

CITY BRIEFS

The members of St. David's Church will give an organ recital about September 1st. R. G. Wilson, of Eugene, Cal., wishes information relative to the best dairy districts of Oregon. President Carbett, of the Lewis and Clark Fair, is receiving statistics regarding other fairs, the latest received being from Omaha. In the temporary location of the free swimming baths, at Joseph Supple's boat yards, hundreds of people, both old and young, took a dip yesterday. Rev. Charles F. Huns of McKeesport, Pa., preached at Westminster Presbyterian Church Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, Rev. H. S. Templeton. George Snyder, a young boy, was given a hearing in the municipal court this afternoon for firing off a toy cannon within the city limits before the 4th of July. While the family was absent Friday evening thieves broke into the residence of Bishop Morris, 635 Everett street, and stole a valuable gold watch, which was an heirloom. Miss Catherine Harker of this city has started a girls' seminary at Palo Alto, Cal. She is the daughter of Mrs. S. E. Harker of this city and a former teacher in the Portland High School. In accordance with the request of Secretary Reed, of the Lewis and Clark Fair, Mrs. Mary J. Fish, of Taunton, Mass., will write a biography of her uncle, Captain Nathaniel Jarvis Wyeth, for the 1902 Fair. According to the Bulletin of Agriculture of the Census Office, there were 55,837 farms in Oregon on June 1, 1900, valued at $133,327,544; also $5,506,725 worth of farm implements and machinery and $33,817,684 worth of livestock. D. V. Rogers, brother of Frank T. Rogers, treasurer of the Barbers' board of examiners, is dangerously ill at the St. Vincent's hospital. It is feared that he has dropsy of the heart. Mr. Rogers is a mechanic in the employ of the Southern Pacific car shops, this city. Dan J. O'Calligan, a San Francisco merchant, is at St. Vincent's hospital, recovering from an operation for appendicitis. He was en route to Seattle from San Francisco, where he was going to establish a branch house for his firm, and before reaching this city was taken seriously ill. The Cook avenue (Albina) sewer will be pushed to completion as soon as the new council comes into power. The population of this district has increased so rapidly the past year that the improvement has become an urgent need. City Engineer Chase has already done much of the preliminary work. Portland Club, Fifth and Alder. Finest lunch in city. Portland Club, Fifth and Alder.

Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. Portland will again be the rendezvous of the Workmen and their ladies. The annual session of the Grand Lodge, A. O. U. W., and D. of H., of Oregon, will take place July 15, 16, 17. The following committee on entertainment was appointed by the local lodges: R. L. Durham, of Hope Lodge, No. 1; Ralph Feeney, Upchurch, No. 125; Clarence Wheeler, Fidelity, No. 4; J. W. Paddeck, Industry, No. 8; John Mann, Portland, No. 7; Captain E. B. Edwards, Industry, No. 8. The program for the session will be business transactions during the day and entertainments in the evening. The entertainments provided for are, a public reception on Tuesday evening, July 15, a moonlight excursion down the Columbia on Wednesday evening and a ball for Thursday evening. The presiding officers of this session are Grand Master C. C. Hogue, of Albany, of the A. O. U. W., and Grand Chief of Honor Mrs. W. Belknap, of Prineville, of the D. of H.

Col. Parker on the Fair. Colonel Frank J. Parker, chairman of the Washington State Commission of the Lewis and Clark Fair, is at the Imperial. Speaking of the Fair, Colonel Parker said: "While I was at Albany and Corvallis I made it my business to find out what interest is being taken in the Lewis and Clark Exposition. I find that the people are very desirous that the fair be made a success and that they favor a good appreciation for that purpose. But the business men in those cities told me that nothing is being done among them in aid of the fair. They are willing and ready to do their share toward making the exposition what it ought to be. It seems to me that committees should be sent to the Valley towns at once, so that the business men may have a chance to say what they will do, and show what interest they have in the fair."

Drowned Boy Buried. Earl Dickens, the young lad who was drowned by falling through a rotten board from a house on East Third and East Washington streets, was buried this afternoon, the funeral taking place from Dunning's undertaking parlors, corner East Sixth and East Alder streets. The body was interred in Lone Fir cemetery. A great deal of criticism has been expressed by a number of people who were at the scene of the drowning, that the physician in charge did not work on the body long enough. They claim that circulation had already been started in the body and that if the physician had not given up the task the life of the boy might have been saved.

Episcopal Church Dedication. Bishop Morris dedicated the All Saints' Protestant Episcopal Church yesterday morning, the services being attended by the large congregation of the parish. The sermon was preached by Rev. William Seymour Short of Astoria, and those also in the chancel rail were Rev. E. T. Simpson, the rector; Rev. Cleland of Vancouver Island and Rev. Cunningham of the Seaman's Institute. The first services were held in this church last Thanksgiving day. The land for the church was donated by the late William Sherlock, and the building was erected by an unknown donor. It is a pretty, quaint edifice, and has a rectory in connection. Bishop Keator of Olympia addressed the audience last night.

A CREDITABLE PROGRAM.

At Shields' Park last night standing room was all taken, and the large audience was interested greatly in the performance. The Matilda performers did some really skillful work, especially the little fellows who show that in this line they are better than any American boys who have appeared here. Hase Sanger, the California comedienne, made her initial appearance in this city and exhibited her powers as a singer. George Jones, a member of the Ernest Hogan company, gave several songs, and Mr. Shields' descriptive talk on the trip across the continent concluded the program with the polycope pictures. A King Wilson has just returned from the East. He notices particularly now what The Journal has often adverted to—the lack of proper marking of Portland streets. He visited New York, Boston, Baltimore and Washington. He noticed a widespread interest in Oregon while in the East and looks to see a great deal of immigration this way. Mr. Wilson looked deeply into the subject of irrigation, in which he is much interested, and will apply what he has learned toward the betterment and improvement of his property on the Deschutes river. As a stockholder in the Esty estate, Mr. Wilson was a heavy loser in the fire of last week at the corner of Gilsan and Seventh streets.

AFRAID OF WATER CURE.

An incident happened in the County Jail the other day that proved Jailer George T. Mitchell to be a man of really wit, and one of his prisoners, Billy Daly, a confirmed opium fiend, a faker of the first order, Daly wanted some opium bad enough to undertake to feign that he had a fit. He commenced to straighten out and assume the attitude of one just on the verge of convulsions. Mitchell at once became suspicious that "Billy" was playing a shrewd game of strategy in order to have a liberal dose of "dope" administered to him, and concluded he would try first the water cure on the patient. He accordingly ordered a couple of trustees standing near to place Mr. Daly under the water spout and turn on the faucet. Before the order could be executed Daly concluded he did not have a fit, whereby the man escaped a ducking and the spectators were cheated out of a free show.

TWO WEEKS FOR CONTEST

Miss Benedict Leads Miss Westenfelder Close Race for First Place. Just two weeks remain in which to cast votes for the girls who will get the vacation prizes from The Journal. That's a very short time, so the friends of the contestants would do well to hustle. Miss Benedict climbed up several hundred votes today, being a close second to Miss Westenfelder. Remember the date of the close, and send in your votes. The votes stand at this time thus: Miss Barbara Westenfelder.....247 Miss Margaret Benedict.....242 Miss Etta Winkelmann.....197 Miss Margaret Chapman.....137 Miss Rose Franklin.....135 Miss Mabel Randall.....128 Miss Elizabeth Reifenrath.....49 Miss Lizzie Saub.....33 Mrs. Catharine Adams.....33 Miss Minnie Harris.....33 Miss Leslie Lind.....34 Miss Lizzie Wilson.....14 Miss Bessie Hubbard.....12 Miss Judith Poulson.....10 Miss Laura Richardson.....7 Miss Mildred R. Webb.....4 Miss Emily Byrne.....3 Miss Ursula Michel.....2 Miss Bessie Zimmer.....2 Miss Waddell.....1

Portland may have a new iron foundry in the near future. According to a letter from the Knoxville Wheel & Foundry Company, of Knoxville, Tenn., this company may establish a plant in Portland.

MAY COME HERE

Child-Wives of India. A meeting in the interests of the Indo-American League was held at the Norton at 5 p. m. today, at which addresses were made by Mrs. W. C. Wallace and Miss Josephine Holmes of Los Angeles. These women lived several years in India, and from their observations there have taken up the work of forming this league for the amelioration of the condition of the child wives of that country. They have organized women together at San Francisco and Los Angeles for this purpose and are receiving great encouragement here. The Woman's Club has interested itself in the matter. The ladies working in the interest of the league receive no compensation for their services, as the yearly dues of 50 cents are devoted to the work of the league.

Pile Driving Finished. The pile for the temporary decking of the burned spans of the Madison-street bridge have been driven and work will be started at once on the upper structure. The structure will be a temporary affair and will be used until the permanent structure is ready to be put into place. The Portland City & Oregon Company's men are working hard to erect their trestle work so that the cats can reach the bridge.

KIDNAPING OF KRUSE'S BOY

Child's Grandfather Tells His Story—Has Arrived. The efforts of Richard Kruse, the grillroom proprietor, to gain possession of his young son are outlined in the following article from the New York Sun: "The police did not arrest any one yesterday for the abduction of the boy Richard Kruse, of Portland, Ore., whose relatives in Brooklyn complained at police headquarters last Saturday that he had been kidnaped from his mother in Germany and was being brought here on the steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm. When the steamer arrived at Hoboken yesterday from Bremen the boy, who is eight years old, was found on board, but he was with his grandfather, D. J. Kruse, who said he had a legal right to the child, and the police believed him. "Mr. Kruse had no hesitation in saying that he had kidnaped the child in Germany but in evidence of his right to do so he exhibited a power of attorney, signed by the boy's father, Richard Kruse, of Portland, Ore., and witnessed by the Secretary of State of that state, giving him the care of the child. This was dated May 30, 1902. "According to the story told by the grandfather, the boy's father and mother went to Germany last September taking the child with them. The Kruses were not on the best of terms and the boy's father, according to the grandfather, came home, leaving the boy and his mother visiting his wife's parents in a place called Oldenburg. "When my son returned to this coun-

RENTED HORSES

Are Used by the Local Fire Department.

It Has Other Drawbacks—Rotten Hose and No Money.

"It seems curious that Portland should not have a hose-tester in connection with its fire department," said a prominent citizen today. In the last two fires the department was greatly hampered in its work by the bursting of hose. Either Portland is supplied with rotten hose or the pressure brought to bear in the hose is too strong. If we would have a hose-tester all this trouble would be alleviated, and there would be no more bursting of hose. Take the East side fire department for instance. According to Chief Campbell's estimate, about $100 worth of hose bursted. I think that that amount would cover the cost of a hose-tester."

This statement was shown to Chief Campbell of the fire department, who said it was all wrong. He said: "Why, if you say such a thing to an old fireman he'd laugh; but for your information, I'll tell you that hardly any fire departments test their hose periodically, as it is not necessary—it only gives the hose an unnecessary strain. We have what you might call a hose-tester—it is really a force-pump, with which we test hose when we buy it. You see, the hose is guaranteed for five years to withstand a pressure of 500 pounds, and when we buy a pipe, say of 500 feet, we test 50 feet of it to see if it is all right. The testing of a hose practically ruins it, so we generally take a small part of our purchase and test it, instead of the whole."

In answer to the question as to what pressure the water mains give, Chief Campbell replied: "They give from 35 to 55 pounds, so you see the hose can withstand a further pressure of 45 pounds. The hose which burst in the East Side fire was the same hose which we used in the Standard Oil Company fire about one and a half years ago. At that fire the oil soaked into the rubber through the canvas covering of the hose, practically ruining it. I have given orders to my men to use the old hose first, and then the new, so as to save the new hose as much as possible. That is why there was so much bursting of hose at the East Side fire. Why don't we have all new hose? Well, give us the money and we will. I have been trying to get various appropriations, but cannot, because the city has no money. Do you know that we have four horses in the department which are rented because we have no money to buy them? If you want to have a good department put up the money for it."

No Additional Agents. No United States consular office will be established in China to examine into the commercial conditions there. This policy is made by Assistant Secretary of State Daniel J. Hill to a request made by the Chamber of Commerce of this city. The reasons given are that the consular offices are provided for in an act of Congress known as the department and consular bill. This bill has been passed and is out of the way for this session of Congress.

Supple Receives Contract. The contract for building the government boat which will be operated on the Fort Stevens route has been let to Joseph Supple, the price being $2,500. The new boat will be 60 feet in length, and will be constructed with compound engines and a sailing auxiliary. Five months have been allowed in which to finish the contract.

The Kellys' Reunion. The fourth annual reunion of the Kelly Clan was held Saturday afternoon at the residence of F. J. Kelly, East Twenty-eighth and Holgate streets. A surprise was tendered to the gathered descendants of Clinton Kelly by the marriage of Miss Eugenia Kern, a teacher in the public school, and granddaughter of Clinton Kelly, to George Fawcett of Medford, Or. At the reunion and wedding a large number of relatives and invited guests were present.

LAI'D TO REST

Funeral Services of the Late William Hume.

The funeral of the late William Hume, the father of the salmon canning industry of the Northwest, took place yesterday afternoon.

Since being brought from Eagle Cliff, the body had laid at Holman's chapel, where it was prepared for burial. Promptly at 1:30 o'clock the following named citizens who were to act as pall-bearers assembled to escort the remains of their friend to the First Unitarian Church, where the services were held: Active: J. W. Newkirk, Walter Burrell, W. C. Alvord, Russell E. Sewell, F. Freeman, Edwin Mays, Dr. E. F. Tucker, and H. Sladen. Honorary: Hon. H. W. Corbett, Geo. T. Myers, Samuel Elmore, E. W. Tallant, Geo. W. Weidner, Louis Blumauer, Cyrus A. Dolph, F. R. Strong and Dean Blanchard.

The floral pieces sent by friends of Mr. Hume were both numerous and beautiful. Among those who sent them were John Cran, Clarence W. Sewell, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Weidner, Miss Sprague, Miss Annie B. Sutton, Beth Catlin, Laurence B. Ainsworth, Mrs. Geo. J. Ainsworth, Mrs. Geo. T. Myers, Frank T. Freeman, F. H. Strong, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Mays and Miss Nichols. At 1 o'clock the funeral services were held at the church. There was a large gathering and the solemn eulogy uttered by Rev. T. L. Elliot, in his reference to the departed one, were very impressive. The interment was in Lone Fir cemetery, the obsequies being largely attended.

SALMON PRICES

Figures Are the Same as Quoted Last Year.

The prices on Alaskan salmon, 1902 pack, for future delivery, have been named by the Alaska Packers Association. The prices named on red and medium red fish are the same as last year's opening prices and on pink 5 cents below last year's price, and are as follows: Red Alaska, one-pound talls, 95 cents; medium red, one-pound talls, 85 cents; pink, 6 cents; fancy red king talls, one-pound, 81 cents, $1.17 1/2.

In view of the strong position of spot sockeyes and red Alaska fish, the trade generally consider the prices named reasonable. Most buyers who placed orders subject to approval of price, who have been heard from, have confirmed purchases, and in some instances have increased their orders. An Eastern buyer, speaking of the prospect, says: "The largest output in the history of salmon packing previous to 1901 was 3,100,000 cases. Packing of 1901—the banner year—aggregated 5,100,000 cases. We estimate an extremely output for 1902 of 3,500,000 cases. This estimate is based upon the following conditions: A number of Alaska canneries last season failed to pack the quality sold, owing to scarcity of fish. These conditions will not improve at several localities this season. From all predictions, experience and traditions, 1902 will be the short year on Puget Sound for sockeyes and humpbacks."

Three Sunday Excursions. There were three excursions out of Portland yesterday, under the auspices respectively of the Oregon Camera Club, the Modern Woodmen of America and the letter carriers. It was a beautiful day, and each made the most of it. Captain Frank Smith acted as guide to the Oregon Camera Club, which went out to Quartz Rock, making a stop at Mountbath Falls on the way home. The Harveth Queen had a big load, for there were not less than 600 to 650 aboard. A number of fine views were taken. The Woodmen put in the day at Gladstone Park. Nearly 1500 people took part in this outing. There was a baseball game, foot races, tug of war, etc., for prizes awarded by various Portland firms.

Parade on the Fourth. The official route for the Fourth of July parade, as mapped out by James P. Shaw, grand marshal and chairman of the parade committee, is almost the same as published in The Journal last week. The route is as follows: Procession will start at 3 o'clock p. m. from First and Madison, marching north on First street to Taylor; west on Taylor to Third; thence north on Third to Burnside, west on Burnside to Sixth; thence south on Sixth to Salmon, west on Salmon to Park; thence south on Park to Clay, west on Clay to West Park, counter-marching north on West Park to permit those taking part to view the parade. The column will continue north on this street, past the reviewing stand erected on the east side of West Park street, directly opposite the Park School building. It is earnestly requested that our citizens throughout the city, and especially along the route of the parade, will emulate the spirit of our fathers of '76 and profusely decorate their buildings in honor of the day we celebrate. Detailed reports of the various sub-committees will be read at the meeting tonight in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Monument Association. A brief meeting of the Lone Fir Monument Association was held yesterday afternoon at 64 Grand avenue with M. L. Pratt in the chair. The committee appointed for the raising of funds for the erecting of the proposed monument reported that they had raised the sum of $100, the majority of which was in cash. At the meeting yesterday it was decided to undertake to raise the sum of $10,000 for erecting the monument.

NOT DEAD

River Basin Board of Trade and Its Objects.

Apocryph of the organization of the Columbia River Basin Board of Trade, the following letter from James W. Welch, of Astoria, to Secretary James M. Moore, no doubt voices the sentiments of many in this matter. The letter is as follows: "Dear Sir: What has been done about the organization scheme of the C. R. B. E. of T. I. Has any money been raised to send a man over our district, or are they going to let the thing die? Judge Benches Smith said to a friend of mine who was in Portland on the 18th, that we could not make the Basin Board a success as the different places did not take enough interest in the matter; so you see how the land lies. I am of the opinion that if we can make a go of it that it would be a great thing for Oregon."

Secretary Moore was seen in regard to this and said that the Columbia River Basin Board of Trade is in existence now, but that there is no use of meeting more than once or twice a year, as the local Board of Trade fulfills the functions of the Basin Board in the way of sending the various Basin Boards lists of addresses to whom literature may be sent which would require the attention of the Basin Board in the way of special meetings. Secretary Moore is sending out about 100 names a week to the various boards, of people who wish information regarding Oregon.

New Italian Catholic Church.

The Italian Catholic Church was consecrated yesterday morning by Archbishop Christie. Pontifical high mass was celebrated, followed by music by the choir of St. Mary's, numbering 40 voices, under direction of J. Adrian Epping. The Italian sermon was delivered by Father Chelamatti and the English sermon by Archbishop Christie. Both thanked the Italian citizens for their generosity in aiding in the building of the church. The three Italian societies of the city were strongly represented, the Christopher Columbus, the Druids and the Mastrini. The three courts of the Catholic Order of Foresters attended in a body. Among the clergy present were Father Costelli, Bishop O'Dea of the diocese of Washington, Father O'Reilly, Rev. Dr. Tillman, Rev. Dr. Quinlan, Monsignor Blanchet, Father Murphy, Father Black, Father Thomas, formerly of the Benedictine Order; Father Bolla, Father Quinn and Father Chelanelli. The Italian Hall is one of the finest edifices in the city, being of Roman architecture. It was erected at a cost of $20,000. The interior decorations are magnificent, and it has stained glass windows. A large assembly hall is located under the church for the various meetings that are held.

AMERICAN PLAN $3.00 Per Day and Upward. There was a meeting of the Ohio Society in Judge George's courtroom Saturday evening, at which there were 50 present. It was decided to extend the work of the society into all counties of the state. Judge P. H. Ward, Captain J. P. Shaw and Mrs. J. E. Johnson were appointed to further the matter. It is the desire of the members to make some sort of a showing in the way of an Ohio building for the Lewis and Clark Exposition in 1905, or failing in that, to establish at least Ohio Club rooms for the purpose which other dealers say is to be in place in September. The following board of directors was elected: Dr. Byron E. Miller, J. W. Bell, C. M. Ideman, Mrs. J. P. Shaw and Mrs. Frank Brock.
