

PERSONAL NEWS NOTES

Both from Jacksonville and Over the Hill

The condition of Mrs. Charles Ravenor of Ruch is steadily improving, following a major operation performed at the Sacred Heart hospital over a week ago. Dr. Chas. T. Sweeney is the attending physician.

Dale Throckmorton of Eagle Point visited Ruch relatives a few days ago. He was a guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Throckmorton, and also of his cousin, Aubrey Taylor.

Mrs. Robert Pulliam expected to entertain the Little Applegate Sewing club at her home Wednesday. The club ladies planned to present Mrs. A. Gilson, whose home was destroyed by fire recently, with a shower of dish towels.

With a severely lacerated finger well on the road to recovery, Paul Fluallen, who has spent the last two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knutzen, will be able to return to his home at Tacoma this week, where he will remain for two months. Mr. Fluallen was splitting wood, and nearly severed his finger with the axe.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Kubli of Missouli Flat are the parents of an eight pound daughter named Marlene Kathryn, who arrived Saturday, June 3rd.

Mayor and Mrs. E. H. Ford of Reedsport, are spending the week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Krause of Lower Applegate.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McDaniel spent Sunday at Ashland Lithia park.

Because she had enjoyed the three of four years spent on the Applegate, Mrs. Wealie Ritchey took a drink from the Applegate river before her departure for Montana as a token of her return to the community. Some sage has remarked that everybody who ever drank of the Applegate water has always come back. Mrs. Ritchey and her family will spend the summer at Gardiner, Montana, in the Yellowstone park, and in the fall will return to their home at Hotchkiss, Colo.

Mrs. Chas. Mee spent Monday at Grants Pass, where she visited her mother, Mrs. Wes Boynton.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Collins of Salem spent the week end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Pernoll. They also visited in Grants Pass before their return north.

Guests at intervals during the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Straube were Mrs. Lloyd Smith and daughter Beverly of Eugene, Mrs. Earl McMullen and son Dale of Glendale, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Greenleaf, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith and daughter Sylvia Sydney of Gold Hill.

Mrs. Eliza Hagen of Oakland visited recently at the home of her brother, J. A. West, on Little Applegate.

Miss Hazel Saltmarsh of Oak Grove is spending the week with her grandmother, Mrs. Dora Saltmarsh, of Applegate.

Mrs. R. S. Birchard of Little Applegate is spending the week at Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fisher and their niece, Miss Genevieve Fitzsimmons, who have spent the past six weeks visiting relatives in Medford and Jacksonville, departed Tuesday. They are returning to their home in Sparta, Wisconsin, after having spent the winter in Long Beach, Calif. They will visit Yellowstone park and other places of interest.

Mrs. Herbert Hanna, Mrs. Alice Ulrich, Mrs. Clinton Smith and Mrs. John Knight motored to Eagle Point to attend a bi-monthly meeting of the Jackson County Health association.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Mathers returned Sunday to their home at Canyonville, having spent the winter at the home of Horace Blevins on lower Applegate.

Miss Anne Crosby of Beaver creek district entertained nine guests with a dinner party and recreational afternoon Sunday. The guests were Misses Gladys Byrne, Lola Straube, Frances Port, Audrey Fletcher, Kathryn Fletcher, Shirley Lewis and Vernetta Ruprecht.

Jim and Melvin Arnold left a few days ago for their mine on Lake Peak in the upper Applegate country, where they will be operating their quartz mill for the next two weeks. When the boys last visited their mine the property was snow-bound, and they were obliged to tunnel to their house.

The Copper service station and store has changed hands again. L. A. Clark and Gene Tague of Santa Anna being the buyers. Besides doing general improvement around the place, the new owners will enlarge the store and install soft drinks. Mrs. Perry A. Wiggins and Mrs. Welborn, former owners, have returned to Eugene.

Mr. Peebler, father of Jack Peebler, who owns a Medford second hand store, sustained a broken hip Monday at his home near Ruch. Mr. Peebler, who is nearing the 80's, was working with a calf when he became entangled in the rope with which the animal was tied, and was thrown on the ground. He was removed to a Medford hospital.

Mrs. Hester Pence, who has spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Amos McKee, left Thursday for Jacksonville, where she is visiting her son, Minus Pence. She also will visit a son and daughter on Elk Creek.

Alford Kubli of Marshfield accompanied his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Breceda, to the Applegate recently. At present he is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Maud Kubli. Alford completed the eighth grade this year.

Mrs. Wm. Heckman and two children have returned to Modoc Point after spending a few weeks visiting relatives on Applegate. Billie is remaining here with his grandmother, Mrs. M. R. Buck.

Harry Demetral, above, who will meet the world-famous Al Karasick at the Medford Armory next Wednesday night. Swede Anderson will meet Joe Reynolds on the same wrestling card.

Judge Frank TouVelle getting a job in the Brush Marine service for one of his youthful friends.

Duke Lewis ballyhooing a baseball game on his store-front signboard for the wrong day. His blackboard has become The Miner's chief competitor.

Viv Beach pounding on the Armory fight gong—a mere brake drum—to end slaughter and pummeling.

Dan'l Shuss and his faithful thoroughbred hound of some sort wandering around his flat-iron domain on an inspection tour.

Mayor Wes Hartman calling balls and strikes behind enough harness to rig a team of horses at the Tuesday ball game.

Jim Cantrall burning brush in the ball park outfield that players had cussed, stumbled over and glared at, but who never did anything about it.

Alice Hoefs, postmaster, standing in the midst of her newly-varnished floor, which was shining nearly as much as her nose. Miss Hoefs had plugged the office keyhole in an effort to keep out of this col., but what she seems to not understand is the fact that the Keyhole Expert sees nothing, hears nothing, knows nothing, and tells all.

Barefoot boys, little devils about 10 years old, scampering around the ball field with mitts on larger than the seats of their pants. Snagging hot flies and grounders in a manner to shame the Miners, too, and hitting the old apple with bats that stand as high as themselves—even if they had shoes on.

Major, the enormous E. B. Bell shepherd, gadding about town sans his bushy hair. "Maj." as he is more familiarly known, once took great pride in his proportions and silky covering but now since the advent of warm weather, slinks around sheepishly apologizing for his peculiar appearance. Mane bushy, tail-tip ditto, and naked otherwise, Maj is a sight for sore eyes. From one position, due to sunburn-reddened hips, he reminds onlookers of the park baboons.

SLANTS

On the Brush Marines

By M. E. P.

Palmerites were disgracefully walloped by the Marines in a baseball game Sunday with a remarkable score of 30 to 13.

Are the boys proud of their new maritime title? And then some! They have had the name placed on their sweat shirts.

Hugo Filippi almost captured a snipe one day, but the critters weren't biting. He was kidded unmercifully, but HE CAN TAKE IT.

Joe Ratty braced the extraction of a wisdom tooth Tuesday, and was feeling under the weather for a while, but a letter from home folks has a way of making unpleasanties insignificant.

Hint for some aspiring hostess: If you want a lot of toothpicks to hold your sandwiches together, just ask the clerk to count the picks, and he will hand you the box free.

Newspapers of any color or size are not especially needed around camp now, because the weather is warm, and beds are okay without a newspaper foundation.

Having completed her term of school at Beaver Creek, Miss Jeanette Gore left recently for Eugene, where she will spend two weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gore. She will return for a brief course at the Ashland Normal, and will teach at the West Side school next term.

Patrons of the Applegate school expected to meet at the home of Harry Brown Thursday to discuss possible means of obtaining extra funds for the district.

All plans for becoming a chauffeur have been abandoned for the present at least by Donald Mee, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mee. Donald was frightened out of his wits when the family car started down a hill with him and smashed into a post, ruining the trailer and tearing a door from the car. The little lad escaped uninjured. The accident occurred at the Mee home.
