J. 2—Manuel Quezon, slated to be the first president of the independent Philippine commonwealth, photographed as he sailed from San Francisco for the islands. 3—Russia's great propaganda plane, the "Maxim Gorky," which fell after collision with a small plane, 49 lives being lost.

Novel Jumping Race in Egypt

Sportsmen in Cairo, Egypt, recently arranged for a most unusual jumping race, the contesting steeds being camels.

Champion High School Debaters

Herbert Shapiro and Carl Lundquist of Sioux Falls, S. D., were the winners in the national high school debating tourney.

FAR FROM IDENTICAL

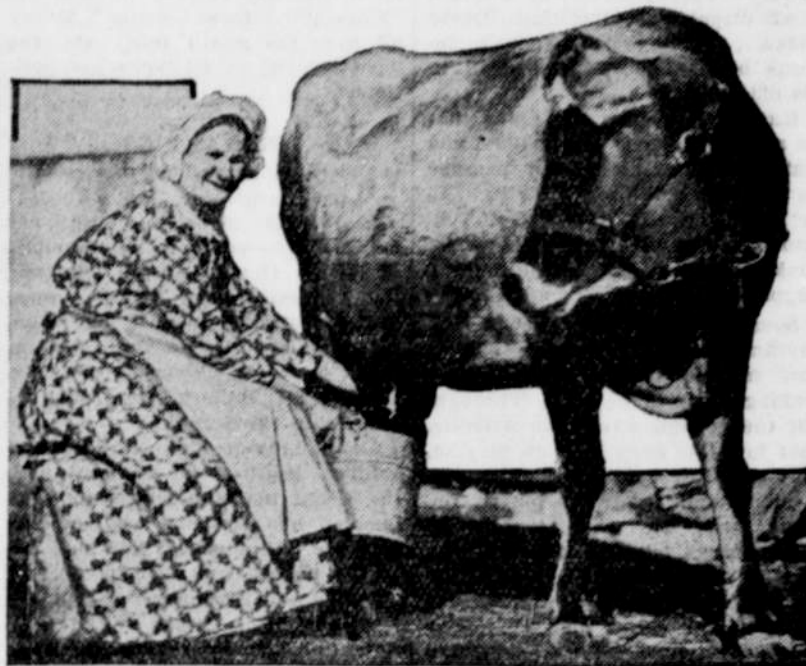

These children, Umberto and Rudolph Rios of Santa Catalina Island, are twins, however little they may look like it. Umberto is a pure albino and Rudolph resembles his Mexican parents; wherefore they arouse the interest of scientists. The only known albino in their family tree was their grandmother's great-grandmother.

Italy's New Army Tanks Are Hardy

One of the new model tanks in use by the Italian army is here shown about to take a tumble off the abutment of a bridge.

EROSION EXPERT

H. H. Bennett, who is director of soil erosion prevention, has been named by the President to assist in the work relief program.

Habits of Chipmunks

The bureau of biological survey says that in chipmunks, as in most other small rodents, the male becomes troublesome and belligerent in the breeding season and while the young are being nursed. The female, therefore, is obliged to seclude herself and the young, drive away the male, and take full charge of the offspring until they are weaned. At this time they are able to care for themselves, and both male and female may then be seen in company with half-grown young.

Shot 'Em on the Run

Several centuries ago, the ruling prince of the province of Coorg, India, often had a condemned criminal brought to his palace for "a sporting proposition." The prince would offer the man his freedom if he were able to run the full length of the courtyard without being shot by the prince as he fired from a balcony window. Thus the state saved the cost of an execution and the prince caught up with his shooting.—Collier's Weekly.
