S'MATTER POP

By C. M. Payne

Before the local fans the Jacksonville team showed some brilliant action and defeated their opponents 14 to 9.

The first half of the game was nip and tuck, until the last part of the second quarter the Talent peppy Pepper made a field goal. At the end of the half the score was 5 to 3 in Talent's favor.

In the third quarter the J'ville team came in with lots of pep and scored five points, to give their team a three-point lead.

In the fourth quarter Bostwick, fast all-star forward of Jacksonville, scored four points, and Ayers, left guard, scored two points.

But in the fourth quarter the J'ville team was not the only one that was putting the ball through the hoop; the Talent boys were playing a good game and they scored four points in the last quarter.

The lineup for the teams was as follows:
 Jacksonville—Forwards, Backes Johnson and Bostwick; center, Flitcroft; guards, Ayers and Mitchell.

Talent—Forwards, Yaryan and D. Jones; center, E. Jones; guards, Pepper and Richardson.

Aside from the A team's conference game the B team played a non-conference game with the Medford junior high. The Medford team had the upper hand in the first half. But in the second half the J'ville B team settled down and held the Medford team throughout. Final score was 22 to 7 in Medford's favor.

The Jacksonville lineup included the following players: Forwards, Littell, Graham, Johnson and Dunnington; center, Nunn; guards, Lorton and Sanden.

A NEW ACQUAINTANCE

What is it that is stirring through the class rooms and halls adding such a bright glow to things in general? Why are students "on their toes" for this activity and that? Are the activities newer and more interesting? No.

The thing the students have invited in to the school and have been treating so nicely is school spirit. Many of them are becoming well acquainted with it, and are finding that real school spirit is a good thing to have.

They find it to be nothing startling, but still far from commonplace. School spirit often is "shy" and elusive at first; so, with these characteristics of it in mind, we should hang onto it tightly once we have it.

"Shorty" Walton having a birthday. Surprising, isn't it?

A note found containing information about a new girl. He must have gotten tired of looking at red hair.

Freshman interviewing an upper classman: "I've just got to buy myself a Student Body ticket. Can't you tell me how I can earn some money?"

U-Classman: "Did you say you want to know how to make some money right slick?"

Freshman, eagerly: "Yes."

U-Classman: "Grease it."

Freshman, sourly: "Oh give me an idea, can't cha?"

U-Classman: "Well, the last time I made any money I was sent up for counterfeiting."

P-TA PROGRAM

The monthly program of the meeting was held Friday, January 4. A short interment of poems, learned by the fifth and sixth graders, were given. They were as follows: "A Boy's Friend," by Buster Gaddy, "Washing Up the Dishes," by Marjorie Hecker, "Little Snowflakes," by Mary Rumley, "Village Blacksmith," by Juanita Anderson, "Psalm of Life," by June Norris and "Polar Bear," by Danny Wyant.

GLEE CLUBS SELECT OPERETTA

Otis Mr. Carrington's "Toreadors" is the light opera which is to be presented in February by the Boys' and Girls' Glee club.

The students show great enthusiasm over it. They all believe it will be a great success.

A scene of a sunny flowering garden is the setting. "In Sunny Spain," is the opening song, which tells of gladness, mirth and music.

In the theme of the story all are celebrating the twins' birthday. At the fiesta Juan and Pabulo, who are the sons of neighboring farmers and admirers of Benita and Juanita, the twins, announce their love in asking Senor Dictorio for his daughters' hand in marriage.

Senor Dictorio tells the young men that they are perfect in every respect but his daughters no more and no less must marry toreadors. Juan and Pabulo are disheartened but do not lose hope. They fall upon a plan as two beggars come in on this day of celebration. They are promised food if they will play the part of toreadors. With the
