

MARCHED WITH HIS OLD CLASS

President Roosevelt in a Harvard Reunion.

BOSTON, June 25.—At Harvard today the commencement exercises were made more interesting than usual by the presence of President Roosevelt, who marched with his class and afterward attended the alumni dinner in Sanders' Theater.

PRESIDENTIAL BREAKFAST.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.) BOSTON, June 25.—President Roosevelt arrived here at 7 o'clock this morning to attend the Harvard commencement.

SUICIDE CLUB IN MERIDEN

Eight Capitalists Dead in Eight Weeks.

(Journal Special Service.) MERIDEN, Conn., June 25.—The suicide Tuesday of William McGovern was the eighth suicide in this city in as many weeks.

WOULD SLAY HER CHILDREN

(Journal Special Service.) ST. LOUIS, June 25.—Mrs. Annie Corcoran was sent to the City Hospital at the instance of Dr. John H. Simon, 4104 Manchester avenue.

BIG SHOOT

(Journal Special Service.) RALEIGH, N. C., June 25.—Auspicious conditions surrounded the opening today of the big trap shooting tournament of the Interstate association at the Raleigh Gun Club.

OVER THE WIRES.

WASHINGTON.—Nothing was accomplished by the House and Senate conference on the canal bill met yesterday.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The bark Roderick Dhu just arrived from Hawaii brings news that Kilauea has been vomiting smoke and flames since June 1.

LONDON.—Sir Michael Herbert, the new British Ambassador, is soon to go to Paris to replace Sir Edmund Monson, who retires.

WASHINGTON.—The Senate has passed a bill creating a great national reservation in the Southern Appalachian Mountains at a cost of $10,000,000.

KANSAS CITY.—Albert Schrist, who was shot here on Monday by Louis Zorn, a wealthy retired physician, is dead and his slayer is held without bail.

MANILA.—The deaths from cholera in Manila to date are 1281, and in the provinces they total 872.

OMAHA.—The strike situation along the Union Pacific is growing serious but no violence is expected from the strikers.

MADRID.—A church at Pinaro, in the province of Orens, was struck by lightning. Twenty-five were killed and 25 badly injured.

LIFE STAKED ON PENTECOST

(Journal Special Service.) NEW YORK, June 25.—Albert F. Henning, a wholesale cigar salesman, was found dead at his boarding-house with his room full of gas.

KILLED FIVE TEXAS COWBOYS

Deadly Work of Two Cattlemen Near El Paso.

(Journal Special Service.) EL PASO, June 25.—Frank Vaughn, a cattlemen of Sonora, Mexico, who is returning home after a trip through New Mexico, brings news of a wholesale killing in the mountains east of Tucumcari.

Bud Lee, a young cattlemen, has been in the habit of driving his cattle to some springs about 35 miles from Tucumcari for water.

Lee says it was their intention to waylay him and catch him unawares, hence when he got a glimpse of them, some half a mile away, he and the old man opened fire with long-range guns.

MOTHER LOVE PROMPTED HER

Young Chicago Woman Tramps to See Sick Babe.

(Journal Special Service.) KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 25.—"Your baby is sick and constantly crying for mamma," wrote a relative of Mrs. Mabel Goodrich, 19, to her in Chicago.

READY FOR DEATH

George Frederick, the Prince of Wales, Will Succeed Edward.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.) LONDON, June 25.—Since the announcement today by the King's surgeons that the chances of his recovery are of the slightest, Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and the other members of the royal family, have held themselves in readiness to attend the death of the King, which it is now conceded is likely to occur at any time.

During the day the Prince of Wales was waited in an antechamber adjoining the room in which King Edward is fighting for life. He evinces the greatest anxiety.

Wise. The hay trust is the latest, but no one knows who is behind it. It's a wise trust that knows it's own "fodder."

EDWARD'S HOME LIFE

Sketches of the Domestic Side of the Royal Family of Britain.

The domestic circle of Britain's stricken King, Edward VII, has been a happy one. A due amount of privacy is carefully maintained as regards their home life by the principal members of the royal family, yet the ordinary pursuits of the King and Queen when the Prince and Princess of Wales and the manner in which their children were brought up at Sandringham have become well known to the nation at large from the personal accounts of attendants, tenants and others with her guests to the stables to introduce them to her favorite horses or show them her dogs.

It is those who know Queen Alexandra best who are most devoted to her service, and she never appears more natural and more charming than in her own home, simply dressed in the slightly trained and tight-sleeved frocks she has always affected, and out of doors in a tailor-made tweed.

The Queen skates very gracefully, and Beatrice of Battenberg.

In his Coronation robes, grasping his Imperial scepter, as he was to have appeared in Westminster Abbey to receive the Crown. The indication today is that he will never be crowned.

who have ample opportunity of observing the various members. Simplicity and kindness are dominant characteristics of the family.

Victoria, whose domestic life served as a national pattern, has been followed in the two succeeding generations, and the King and Queen accordingly have the pleasure of easily gathering around them their children and grandchildren at their Norfolk home. King Edward was married to Alexandra, Princess of Denmark, the eldest daughter of the still living King Christian, in 1863, at Windsor Castle.

EVERY INCH A QUEEN. She herself is very quietly and well fitted for her splendid position, for she has a very dignified and graceful bearing, while at the same time she has an almost magnetic charm of manner and a royal knack of always saying and doing the right thing, which is always, too, the kind thing.

LOVES OUTDOOR LIFE. She is cut all day long in fine weather with her dogs, and indoors is generally surrounded by her grandchildren, who are devoted to her and whom she also adores, more especially Prince Edward of York. When parties are staying in the house there is a very pleasant absence of ceremony, and oftentimes she will go around although she prefers to ride on the right side of her horse she is quite at her best when mounted, and at one time was very often in the hunting field.

KING EDWARD VII

Imperial scepter, as he was to have appeared in Westminster Abbey to receive the Crown.

The Queen's distinctive style of dress is proverbial, and indeed she never makes an error in taste. Never in front of French fashions, she is at the same time attractively attired in the way which suits her so well, always simple, clinging garments.

THE PRINCE OF WALES. The strong attachment existing between King Edward and his only surviving son is well known. The King sets a high value upon the common sense and judgment of the Prince of Wales, who as Duke of York led so quiet and retired a life in London and at Sandringham. That his confidence was well placed was proved in the great tour undertaken by the Duke and Duchess of York last year, which is probably destined to have far reaching results in strengthening the ties of the colonies to the crown.

The Prince of Wales was educated for the naval service, and is fully qualified to command a squadron, having passed up through all ranks as an officer. He was himself attacked by the disease which proved fatal to his elder brother and has dogged the British royal family since the death of Prince Albert, his grandfather, in 1861.

THE ELDEST DAUGHTER. The eldest daughter of the King and Queen, who is the Princess Royal of Britain, is the Princess Louise. Her marriage to the Duke of Fife was a romance which has been attended with a happy sequel. Naturally of a retiring disposition, the Princess shows no particular wish to take a foremost part in the brilliant court pageants with which the new reign is being inaugurated.

Tests made at the Automobile club in London showed that machines traveling at the rate of 20 miles an hour could be stopped in two and one-half times their length. It is expected that this test will induce the authorities to increase the speed limit for automobiles from the present rate of 12 miles an hour to 18 miles.

devolve upon her as the first heiress of the royal house.

The King's second daughter, the Princess Victoria, is her mother's constant companion. She is known as the clever one of the family, being highly accomplished and well read. Like her sisters, she is an excellent salmon fisher, the Scottish streams yielding many a captive to her rod.

Of the King's brothers, only Prince Arthur, the Duke of Connaught, is now alive. He is the popular soldier Prince who has held one of the great Indian commands, the Aldershot and Irish commands, and will probably be nominated for the post of Commander-in-Chief. The King's surviving sisters are Princess Christian, Princess Louise and Princess Beatrice of Battenberg.

YALE-HARVARD RACES

Blue and Crimson to Row For Supremacy on the Thames.

(Journal Special Service.) NEW LONDON, Conn., June 25.—This New England town is preparing to rejoice in its annual college outing, for the crews of Yale and Harvard contest for supremacy on the Thames tomorrow.

The town is decorated impartially in blue and crimson, and everywhere on the streets are noisy masses of students, Gales Ferry and Red Top, the training quarters of the two crews, were besieged throughout the day by crowds of students and lovers of aquatic sports.

It is generally conceded that the three races, 'varsity eight,' 'varsity four and freshman eight,' will be the most closely contested events held in years. Few wagers are reported so far, but the betting is expected to be heavy when the crowds arrive from New York and Boston tomorrow morning.

the four-oared, and will start at 10 a. m. from the draw bridge, racing up stream to the navy yard. At 10:30 the freshmen will take up the start at the navy yard and row up to the ferry. At 2 o'clock the 'varsity' will be called, and will be rowed down stream over the usual course, starting opposite Gales Ferry and finishing at the bridge.

The referee's boat will be the Scout, owned by August Belmont. The Mirage, owned by Cornelius Vanderbilt, will be the official boat. These and the launches of Yale and Harvard will be the only boats allowed to follow the races. William Melkiahm will act as referee. President Roosevelt is scheduled to arrive here this evening on board the United States dispatch boat Dolphin, and his presence tomorrow is expected to add much to the interest of the occasion.

RETIRES AFTER MANY YEARS

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Mrs. Fanny Jackson Coppin, who has been the principal of the Institute for Colored Youth for the past 37 years, severed her connection with the institution today at the close of the school year.

ANTLERED HERD IS IN OSHKOSH

Wisconsin Elks Enjoying a Big Jubilee.

OSHKOSH, Wis., June 25.—This city was invaded by Elks today from all parts of the state, come to attend the first convention of the state body of the order. The day was devoted principally to receiving the delegates who arrived in large numbers from Milwaukee, Waukesha, Ashland, and other cities of the state.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

The remonstrators to the granting of a franchise to the West Side & Suburban Railroad Company (Hillsboro line) presented their grievances to the Board of Public Works yesterday, and sought to have the measure which was granted by the Council at the last meeting side-tracked.

The following bids for street improvements were referred to City Auditor Devlin for examination: Front street—Nickum & Kelly, $1018; Smyth & Howard, $1078.67.

BATHS MAY CLOSE

Owing to the difficulty of finding a suitable location, the Portland Free Swimming Baths may have to be closed for the season. The old stand on the East Side will not be available for five weeks or more, and other locations have been examined and found to be undesirable.

May Change Campground. An offer has been submitted by the people of Troutdale to the M. A. Ross Post, G. A. R., located at Pleasant Home, for the holding of the Post's annual reunion and encampment at that place instead of Pleasant Home, as was at first contemplated.

POLITICAL MATTERS

Lind is the Nominee of Minnesota Democrats.

(Journal Special Service.) MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 25.—John Lind is to be the Democratic nominee for Governor of Minnesota. The state convention was called to order here shortly before noon today with a full representation of delegates.

MICHIGAN REPUBS.

DETROIT, Mich., June 25.—Today witnessed the arrival of a large number of delegates and visitors to the Republican state convention, which assembles here tomorrow for the nomination of candidates for Governor and other state officers to be voted for this fall.

TO SUCCEED HIMSELF.

DUBLIN, Ga., June 25.—Congressman W. G. Brantley was renominated here today by the Democratic Congressional convention of the Eleventh district.

NORTHWEST NEWS

OLYMPIA, Wash.—Governor McBride is considering the pardon of Walter H. Erving, serving 20 years for murder. Al Seattle suicide, unknown, left a paper exonerating Erving and acknowledging his crime.

WEISER, Idaho.—George W. Moyer, a Weiser merchant, in a letter from Thunder Mountain, reports many new strikes in the Idaho camps.

ABERDEEN, Wash.—Scott Weatherwax and associates will build a 100,000-foot-per-day lumber mill here at once. The City Council will vacate streets on the new site at its next meeting.

POCATELLO, Idaho.—The body of E. M. Frits, with a bullet hole through the head, has been found on the North Fork of the Pocatello River. No clue to the murderer has been found.

VICTORIA, B. C.—The state coroner and the naval and military review which were to have been held here on Thursday have been cancelled on account of the illness of King Edward.

WEISER, Idaho.—An election is on here to issue $40,000 bonds for the construction and municipal ownership of water works and a light plant.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—The merger suit was called here yesterday by the United States Circuit Court and then set as a trial all the jury cases are disposed of. It will be next week before action on it is taken.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash.—The British steamer Wearside is ashore at the entrance to Port Ludlow. She had no pilot on board. Tugs have gone to her assistance.

What Puzzled Tommy. Tommy had been worrying papa with the usual number of unanswerable questions, and had been threatened with censure punishment if he did not keep quiet.

"Pa, they say the rain falls alike upon the just and the unjust, doesn't it?" "Yes, yes. Don't ask silly questions."

"And it isn't just to steal another man's umbrella, is it?" "Certainly not. If you ask any more—"

"But, pa, the rain doesn't fall upon the man that steals the umbrella, and it does on the man who had it stolen. Funny, isn't it, pa?"—London Answers.

Subscriptions received for The Journal at 25¢ per copy.