From 1915 to 1921 prices were sky high and yet at the same time the country was producing more farm products than ever before or since and the business turnover was enormous, everybody was well fed, well clothed and had some of the luxuries of life that are prohibitive today. There was no complaint about high prices or overproduction because everyone was employed at good wages, and it seems to us that our way out of the depression is to get people back to work, not with the dole, which at the best only makes a demand for bare necessities. Put plenty of money in circulation to finance the buying power of the people which would increase the demand for goods and products and this in turn will put more people back to work. As fuel is to the power in your engine, so is food to the human machine. People must have food if they work and we are in a position to furnish you with the best to be had in the way of groceries and meats at fair prices between the producer and consumer . . . so call on us for your needs. If it is meat, call for Gary, if it is groceries, call for Mr. Walcott, if something hasn't been satisfactory call for Mr. O'Harra . . . we want to serve you!
