

The FIELD OF SPORT

Sammy Vigneux and his baseball team arrived home yesterday from their disastrous trip and the first game will be played Thursday with Saltsburg in the box while Engle and Whitbeck will officiate in the two games on the Fourth.

While Vigneux had little to say regarding his 14 defeats while away, he pointed to the fact that Portland had played just as good ball as ever. He also said that the team had the worst possible kind of luck, which coupled with raw decisions by Mullane and Flak, lost the Portlanders many games. President Lucas, of the league, also comes in for his share of the blame.

Regarding the trouble with the Mahaffey brothers, Vigneux says that he is perfectly justified in taking the course he did. Further, that the release of one and the suspension and fine of the other had nothing to do with each other, but were separate cases entirely. He said that Lou Mahaffey is ordinarily a good man, at first and that as soon as his two weeks' suspension is up he will be taken back if he so desires.

Regarding the report telegraphed from Montana to the effect that he contemplated jumping the league, Vigneux says it was all rot and that such a thing never entered his head.

A dispatch from Tacoma says that St. Vrain, the pitcher, who jumped to the Chicago National Club and was then farmed out to Memphis, has been suspended by the executive board of the Association of Minor Leagues. As he is now blacklisted any club playing him in the minor leagues will have to come up with $500.

Little Rock refused to play with St. Vrain pitching for Memphis yesterday and forfeited the game.

Eddie Holly, who has been playing in the California league, has joined the Helena team and will cover the third bag.

Joe Mahaffey, the released Portland pitcher, has received several offers from amateur teams in the Northwest but Baker City looks the best to him and he will probably accept it. Baker City is also after Lou Mahaffey.

RACING ON THE FOURTH.

Messrs. Helman & Simpson, lessees of the Irvington track, have decided to give a day's racing on the Fourth. There will be four high-class contests between pacers and runners. The program has not been made up yet but there will be a free-for-all trot, a 2:30 pace and two running races, one of a mile and the other a half. The strings of Helman, Beckera, Simpson, Bradford, Tilden, Irwin, Smith and Bradford, who are here training for the circuit, will enter, while several local men think of also taking part.

CORBETT TO CHALLENGE.

James J. Corbett, monologist and pugilist, has announced his intention of attending the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight in San Francisco on July 25. He will challenge the winner and hopes to win back the title of champion of the world, which he lost to Fitzsimmons at Carson City.

"I expect to leave for San Francisco some time early in July in company with "Honest John Kelly" and a number of other sporting men from New York," said Corbett. "Several people have signified their intention of going, but we do not know positively who will be in the party.

"We do know, however, that Kelly and I will go, and I will challenge the winner at the ringside. I will post a forfeit at the same time, and will be ready to fight as soon as the other man is ready. The sooner it is, the better it will suit me, as I am in good condition at present and could prepare for the battle in a short time.

Broad away at Denver recently his popularity in his own town depreciated a hundred per cent. The Denver sports bet their money that he would walk around the Kid like a cooper does a barrel, and when the latter was there at the end smiling there was dissatisfaction galore. Corbett was made a target for the Denver papers, which charged him with not trying to finish Broad, who was never knocked out in his life. They created so much disturbance that the police authorities would not give the club a permit to bring off the Sullivan-Corbett fight, which was to have been held there last Friday night. There is not much doubt but what Corbett has set a fast pace of late, and was not prepared for a hard battle when he fought Broad, whom he looked upon as an "easy" opponent.

TO BE HANGED TOMORROW

Execution of Murderer Schieve at St. Helens.

★ Sheriff Hattan of Columbia County was in the city last evening, arranging final details for the execution of August Schieve, who will be hanged at St. Helens at noon tomorrow.

★ Mr. Hattan said: "Ever since Schieve was convicted there was a doubt in my mind as to his guilt until the last two or three days, but I am convinced now that the fellow is guilty. He shows no symptom of remorse, and apparently is sincere, so far as he knows, in his belief that he will be 'happy in the hereafter.'"

★ To the query as to whether or not the Sheriff would trip the trap, Mr. Hattan replied: "I will attend to that matter myself, and do it with good grace and a clear conscience, because I am satisfied that the community will be well rid of a very bad character. I set the hour for the execution at 12 o'clock for the reason that I want Schieve to die at as nearly the same time as in the day as he killed Schukow-ski."

MASS OF BRUISES

(Journal Special Service.)
CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., July 1.—James Anderson, a machine drill man on the Joe Dandy, drilled into a missed shot and was badly mangled. His left leg is shattered and it is doubtful whether it can be saved. His right leg is broken and his face and body are a mass of cuts and bruises. Anderson, who is 24 years of age and of fine physique, has requested the doctors in attendance to save his left leg, and he promises to do the rest toward recovery.

Here are the photos of the crew of husky Harvard oarsmen who went down to defeat the aqueous sons of old Eli, while President Roosevelt looked on with ill-concealed chagrin. They made a hard fight for victory but were beaten in almost record time.

"Which should win, Jeffries or Fitzsimmons?" the former champion was asked. "I think it will be Jeffries," said Corbett after a minute of study. "At least, he is younger and stronger than the Cornishman, and from my experience with both men I am inclined to favor Jeffries. I cannot explain exactly why this is, but the fact remains.

SEVERAL GOOD MATCHES.

A Los Angeles dispatch says: Fighters have been burning the wires off the poles today and in consequence McCarey has tied up several excellent matches to follow the Nell-Gibbs bout of July 11. First of these is the engagement between "Young Peter Jackson" and Billy Woods, which is set for July 22. This is in a way a concession to the local interest in Woods, the Gans-Turner both communicated to McCarey their desire to again chamber through the ropes, and while nothing is contemplated between the two, Tracy offers to do 142 for Gans, and may get the chance somewhere else than here. Kid Williams was signed by wire today to meet the "Dixie Kid," now looking for trouble in the welter weight class. They will go ten rounds the night of the Nell-Gibbs engagement, and each agrees to stop the other or forfeit the cash.

AFTER TOP NOTCHERS.
Young Corbett states that he has made up his mind to take on all the topnotchers in his class who may present themselves.

"I intend to give every man who is reasonably entitled to it a chance for the championship," he said. "There will be no haggling over terms, although, of course, I shall have to have some regard for my theatrical engagements. I am in first-class condition, and if Sullivan whips me in St. Louis it will be because he is the better man. After the St. Louis fight I am going to see if McGovern will meet me earlier than our agreement calls for. It will suit my plans better."

DAWSON AT WORK.
George Dawson has started out with his work in the Fitzsimmons camp. This morning, he went the 10 miles on horseback with Fitz. When they returned they took a swim in the lake and Fitz was given a rub down, after which he was allowed to take his breakfast. The rest of the morning he spent his time moving his deer paddock. He has taken his pets further up the grove in a more shaded spot. He now has three fawns in the paddock, having added two more lately.

This afternoon he will punch the bag and spar with Dawson, ending up with "kym" work. Soldier Wilson is expected to return from the city this afternoon.—S. F. Bulletin.

SLANG SPEECH WON A CASE

(Journal Special Service.)
CHICAGO, Ill., July 1.—A lawyer who dealt in slang won his case against an attorney who employed high sounding metaphors in Judge Clifford's court. It was an appeal by Francis T. Murphy, a lawyer, on a judgment of $20, obtained by Dr. Thomas I. Motter for services rendered.

Murphy defended his own case and was loud in his oratory. C. B. Stevenson, for Motter, thrust his hands into his trousers pockets and made a plain heart-to-heart talk.

"You fellows are a lot of guys," he said to the jurors, "if you believe what that fellow told you. He said that the doctor only made a five-minute examination of him and wanted to charge him $20. If that's right the doctor would be 'nutty,' and he don't look 'nutty' to me."

The jury returned a verdict in favor of Dr. Motter.

WATCHED SON DIE IN AGONY

Helpless Father Saw His Child Slowly Suffocate.

(Journal Special Service.)
KELLOGG, Idaho, July 1.—Imprisoned under a fall of earth and helpless to render aid to the sufferer, J. W. Brentley saw his son slowly suffocate in a prospect hole on Big Creek, about six miles from this place.

All night the father kept enforced vigil over the body of his son while held in a cramped position by earth and rocks. For 18 hours Brentley was a prisoner beside his boy's remains. A rescue party found the almost dead miner at 10 o'clock Friday morning. His terrible experience had nearly crazed him.

Mr. Brentley and his 15-year-old son, Bud Brentley, were working on Brentley's prospect about 6 o'clock in the afternoon when the accident occurred. A piece of earth and rock, following a blast, caught Brentley, pinning him in a helpless position. The boy crawled toward his father to assist him, when a second cave-in occurred, completely covering the youth and burying Brentley up to his chin. His head only being left free.

The boy was pinned down in such a manner that he could not move hand or foot, but only a little earth covered his head. Unable to reach him, the agonized father saw his son suffocate after bidding him an affectionate farewell.

All night Brentley faced what seemed certain death and kept involuntary guard over the remains of his son. Friday morning a party of searchers found the unfortunate man and released him from his perilous position. He was badly bruised, but not seriously injured. His terrible night had almost driven him insane.

Brentley owes his rescue to his daughters, who organized a searching party early in the morning when they found that the father and son had not returned during the night.

CATTLEMEN VS. SHEEPMEN

(Journal Special Service.)
CONDON, July 1.—Word has come that a band of sheep from Gilliam County was shot into and about 200 were killed recently. The shooting occurred in the evening on the Logan road, in Bear Valley. Feeling is very intense in that section over outside sheepmen trespassing on the cattle range, and the cattlemen appear to be determined to put a stop to it.
