farmers say that they can not drive on Grand avenue on account of its rough condition They claim that it spoils their fruit. Since we have been in business in this location the rents have been raised several times but as yet there seems to be no tendency on the part of the property owners to make the roadway safe for a team to travel over without breaking the wagon springs." Roland Sutton, harness maker, 161 Grand avenue: "Something certainly ought to be done in the matter of improving the roadway on Grand avenue from East Clay to Belmont streets. As the street is now, when a wagon travels over it, it is all a driver can do to keep from being thrown off the seat. No bicyclist ever comes down the street now as their bicycles would hardly be fit for the junk pile by the time it had traveled over the entire length of the street. I don't care what kind of material they use to fix the street, only I would like to see it again put in condition for travel."

TwoPipeOrgans For Seattle

Recent Expert Investigations Result in Veritable Revelation to Two Different Churches.

Trinity Episcopal Church, both of Seattle, have each signed contracts with the W. W. Kimball Co. for large pipe organs, the combined prices of the two amounting to $18,500. When we first approached the purchasing committees with the Kimball pipe organs, we found them strongly prejudiced in favor of other pipe organs, and they seemed really surprised that we should present the Kimball pipe organs, which are comparatively new in the church-organ world, in competition with the old, celebrated, standard makes; but when our expert, Mr. Milner, began to show up the superior methods of construction in Kimball pipe organs, they began to likten; by and by concluded they better investigate, and sent their experts to examine large Kibmall organs in San Francisco, the great Mormon Temple organ in Sait Lake, large organs in Chicago, Pittsburg, Washington and Philadelphia, and after spending two months and hundreds of dollars investigating and comparing the up-to-date methods of construction and the musical merits of the best and most celebrated pipe organs in the United States, both churches signed contracts for Kimball organs, and why? Because they were intelligently and thoroughly convinced that they are the best that money can build.

The facilities of the W. W. Kimball Co. for manufacturing planos and organs are not equaled by any other house in the world, and their instruments in all parts of the United States rank high.

There are more than six thousand Kimball planos and organs in the State of Washington, and fully that many in Oregon, which is at least six times as many as of any other make. There is no other make of instruments sold in such large quantities that are as satisfactory to the owners, and that are as eagerly sought after as the Kimball planos and organs.

WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN.

The past week has been dry. Its first few days were unseasonably cool and light frosts occurred in many sections of the state. The frosts did no harm to the staple crops, but some tender garden truck was slightly injured by them During the middle of the week it was unseasonably warm, especially in the western half of the state, and the soll dried out rapidly.

Correspondents generally report that while the crops have made rapid advancement and have not yet been injured by drouth more rain is needed, and the indications are that the showers in the Willamette valley, which began Monday (after most of the correspondents had mailed their reports), will spread to the eastern sections of the state by Tuesday and be of great benefit to spring grain and all late crops.

The maximum or day temperatures during the week in Western Oregon ranged between 62 degrees and 88 degrees, and the minimum or night temperatures between 42 degrees and 70 degrees. In Eastern Oregon the maximum temperatures ranged between 38 degrees and 88 degrees and the minimum temperates between 36 degrees and 70 degrees, and the week as a whole, while the warmest one of the season, was not sufficiently hot to injure wheat.

Fall wheat continues filling nicely, and the bulk of the crop is now too far advanced to be injured by hot winds. Spring-sown grain is making excellent The grain aphis is reported progress. as having done some injury to fall wheat in portions of Linn County, but all crops so far this year have been unusually free from insect pests.
