

Thumber Thwarted in Effort to Overpower Benevolent Motorists

Nate and Clifford Sargent, who live on upper Applegate, drove to Klamath Falls last week and while on the way home had an adventure that might have proved serious.

About 15 miles out from Klamath they came up to a man, walking, and very kindly allowed him to ride in the back seat and at the same time giving him some lunch.

Becoming suspicious of the man, Clifford, who was driving, began to watch him in the mirror. It was well he did so for suddenly the man arose to his feet with a weapon and struck Nate a vicious blow on the head.

Clifford had seen the move in time to stop the car so suddenly that he spoiled the man's aim and threw him forward so that he was leaning over the back of the seat.

Then Nate, who had been struck but not stunned by the blow, seized the man around the neck with his arm. In the struggle that followed a glass of the car was broken but the man was overcome, put out of the car and given a good start down the bank by the roadside.

The Sargents started up at once and went on their way, the only damage having been a broken door glass and an egg-sized lump on Nate's head. When asked why they did not bring the man into Medford and turn him over to the sheriff, they said they were so glad to get rid of him they did not think of it.

Both Sargents feel certain the man intended to stun or perhaps kill both of them and take everything they had.

And as for picking up hitch-hikers, they both say "never again!"

Two Jacks to Come Nose to Nose Next Wednesday Evening

Medford's two slugging Jacks—Jack McCarthy and Jack Gibbs—have finally been matched by Promoter Mack Lillard in a climactic six-round bout scheduled at the Medford armory next Wednesday night, October 26.

Both popular and successful valley pugilists, they will tangle for the edification and entertainment of fight fans and thereby hangs the tale—and probably a couple of darkened glimmers to boot. Both huskies, rated light heavies, have built up reputations for ferocious, fast and deadly slugging, and speculation is rife as to the outcome of the fistic circus on next week's card.

Herb White, Butte Falls favorite who has been coming right along the leather route to beans and fame, is matched with a Portland youth, Freddie Welsh, who will make the local boy display his bag of tricks, punches and ability to take a few socks where they hurt the most for six rounds—or less. Herb, liked by all who have seen him in the ring, has made an almost meteoric climb to semi-final and main event rating, and has been going through paces in an attempt to improve upon an already perfect physical condition.

Several preliminary arguments are being lined up by Lillard and, if they reach the high peak of entertainment value as the last card offered, fans are certain to be seen rolling in the aisles with laughter. Medford's boxing promoter has returned to his Wednesday night schedule to avoid conflict with Saturday evening business hours. Curtain raiser will start promptly at 8:30 p. m.

VIEWS of OTHER PEOPLE

HISTORIC JACKSONVILLE

Pages in the book of life are turned back to almost forgotten chapters when one visits the pioneer center of Jacksonville, a few miles out of Medford. A trip in a modern automobile over paved highways through 1932 cities and beautiful countryside to the enterprising city of Medford is indeed a contrast to what one finds in this mining center, nestled in the foothills to the west of Oregon's fifth largest city.

The reaction of one interested in history and particularly Oregon history immediately on driving into this historic center is that this treasure of pioneer life offers real interest to anyone. It is valuable to Medford and southern Oregon and the pity is that it is not given more publicity.

The old court house and jail, with their endless stories, have been replaced by a beautiful new $270,000 structure several miles away at Medford. As one drives along they see buildings and houses that date back for generations, active mining operations in the yards alongside of modern homes and nearby hills, a museum and antique shop filled with hundreds of interesting items, a pioneer bank, the old corner saloon, a quaint station and other things that are deserving of further inspection.

A peep into the museum, locked for the noon hour on Sunday, reveals scores of reminders of those pioneer days and a pictorial evidence of the swift justice of those days—a triple hanging. In the old antique shop operated by F. Zell, who spent many years in that section as a miner, one sees old account books showing $1 pies, 50-cent loaves of bread in the fifties and sixties and payments in gold dust. The bar of 1852 from the Table Rock saloon, named after a historic battle between the whites and Indians, along with other pieces of furniture, is hand-hewn. Among the scores of interesting items is a naval and military map from an old military camp, nearby, dated 1863 and showing 21 towns in Oregon of which Hillsboro is one. A pioneer bank with gold scales, across the street, causes one to linger still longer.

One doesn't want to be hurried on a visit to this old center. It maintained in its present state Jacksonville will be visited by hundreds or even thousands of people in a year's time. It holds as much or more interest than the much publicized missions of California, and Oregon should make the most of it.—Hillsboro Argus.

● On a 20-day furlough from the navy, Everett Gilson is visiting his father and uncle, Harry and Ansil Gilson, on Little Applegate, having arrived Sunday evening. Mr. Gilson was with the U. S. S. Ramapo, stationed at Mare Island. Whether it be from his habitual association with the water or what, this sailor boy is said to show an inclination toward dish washing while here. He was accompanied by his aunt, Mrs. Eva Moran and children June, Jean and Walter of San Francisco, who are visiting Mrs. Moran's mother, Mrs. Day Courtney, on Thompson creek.

● Although such a tiny girl when she lived on the Applegate about 15 years ago that her circle of acquaintances had not reached an extensive radius, Miss Esther Burton of Napa, Calif., is still remembered here, and her marriage last month will be of interest to many. Completely surprising her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burton, and friends, she had started uptown as usual on the morning of September 6, only to send a telegram from Reno the following afternoon telling of her marriage there to Melvin Brown of Allegheny, Calif. The couple is making its home at Allegheny, also the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Adair Burton, whose marriage occurred in June.

School "Juggling" Bill WARNING Don't be MISLED!

Destructive Expansion is proposed under the guise of Economy and Consolidation, by the Zorn - Macpherson School "Juggling" Bill, which actually . . .

DOES NOT REDUCE BY A SINGLE PENNY the basic State tax you now pay for higher education.

ESTABLISHES 4 NEW SCHOOLS, at Ashland, La Grande, Eugene and Salem.

CREATES 2 NEW TYPES OF SCHOOLS—Junior Colleges and Teachers' College, of questionable value to Oregon.

ESTABLISHES STATE SUPPORT for Junior Colleges in every Oregon city or town.

JUNKS AND DISCARDS OVER $4,000,000.00 of taxpayer-owned buildings and land.

NECESSITATES NEW-BUILDING PROGRAM and triples costly equipment now at University or State College.

INCREASES INSTRUCTION COSTS 25% for University and Oregon State students.

DECREASES WORKING STUDENTS' CHANCES 40%, depriving hundreds of an opportunity for higher education.

WRECKS PRESENT UNIFICATION PLAN—This plan is saving taxpayers $900,000.00 per year compared with previous costs for State schools.

DEPRIVES OREGON STATE COLLEGE of its high rank as a technical school by submerging of agricultural courses.

Voters, Think! The above facts overwhelm the half-truths and partial statements, made by the proponents of this school "juggling" scheme.
