

PERSONAL NEWS NOTES
Both from Jacksonville and Over the Hill

The Jacksonville chamber of commerce is scheduled to hold its regular third-Monday meeting in the old U. S. hotel next Monday evening, April 17. All members and others interested in civic improvement and asked to attend.

In observance of her 15th birthday Miss Alice Hodges entertained several young friends with a chicken dinner at her home in Ruch Sunday. Miss Hodges had spent the previous night with friends in Jacksonville.

Seen on the street; Johnny Renault pushing a lawnmower uptown, whistling philosophically and apparently as unconcerned as though someone else were going to escort the machine over extensive lawns.

The Big Applegate section has received two visits from the stork within the last two weeks. On Sunday morning, April 9, Mr. and Mrs. Orie Phillips and two little sons were greeted with the arrival of a 10-pound girl at their home, who has been named Nelda Lerleen. A daughter named Frieda May was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peck at the local sanitarium April 3. The little one and her mother expected to return to their home Wednesday.

A Jacksonville man whose name was unlearned sustained a severe cut on the head a few days ago when he was struck with a cross cut saw. The man, who was cutting wood on Spencer gulch near Ruch, felled a sapling against a tree where the saw was standing, and jarred it down. He was alone at the time of the accident, and reports that he was unconscious for a time. He was able to reach the Sunnyside service station for aid and later went to a physician, who took several stitches in the wound.

Spring activities among the schools have become apparent on the Applegate. Friday a spelling match was waged between Beaver creek and Uniontown, with the former emerging victorious. Earlier in the week a baseball game between Ruch and Applegate resulted in victory for Ruch.

Mrs. Glenn Saltmarsh is spending the week with relatives at Talent.

Archie Nichols and Kenneth McCandless of lower Applegate left Tuesday for Leavenworth, Wash., having received a telegram stating that Mrs. Nichols had been afflicted with a paralytic stroke, and was critically ill. Mrs. Nichols went to Washington several weeks ago to visit her son, Carl McCandless.

Mrs. Fred Offenbacher is having as guests this week William Keating and Harry Crofoot of Oakland, who are enjoying the Easter vacation from high school. Mr. Keating is a nephew of Mrs. Offenbacher.

A number of guests were entertained with a card party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Brien Sunday evening. Prizes for high score went to Mrs. Tom Mee and Frank Knutzen, low score being held by Mrs. Ash Wimer and Tom Mee. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mee and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knutzen of Applegate, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hooper and Mr. and Mrs. Ash Wimer, all of Grants Pass.

Complete plans have been made for the Extension unit's old time dance at Applegate Saturday, April 22. The Purcell players and Dave Jones of Little Applegate, popular with Jacksonville dancers, will be on hand, and the fish pond and quilt raffle are expected to add much interest to the party. Mr. Howard of lower Applegate will assist Mr. Jones in calling for the quadrilles. The refreshments will be especially attractive in a color scheme of yellow and white, and will include sandwiches, pickles, deviled eggs, cake and lemon gelatin salad. Unit members and their friends are anticipating a grand time. The club will sell dance numbers, but the lunch will be free.

Mrs. Mabel Mack held a very interesting meeting with the Applegate Extension unit Tuesday, on the subject of economical meals. A dinner was demonstrated and the ladies had the privilege of eating the meal as well as helping to prepare it. Wholewheat was the chief ingredient of the meal, with onions, potatoes and carrots added as economical foods. Mrs. Harry

Brown and Mrs. J. R. Hoffman, appointed local leaders some time ago, received instructions on economical breakfasts, which they will demonstrate at a meeting next Tuesday. About 20 ladies were in attendance.

Mr. Ferrell of the Roxy Ann neighborhood, an old friend of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Cady, made a call at the Summit Service station Wednesday.

Albert and Steve Davis, two of Applegate's numerous miners, returned to their camp Monday after the day's work and found their possessions reduced to a pile of ashes. The men had made their camp on the J. B. Wetterer property on upper Applegate, having pitched their tent in a shack there.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Phillips of Squaw Lake expect to leave the last of this week for Roseville, Calif., where Mr. Phillips will resume employment.

The Cloverleaf dairy, Applegate's representative in the southern Oregon dairy industry, changed its delivery schedule this week to early morning hours instead of the afternoon, as had been the custom during the winter. The approach of warmer weather necessitated the change. The milk truck leaves for Medford at 1 a. m. The Cloverleaf is one of the 13 dairies listed recently as grade A distributors in accordance with Medford's milk ordinance.

W. D. Peckham returned early this week from Long Beach, where he had several weeks' employment in rebuilding structures owned by his brother-in-law, L. A. Wilson, that were damaged in the earthquake.

County Assessor Blinn Coleman, father of the local hardware dealer, Ray, was in this city Tuesday relating tales of the great open spaces for the information of townsfolk. Coleman, who was accompanied here by his son Jess, practically paralyzed business in the hardware and sporting goods store with one of his yarns concerning southern Oregon's hefty hooper who all but outwalked a six-cylinder car during a chase a few years ago in which the assessor was involved. The audience listened with sympathetically aching feet and blistered heels as the statement was made that the mountaineer trapper being described could "walk 700 miles cross country in 10 days."
