

BELLVIEW HAS IDEAL PICNIC SPOTS AT DOOR

BELLVIEW—These are outing days for all of us out here in Bellview we are especially fortunate, we have picnic places a-plenty right at our back doors. Neil, Clayton and Tolman Creek canyons are but a few minutes drive from any Bellview home, and shade, water, and a cosy place to enjoy a picnic lunch are easily found.

The new federal road to Mount Ashland, which follows the ridge just south of the Bellview district, and the Coggins logging roads offer the finest of opportunities for an easy hike. An early morning or late evening stroll along the slopes of the foot hills by way of these roads is well worth the little effort required. A half hour by automobile up the Mount Ashland road puts one directly south of the Bellview country and on top of the ridge. The first logging road that takes off to the left going up is a good place to start. Send your car back and hike down the road if you care to take a little more grief drop down the mountain side. You are sure to find a logging road that will bring you out at the Farmer place where you can arrange for your car to pick you up, or keeping on down the road you will come out at the Bellview schoolhouse. In the early morning or late evening you are almost sure, if you go quietly and keep your eyes open, to see deer, possibly a doe and her fawn. The morning or evening talk of the "wood folk," the flowers, the woodsy odors, and the peace and quiet of it all make it a trip well worth the effort. An hour and a half to two hours is plenty of time to allow for a leisurely hike down from the top of the ridge to the Bellview school.

The Parent Teacher's Association of the Bellview school is planning already for the cold, bleak days of next winter. Then a hot dish for the children's lunch will be mighty acceptable.

The ladies have scheduled a concession in the park on July 4, at which time they will have on sale the usual lines of hot-dogs, hamburgers, ice cream, cold drinks, etc., also home-made pies.

The money realized will be used to finance the hot lunches for the Bellview children next winter. A piece of home-made pie purchased of them on the Fourth will mean several bowls of soup for the kiddies next January.

Tot Thumbs Tiny 'Ladyfinger' At Law

According to Ashland police, with Dick Hall acting as informant, crime jumped the gun here Wednesday when a youthful celebrant just couldn't wait until week of the Fourth to shoot off a fire-cracker and yielded to temptation a scant 300 feet from the police station. He was not apprehended, although a certain young man arrived home in record time with his breath coming in short pants.

Following Chief of Police Talent's edict that holiday explosives should be kept in hock until week of the Fourth, young Ashland was respectfully silent with firecrackers, or at least furtive and elusive with them, and a becoming silence settled over the city. But lawlessness strikes in queer places and it was with a start that local officers leaped to attention when a ladyfinger loosened its pop almost in shadow of the city bastille.

However, lads and the law have but a few more days to count now till it will be open season on fireworks, and Doc Short reported sale of cotton for stuffing the ears was brisk late this week.
