STAPLES DEALS IN BARGAINS

—Has unparalleled bargain near town, 3 acres on highway, splendid modern bungalow, free water system, outbuildings. Go see Staples, value the place and pay half of your honest valuation.

FIVE-ROOM city resident, close in on paved street, house is plastered inside and in good condition, brick foundation, modern conveniences, roof is old and paint dim, with new roof and painting the place will be appraised by competent $1500 or more, will sell for $700 cash, or might take less and might make terms, so come and see me if you want a bargain.

YOU CAN GET a government loan to build a new bungalow, so why raise your family on rented premises with move, move, move? Build a home and encourage the kiddies to plant, construct, and breathe independence. There are a few, and only a few, extraordinary residence lots left on the market at attractive prices. Staples has 3 bargains. Go and see him—he gives service.

WHEN the Townsend Recovery Plan is made a law (and it is going to be made a law) prices of realty will be a little higher because citizens will have money with which to buy. Why delay getting a home while you have a chance to get it at bottom prices? Be as wise as the birds and beasts who make their nests when nesting material is easily obtainable.

MARK BAKER PASSES

Mark Baker died at the Convalescent home July 8, leaving one sister, Mrs. French of Kent, Wash., and one brother of La Crosse, Wis. Baker was born December 16, 1862 and came to this valley in 1886 on the first train to arrive in Ashland from the south, and had resided in this locality ever since. Funeral services were held at the Stock and Litwiller funeral home Sunday, July 14. Rev. Runham officiated, following which the body was taken to Portland for cremation.

Mr. Litwiller, of Stock and Litwiller, spent two days of this week in Portland on business.

LIFE INSURANCE IN ACTION

Insured with the Company for $1000 in 1925, (Name on request) of Kingsburg, Calif., became totally disabled from tuberculosis the following year and began to receive monthly disability benefits. Meanwhile premiums on the insurance policy were waived. Last month this unfortunate policyholder was bitten by a spider, resulting in his death.

The Company promptly paid to his $2000, double the face amount of the policy, on account of accidental death.

Having paid only two annual premiums on the policy, the insured received during his disability a total of $1300 in monthly payments and left $2000 in cash to his wife.

Life insurance was a good investment for this man.

The above article was taken from our monthly magazine, put out by California Western States Life Insurance Co., and is only one of the many articles showing recent payments.

We are one of the VERY FEW companies who are still including monthly payments to the insured in case of total disability.
