

Personal News Notes

Both from JACKSONVILLE and OVER the HILL

● Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Arnold of upper Applegate are the parents of a daughter, weighing 6½ pounds, born at the Stanley Nursing home at Medford December 29. The little miss is a granddaughter of Mrs. Sadie De Weofe of this community.

● Finding a triple occasion to entertain, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Budd invited a number of friends to their French Gulch home for dinner Tuesday. As well as celebrating the new year and the 13th birthday anniversary of their daughter Irene, the event was a token of farewell to their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Budd planning to leave soon for Phoenix, Arizona, to make their home.

● Mrs. Clarence Roundtree spent the holiday period at her home near Ruch. She resides at Phoenix, where her son is attending school.

● Miss Jeanette Gore of Medford was an overnight guest Tuesday at the home of Mrs. L. C. Port.

● With the water supply frozen, the Aurora mining company on Little Applegate is not operating this week.

● The Nugget for magazines.

● Miss Jessie Smith entertained a small group of local friends with a watch party at her home at Ruch New Year's eve. Taffy pulling was the principal diversion, with serving of refreshments later in the evening. Guests included Misses Lois and Marian Matheny and May and June Peebler; Harvey Rowden, Paul and Wendell Matheny, Cliff Smith, and Fred Law. Among other local people entertaining with similar parties Monday were Mrs. C. W. Culy, Mrs. Fred Offenbacher and Mrs. Ed Russel. Dancing was enjoyed at the Russel home.

● Dick Kerr of Ruch received medical treatment Tuesday for a boil on his arm which threatened blood poisoning.

● Claus Kleinhammer was a dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Beeson near Talent on New Years.

● Mr. and Mrs. Jess Taylor and daughter were New Years dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Lester Throckmorton at Eagle Point, where Mr. Taylor, whose birthday anniversary occurred on that day, was honor guest. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Taylor also were present for the family reunion.

● Henry Harthorn of Squaw lake is spending several days at the home of Edward Finley on Big Applegate.

● Courteous service at the Nugget

● Mr. and Mrs. Allison Moulton of Medford spent Sunday horseback riding on Applegate. The couple was accompanied by Mr. Moulton's brother, Arthur Moulton, Portland attorney, and his wife.

● Robert C. Fletcher returned Tuesday to Evans Creek CCC camp, having spent the holidays at his home on Big Applegate.

● A large number of local people attended the veterans' dance at the Oriental Gardens at Medford New Years eve, including the following: Herman Offenbacher, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hukill, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Taylor and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Glenn Smith, Miss Ruth Peebler, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kubli, Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Brien, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Offenbacher. As winner of one of the numerous prizes offered during the evening to possessors of lucky numbers, Mr. Smith received a grocery supply amounting to a dollar.

● Those from Applegate attending the conference for forestry officers and superintendents of CCC camps being held at Medford this week are L. H. McGuire of Camp Applegate, Ralph G. Jennings, acting superintendent at Camp Carberry, and L. C. Port from Star Ranger station.

● Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Hard of Big Applegate entertained a large group of friends with a New Years dinner at their home.

● Stop at the Nugget.

● Miss Agnes Dunford, freshman in the Jacksonville high school, has recovered from a flu attack which confined her to her bed last week. A large number of other Applegate residents have been ill with flu and severe colds, including Mrs. Sid Hansen, Mrs. Gene Mee, Truman Lewis Jr., Mrs. Fred Copple and Jimmy Moore.

● Miss Itrice Huber returned to Grants Pass Tuesday for the opening of high school there, having spent her vacation at the home of her sister, Mrs. Leon Offenbacher. Monday evening Miss Huber, assisted by Miss Lorraine Offenbacher, entertained about 20 local young people with a watch party.

● Ivan Collins and Rudy Knutzen, Star gulch miners, have returned to their work here after spending the holidays at their homes in Portland.

● Having discontinued their meetings during holidays, the Ruch

Sewing circle was scheduled to meet at the school house there Wednesday. Miss Jessie Smith was to have been honored at the meeting, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. The Little Applegate Sewing club will meet at the home of Mrs. Sid Hansen January 16th.

● Jack Gannon of California, noted cougar and coyote trapper, has established a trap line on Applegate, and is residing in the Ruch vicinity this winter. Mr. Gannon also has a trap line in the Rogue river valley.

● Mr. and Mrs. Lee Port and son and daughter, accompanied by their guest, Miss Mary Herbert of Ashland, motored to Phoenix Sunday, where they were entertained at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Wilson.

● Alex Schichtl is spending several weeks in Medford, where he is undergoing treatment.

● The Nugget for cold drinks.

● Mr. W. B. Crause, who has been ill in a hospital in Roseburg, has improved sufficiently to be able to come home and is now at his home on Jacksonville hill.

● Mrs. George Ritchey and Mrs. T. S. Cady spent Friday afternoon in Medford attending to business affairs, shopping and, later, taking tea with Mrs. Wollan and her mother, Mrs. Ada Odenkamp, at their Medford home.

● George Ritchey was stricken ill Tuesday morning with what apparently was a repetition of a severe attack of flu which Mr. Ritchey recently suffered.

● Frank Kurtz made another trip into California recently to finish bringing equipment from Selad valley, where he has had a hunting and fishing lodge for several years. Arthur Crause accompanied Kurtz and, as a special thrill, they tramped deep into the mountains in search of CCC boys thought to have been lost. They returned to Jacksonville hill Monday evening.

● Malcolm Jones, who has been visiting with his parents here for the past week, returned to Salem, when he is attending Willamette university.

● Mr. and Mrs. Hanly Bush of near Jacksonville called on friends here Saturday.

● Mrs. Inez Gleason and daughter Betty of this city were Medford shoppers Saturday.

● Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gillis and Mrs. Margaret Watson of Portland, sister of the latter, attended a theater in Medford Saturday.

● Mrs. Cora Crump of Eugene called on friends here Sunday.

● Mrs. Joe Pelton of Klamath Falls and brother John Orth of Medford called on friends here Thursday.

● Mrs. Katy Sparks was guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Cox, at Lincoln, last week during the holidays. She was accompanied by her son, Fred, who has been employed for some time by the Gold Seal creamery, driving on the Dunsuir-Crescent City run.

● Emil Britt, Jacksonville's official weather observer, was a Medford visitor Thursday of this week, as was Charlie Blitch who, with others, helped watch with craned neck a chimney burning out in the business district.

● John M. Price, who spent the Christmas vacation with Miss McCully of this city, returned to his home in Coulterville, Calif., recently.

● Mrs. Lula Saulsbury of Jacksonville was a luncheon guest Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gentner of Medford.

● Mrs. Jessie Jones of Salem, cousin of Miss Iessie McCully, and Mrs. Jack Porter of Medford visited at the home of Miss McCully Thursday.

● Lula Saulsbury and son John accompanied by Mrs. Saulsbury's mother, Mrs. John M. Williams, attended a Medford theater Friday.

● A double-header celebration observing Lem T. Wilson's 84th birthday anniversary was ushered in with the New Year early Tuesday morning. To help him commemorate the occasion, Lem and Mrs. Wilson were hosts to 20 members of a birthday club and two honor guests, the Misses Ernesta Bell and Florence May Severance. The ladies, however, refused to reveal their ages. Cards and a midnight supper were enjoyed and Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were hosts to the American Fur Growers and Rabbit Breeders association members, again indulging in cards, a rabbit dinner and well-wishing. Thursday morning of this week an old friend and neighbor, O. G. Lightner from Valler, Montana, dropped in to visit with Lem and Mrs. Wilson while enroute to southern California.

● Mrs. Florine Severance will entertain the Jacksonville Health group and their friends at her home Tuesday, January 8, with a covered dish luncheon at 12:30. All ladies interested are cordially invited.

KID STUFF
 By J. C. REYNOLDS

Our NON-COMBATIVE CLAN Have now produced a plan By which they would establish lasting Peace, Peace, Peace. "It is," so runs their tale, "Good stuff, and cannot fail, Unless the cogs go dry for want of grease, grease, grease."

They say, "To prove we're wise, We'll get the other guys Into a little neighborly combine, bine, bine. We'll scrap war-ships and guns— A hundred million tons— And we will be the first of all to sign, sign, sign."

"Then on a certain date Which we will stipulate, We'll sink the whole caboodle in the brine, brine, brine. And when the deed is done, Peace will be fairly won And in a gladsome future we can shine, shine, shine."

"This scheme, as you can see, In shrewd diplomacy, Can never be improved on, we believe, lieve, lieve. And if we make it stick, 'Twill prove the finest trick A nation ever carried up its sleeve, sleeve, sleeve."

"When battle-ships are sunk, With other war-like junk, And grisly forts are overgrown with flowers, flowers, flowers, Regardless of expense, We'll build a little fence Around this peaceful earth and call it ours, ours, ours."

LETTERS to the Editor

To the Editor:

Some time ago I received a calling down in a Washington state weekly that I write for now and then when the spirit moves, from some touchy old tomcat (or perhaps tabby) who was afraid to sign his (or her) right name, but evidently imagined their fur had been rubbed the wrong way in a little rhyme of mine, concerning the many useless and damphule laws being passed of late years.

I enclose the same, together with my reply, which followed in the next issue of the paper and which, I presume, settled the disturbance, as I have heard nothing further about it. You can print this if you consider it of interest, or not, as you please. The original clippings I have pasted in my scrap book.

Concerning Damphule Critics

"I've read the poems of J.C.R. On damphule laws and such, It's just begun to dawn on me That he doesn't approve of much. He's quite exercised in his mind— He says a lot of our laws are bunk, He wants to abolish them right away Because his next-door neighbor gets drunk. It's perfectly awful the law is so mocked— We'll abolish all law—that's what we'll do! It's perfectly awful that windows get broke, So we'll make a law against that, too. We'll turn our attention to another abuse That's kept the world in trouble too long— There's Ten Commandments somewhere on the shelf — That somehow make people go wrong. It's awful the way they've gathered the dust, So we'll give them a decent funeral too

And bury them decent and quiet and safe, And then our courts will have NOTHING to do." L. O. Cal.

ANSWER—Dear L. O. Cal: Nothing gives me more joy than a little kindly criticism now and then. It shows me that somebody has read my stuff and I was afraid it was being overlooked. But you have me sized up wrong, Neighbor. I plead "not guilty."

The Ten Commandments are all right and so is the Constitution of the United States, but the bunch of boneheads who are working double shifts inventing extra commandments and additional amendments to our Constitution are not all right, by a damsite. (Excuse the profanity; my pen slipped.)

Now as one criticism deserves another, I would suggest that you brush up on your poetry a little. Mine is awfully bad and awfully simple, but yours is simply awful. I think we are square now, so au revoir. Don't forget the number— come again some time. I thank you.—J. C. REYNOLDS.
