

The Editor Speaking

When it comes to sewing, it's a mighty fine thing the modern girl isn't as bad as she seems.

Civilization: Man concocting theories which will not apply to man and then blaming man.

Were "every man a king" as Huey Long suggests, then there could be no king.

Former President Herbert Hoover seems to know more about saving the country from depression out of the White House than he did in.

A politician is a person more interested in reviving political issues by 1936 than in reviving the voters.

When instructed to find new tax monies without increasing taxes, about the only liquid asset Oregon legislators could find was beer.

About the only sound advice one can give is mostly sound.

A Portland man, following an auto accident, breathed air under his skin till he was twice his normal size. Nearly dead from the strange distention, he no doubt was balloon tired.

Roosevelt has gone fishin', and if he took the advice of most of us, he would practice on kingfish.

A moron is a person who has to wait to read Will Rogers' column before he can form an opinion on public issues.

stoop his place is taken by a as the wolf decamps from the front stoop his place is taken by a brush or magazine salesman.

New fashions, new inventions, sadly enough, do not add to the wealth or wisdom of the world; they merely replace that which has gone before.

What the midwest really needs is a wind strong enough to blow the mortgage off farms, along with the topsoil.

War talk generally travels in cycles, but this season it seems to be on bicycles.

Another thing that can be said for the dust storms in the middle west—they were the first clean dirt to make the front page in many years.

Miner Reporter Hot On Trail of Coming Golden Wedding

Jacob served seven years and then another seven for Rachel, but Tom Simpson probably is the only man who had to move to Ashland to get his bride. D. L. Glenn, who gave away the bride here in the "gay nineties," gave Tom Simpson away to the Miner reporter the other day.

The Glenn family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Glenn and daughter, Nellie, came west from Indiana in 1888, settling at Montesano, Chehalis county (now Grays Harbor county), Washington. Tom Simpson, then a gallant youth, was running a barber shop in Montesano. A friendship which ripened into love was formed between him and Miss Glenn. In 1893 the Glenn family moved to Ashland. The parents had no objection to Tom but objected to their only child removing so far from them. As a result Mr. Simpson came to Ashland and opened a barber shop here. Later he went into the lumber business and still later into the hardware business, in which he still is engaged.

The marriage proved a happy one and the Miner hopes in due time to report their golden wedding anniversary.

Elks Will Choose Candidates at Meet

Nominations for officers of Ashland lodge No. 944, BPOE, will open at the regular meeting next Wednesday evening. They will continue during the entire month of April and election will be held Wednesday, May 1, according to J. Ed Thornton, secretary.

The regular meeting last Wednesday evening was an old timers' meeting, the older past exalted rulers being in charge of the meeting. Old time songs were sung under the leadership of Exalted Ruler Henry G. Enders, and a general good time was enjoyed.

NO LICENSE; $5 AND COSTS For driving a car without a license, Glen Moser, Talent, was fined $5 and costs in Justice L. A. Roberts' court Tuesday morning.

FIVE CIVIL WAR VETS LIVING IN ASHLAND AREA

There are five civil war veterans known to be living in the southern part of Jackson county. They are D. L. Glenn, Alphonse Dickey, J. J. Meyers and Samuel Tilley. Of these, Mr. Glenn is the sole survivor of the Ashland post of the Grand Army of the Republic, neither Comrade Dickey or Comrade Meyers having been members of the grand army and Comrade Tilley not having been a resident of the city when the post was flourishing. At the time of surrender of its charter there were four members, also a man named Crawford at Talent.

Glenn was born in Clermont county, Ohio, December 12, 1842, and went with his parents when a small boy to Indiana. He enlisted in the 82nd Indiana Infantry in August, 1862, and served until the close of the war. He was twice wounded. At the battle of Chancellorsville he received a minnie bullet through his right wrist and was out of active service about three months, missing participation in the famous battle above the clouds at Lookout mountain. He also missed the battle of Murfreesborough, being in the hospital with a severe case of the mumps. He was hit in the cheek at the siege of Atlanta, but was only out of active service for a few days. He marched with Sherman to the sea and was with Sherman's command at Roseborough, North Carolina, when the war closed. He participated in the famous grand review at Washington, D. C., and was mustered out soon after.

Returning to Indiana he married and in 1888 with his wife and only daughter came west, settling at Montesano, Wash. In 1893 the family moved to Ashland and this has been his home ever since. Mrs. Glenn passed away in 1924. The daughter, Mrs. Thomas Simpson, always has resided in Ashland since coming here with her parents.

Glenn is extremely well preserved for a man of his years and quite active. He resides in the home he built for himself and his wife at No. 2 Glenn avenue.

MINER HONOR ROLL

The Miner's Honor Roll department this week announces two new readers who follow its pages with interest:

GEORGE GREEN, Tidings office.
L. A. BANKS, Salem, Oregon.

CITY HALL IMPROVED

Improvements at the city hall, started some weeks ago under the direction of City Superintendent Elmer Biegel, are now complete with the exception of painting. A door has been cut from the recorder's office to the room adjoining which is being fitted up as an office for the mayor. Lavatories, wardrobes, etc., are built in and it will be possible to go from one department of the city government to another without going out of doors.

S'MATTER POP

Tail Wagging Dogs To Be Tale-Tagging Or To County Keep

Dog days for unlicensed dogs will be in effect in Jackson county from now on, according to Chief C. P. Talent of the Ashland police force, who stated this week that enforcement of dog license requirements has been undertaken by house-to-house solicitors.

According to plans formulated by the Jackson County Humane society, solicitors will contact all dog owners and those not having procured licenses will be given 10 days in which to comply with the law. Laggards, after then, will be served with summons and haled into justice court, where fines will await them. Animals then will be taken to the society's kennels.

Owners of canines will now be required to pay not only the $1 and $1.50 fee for male and female dogs, but also an additional $1 penalty, which goes to the humane society for maintenance of dog shelters and payment of solicitors.

So, from now on, if Fido isn't tagged, you're it.

MAIN STEM TO GUSH MORE GAS

With a sudden spurt, Ashland is filling with filling stations, and late last week a deal between the Standard Oil company and the liquidating Citizens bank, owners of the Beaver block, and Fred Schuerman was completed which will result in the razing of buildings at the northwest corner of East Main and First street, and the erection of a $14,500 "super" service station within the next 60 days.

The entire lot, 75 by 120 feet, will be used for the station, said to be of the largest design in use by Standard. Two-story building housing the Palace cafe, structures occupied by the Art shop, Jordan's Army Goods store and Schuerman's grocery will be razed. The palace cafe has already started moving preparations in a building adjoining the Miner office, while other tenants have 30 days in which to seek new locations. The transaction was handled through J. J. Deakin, Ashland realtor.

It also is said another filling station is being planned on vacant lot on East Main between the Palace cafe's new location and the Schuerman grocery store. Improvements estimated at $600 will be installed in Union Oil station at First and Main, while Ashland recently witnessed the opening of a new station on North Main and Bush street, while the Vendome hotel building on East Main recently was wrecked to make way for a new filling station. The oil octopus has been fastening its tentacles in heart of the city, apparently regarded as a choice spot along the Pacific highway for petrol peddling.

Us democrats have turned this precept of Thomas Jefferson to the wall: "That government is best that governs least." — Weston Leader.

MASS MEETERS SEE MENACE IN NAVY WAR PLAY

That naval maneuvers in the Pacific this summer would weaken friendly relations with Japan was the opinion of the Ashland Ministerial association, according to a resolution of protest passed at a union service in the Nazarene church here last Sunday evening.

The service was addressed by Dr. S. L. Bullock, one-time missionary to Japan, who discussed American-Japanese relations. The resolution, which was forwarded to President Roosevelt, was as follows: "Resolved, that this mass meeting of citizens, members of Protestant churches of Ashland, Oregon, held Sunday evening, March 24, believes the proposed maneuvers in the Pacific next May and June are not in keeping with the "good neighbor" policy of the United States in its relation to Japan, since said maneuvers are planned to include waters 1500 miles west of the Hawaiian islands and therefore will encroach on waters that Japan may properly feel come needlessly near her own domain. We therefore heartily support the protest against said maneuvers which was sent on March 10 by more than 100 outstanding church leaders of the United States to President Roosevelt.

"We respectfully request our president, as commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the United States, to take such steps as may be necessary to alter the plans for the proposed maneuvers, to the end that they will not become an occasion for suspicion and ill-will on the part of Japan."

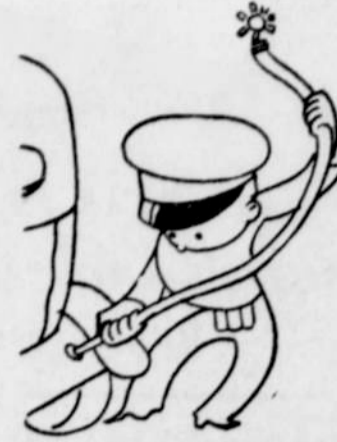

Bankers of Two Counties in Meet Ashland Tuesday

Bankers of Jackson and Josephine county were guests of the Ashland bankers Tuesday night at a meeting of the bankers association of the two counties. Various matters were discussed, including better housing loans, but no action was taken or recommendations made. Practically all local bank officials were present and those from outside the city included J. A. Perry, of Medford, president of the association, and Al Perry, Medford, secretary.

The Grants Pass contingent included K. Hammerbaker, Mr. Cass, Charles Demarey, Mr. Baker, Mr. Neilsen, Mr. Harris and Mr. Mitchell. Medford bankers present included Orris Crawford, Bob Hart and a number of others. George R. Dickinson, in charge of liquidating the Citizens State bank, was a guest of the association.

Quoting Olin Miller: "Clark Wood isn't feeling so well today. He was looking up his family tree yesterday and a coconut fell on him." Olin seldom looks up his. He takes fright at the swinging skeletons of his ancestors.—Weston Leader.

Ducky Fellow!

Larry (Bring 'em Back Alive) Porter, member of Ashland Killy band, filling station operator and famous duck hunter, shown mulling the public in his own inimitable way. Porter has become so adept at spilling gasoline on new finishes he has graduated from writing on windows with his finger to scrawling any given name and three initials across the hood of a small car with a pint of fluid. Ducks are his favorite companions.

REGISTRATION UP AT NORMAL

With 10 days yet to go, the registration of the Southern Oregon Normal school already exceeds the registration for the fourth quarter in 1934, Miss Katherine M. Vincent, registrar informs the Miner.

Registration, which started Monday of this week, will continue until and including Saturday, April 6. All indications, however, are that there will still be a considerable number of students register, assuring one of the best quarters in the history of the school.

Theta Delt Hosts To Visiting Brothers

Theta Delta Phi, men's scholastic fraternity at Southern Oregon Normal school, is host to visiting brothers from Monmouth and La Grande today and tomorrow. The society is a lusty youngster but has not as yet extended itself outside the normal schools of the state.

The meeting opens this evening with a banquet at the Bellview club house, at which 20 delegates from each of the other chapters and about that number from Southern Oregon Normal will sit down. Following the banquet there will be a mixer.

The business session, which will be held from 9 to 12 Saturday forenoon, will consider possible charter changes and other problems of the organization. Among the speakers at the conference will be Dr. V. V. Caldwell, formerly of the Ashland normal but now of Monmouth, also Dr. Lester Beck, of the University of Oregon, Ralph Thomas, Ashland boy, who is teaching at Chilquin, is historian of the society and Dr. Wayne Wells of the Southern Oregon Normal is secretary-treasurer.

Master Masons To Medford Tonight

Between 20 and 25 Master Masons are expected to go to Medford tonight to attend a dinner and reception being given by the Medford lodge in honor of Worshipful Grand Master E. M. Wilson, head of the AF&AM in Oregon, who is a member of Medford lodge. Masons from Ashland, Grants Pass and other southern Oregon cities will be present, as it is the worshipful grand master's official visit to the lodges in this district. The Ashland delegation expects to leave here about 6 o'clock, the banquet being set for 6:30.

A number of Master Masons expect to go to Klamath Falls Saturday, April 13, for the southern Oregon Masonic reunion. The grand masters of Oregon, Nevada and California are expected to be present and Ashland lodge will put on the first section of the Master Mason degree in the afternoon at the Klamath Falls meet.

HORACE HOBBS, 82, DIES AT HOME HERE WEDNESDAY

Horace Hobbs, 82, passed away at the family home, 136 Van Ness avenue, Wednesday, March 27, 1935. He was born in LaBelle county, Mo., December 7, 1852. He is survived by his widow, Alice Hobbs, and by four daughters and two sons. Mrs. Maud Lusk, Modesto, Calif., Mrs. Carrie Wimer, Lake City, Calif., Mrs. Lena Heard and Mrs. Della Clark, Ashland, Roy Hobbs, Lake City, Calif., and Earl Hobbs of Ashland.

The body laid in state at the Stock and Litwiller funeral home Thursday and was taken to Cedarville, Calif., by Litwiller today. Funeral services and interment will take place there this afternoon.

CITY DADS CHIN AT EUGENE ON CIVIC MATTERS

Mayor Thornton Wiley, City Recorder J. Q. Adams, City Attorney Frank Van Dyke, Police Judge J. H. Fuller and Fire Chief Cliff Baughman returned Wednesday evening from Eugene, where they had been in attendance at a meeting of the League of Oregon Cities. The state city planning commission and secretaries of the commercial bodies of the state also were in session at Eugene. Secretary Gordon MacCracken of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce was at the meeting, returning Thursday.

Matters of legislation concerning the cities of the state were among the principal things considered by the league of cities. Matters of finance, accounting, refunding of debts, etc., also were discussed.

Delegates declare that the absence of W. M. Briggs, who was called east on official business, was felt keenly, though his report of the work of the recent legislature as affecting cities was presented.

Fire chiefs of the state discussed the razing of old and dilapidated buildings to do away with fire hazards, also matters of signal systems.

Recorder Adams states that they put in two full days listening to talks and enjoying conferences on matters of interest to the city. He states that City Attorney of Forest Grove spoke on the matter of collection of water rates. He said the water superintendent met the claim that the city could not turn the water off toilets for sanitary reason by installing a device on the line outside the property by which the delinquent customer secured just enough water to flush toilets but none for other uses.

A federal man from TVA told of the immense socialistic experiment being tried in the Tennessee valley. The speaker said that the question of electric power was but a small part of the project, that the experiment included prevention of erosion, crop control and in fact was practically a government controlled farming enterprise.

Mr. Adams expressed the opinion that the conference was valuable to the city of Ashland.

Judge Fuller came home fully sold on the plan of having the federal government buy all old and dilapidated residences and other buildings and destroy them. He believes that will restore prosperity and reduce fire hazards.

Gov. Martin Lauds Senator Dunn While Here to See Siskiyou

Charles H. Martin, destined to become Oregon's most outstanding governor for many years, was an Ashland visitor Friday, when he came here accompanied by members of the state highway commission to view the Siskiyou highway straightening project.

Martin expressed satisfaction in work of the state legislature, and handed special bouquet to Senator George W. Dunn, Ashland, who, Martin said, has become a bulwark in Oregon legislation. Martin expressed confidence that the Siskiyou highway project's importance was realized at Salem, and that its early completion would be encouraged soon as possible.

Martin's party included State Highway Commissioners Leslie M. Scott, E. B. Aldrich and Highway Engineer R. H. Baldock. They left for the coast highway after a short stop in Medford.

ASHCRAFT SEES SEAGULL Perry Ashcraft, prominent Ashland automobile dealer, reported seeing a seagull flying up and down the main stem of town here Saturday. It was not explained what brought the bird to Ashcraft's attention; perhaps they saw eye to eye.

SEEN In A Daze

By OUR KEYHOLE EXPERT

A number of READERS asking what happened to the KEYHOLE REPORTER last week; it was the press of work and not the job of a hatpin.

MRS. WICK heading postoffice-ward with a friendly nod.

Next MONDAY as the day WE ALL can act natural.

JERRY GAULT up for all day. COCK and MRS. ROBIN looking for late risers on the normal school lawn.

A VERY FUNNY PERSON saying "I hope all your troubles are little ones."

Present disgraceful relations between a certain OLD MAN and a well known BEAUTIFUL YOUNG LADY which, if they do not cease, will force the Keyhole Expert to mention their names next week.