Here from Falls—Mrs. Margaret Dunnington, Klamath Falls, is spending this week with relatives in Jacksonville.

Week on Applegate—George Potter of Ashland is spending this week with his daughter, Mrs. Hailey Hall, and family on Little Applegate.

Two Visit—Joe McKnight and Lee Nunn were in town Tuesday from Lozier lane. They visited with friends and relatives during the afternoon.

Over from Medford—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Redden and Mr. and Mrs. Oral Franklin of Medford were guests at the home of Will Smith Sunday.

From South—Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Winningham of Bakersfield, Calif., are spending several weeks on the Applegate as guests of Mrs. Pauline Watkins.

Here from Creswell—Mrs. W. Zepp of Creswell, Ore., was a guest Sunday of Miss Carrie Pitts while enroute to Talent to care for Mrs. Ezra Messenger.

From Ashland—Charles Swartfayer, accompanied by son Don and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fisher of Ashland were guests at Amy's Place Sunday evening.

Fortelis Weather—Fred Combest, Jacksonville prophet, predicted heavy snowfall the middle of this week but modestly disdains publicity for his ability.

Attends Banquet—Miss Katherine Buckley went to Medford Monday, where she expected to attend a nurses' banquet at the Medford hotel Tuesday evening.

Spend Day With Parents—Mr. and Mrs. Will Hansen of Medford spent Sunday at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Throckmorton at Ruch.

Stop Over Here—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clute of Applegate were guests of friends Saturday night enroute to Ashland, where they were guests of relatives.

Look Over Ground—Henry Demmer, M. E. Garner and Walter Demmer made a trip to the Applegate country Tuesday to look over some ground for placer mining.

Gold from Barnyard—There is still gold on Jacksonville hill. Lloyd Wright has been digging in his barnyard and has a nice little store of gold in a bottle to show for it.

Entertain Sunday—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hewett of Medford entertained Sunday in honor of two birthdays—that of Mrs. Hewett and also that of her mother, Mrs. Ernest Wright.

Called Here—Frank Wooten's sister, Mrs. Smith from Cascade, Idaho, arrived in Jacksonville Saturday evening to be with her brother, who is seriously ill at the sanitarium.

Dressing Turkeys—A number of Applegate poultry raisers are dressing turkeys for the February market. Prices are in keeping with the times and are poor. The birds will be shipped to San Francisco.

Find Nugget—Jim Winningham and Weslie Ritchie, occupying their time in their mine on Forest creek, took out a sizeable nugget a few days ago. They are said to have made around $11 during one day.

Attend Funeral—Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Rippey expected to go to Central Point Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mr. Rippey's aunt, Mrs. Asbury Beall, whose death occurred at a Medford hospital Sunday.

Visit in Jacksonville—Mrs. Harlan Cantrall and Mrs. Nan Bachelder made a business trip to Medford Tuesday and dropped in on Mrs. Cantrall's parents in Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Smith.

Quartet Tryouts—Several Applegate grange members are making tryouts for quartets in order to be prepared to meet demands of the future. Two men's and women's quartets will be the aim of the grange.

Flowers Appearing—The little opening in the hills surrounding the Summit service station is free from snow and the wild flowers are pushing up through the ground. It will not be long now until the buttercups will be in bloom.

Trip to Medford—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pittock of Applegate made a business trip to Medford Monday. Mr. Pittock was preparing to drive to southern California, starting Wednesday. His family will remain in the Applegate valley for the present.

Leave for Home—Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Royce of Portland left for their home Sunday after spending a week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jones on Applegate. While here Mr. Royce investigated the mining business to some extent.

Visit on Applegate—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nelson of Klamath Falls are spending a few weeks with friends on the Applegate. The couple was accompanied here by Bill Winningham, also of Klamath Falls, who visited relatives over the week-end.

First Birthday—Paul Dewey Copeland will soon be four years old but expects to celebrate his first real birthday Monday, February 29. Dewey would like to hear, through The Miner, whether there are any other little Jacksonville boys or girls who have a leap year birthday.

Clearing Channel—Little Applegate people, fearing that high water in the spring will follow a wet winter and repeat the damages wrought in 1927, are preparing for the flood in cleaning out the debris in a section of the river. Drift wood and other rubbish which has collected is being cleared away.

Released from Hospital—Having been released from the Sacred Heart hospital the first of the week, Herman Walter is remaining at the home of his sister, Mrs. Fred Ofenbacher for a few days before returning to his home on lower Applegate. Mr. Walter had been suffering from an abscessed hand.

Call on Grandma—Mr. and Mrs. Miles Cantrall, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Cantrall, Mrs. N. M. Bachelder of Ruch, Mr. and Mrs. John Cantrall and son Truitt and wife and daughters Gail and Norma, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cantrall and daughter Doris and son Delbert of Medford were callers on Grandma Cantrall Sunday.

Building House—It may be a long time until summer, but two Jacksonville ladies are making preparations for it anyway. Mrs. Leila McKee and sister, Mrs. Tressa Dews, are having a summer home built on the Applegate in the Beaver creek vicinity. The house will be built of logs, the work having started a few days ago.

Cattle Exchange—William Ward came to the Applegate last week for the annual cattle exchange between Oregon and California stockmen. Two truckloads of cattle were exchanged, making two trips over the Siskiyou necessary. Shelly brothers of Montague also were here Sunday in an attempt to locate stray California cattle, but were unsuccessful.

To Give Masquerade—Applegate folks are delving into the attic for grandmother's hoops and bonnet in the hopes of winning a prize at the masquerade dance given by the Community league at Applegate hall February 13. Music will be furnished by Crosby's orchestra of Medford. An added feature will be the drawing of a lucky chance on a quilt made by the Ladies' club.

To Oakland—Mrs. Lester Smith of Medford, daughter-in-law of Ed Smith at Ruch, is spending a few days at Oakland visiting her husband who has enrolled for a two-year course in the Polytechnical school of engineering there. During the last six years Mr. Smith had been employed in the county engineer's office at Medford. Anybody who feels interested in their county may see a complete map of Jackson county at the Sunny Side service station which Mr. Smith prepared some time ago.

Beetle Spotter—According to a letter received by relatives recently, Otis Buck and Floyd Cunningham of the Applegate are receiving full benefit of a severe winter at Hackamore, 40 miles from Alturas. The men are working on a pine beetle eradication crew. Mr. Buck drives 10 miles to work every morning, then travels the remaining distance on snow shoes over four feet of snow. His job is "spotter" which means that he locates the trees infested with the beetles and marks them to await a destroying crew.

Truck Hay on Ice—To live in sunny southern Oregon is to be considered a privilege when folks in Modoc Point in Klamath county are having below zero weather. Klamath lake is frozen to such an extent that a resident of an island in the lake trucks hay across the ice to his home. This information was received from Mrs. Wm Heckman, daughter of Mrs. M. R. Buck of the Applegate. Mrs. Heckman, whose home is at Modoc Point, said that there is very little snow there, although drifts reach a depth of three or four feet. Ice skating on the lake is a popular sport.

In Ditch—Clarence Kasshafer the other evening got terribly stuck up near the piles of wood—with his truck.
