DOCTORS KNOW

Mothers read this:

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Why do people come home from a hospital with bowels working like a well-regulated watch?

The answer is simple, and it's the answer to all your bowel worries if you will only realize it: many doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives.

If you knew what a doctor knows, you would use only the liquid form. A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular liquid laxatives have become. They give the right kind of help, and right amount of help. The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara — both natural laxatives that can form no habit, even in children. So, try Syrup Pepsin. You just take regulated doses till Nature restores regularity.

Roosevelt's Speech at Georgia Homecoming

President Roosevelt

ONE hundred thousand Democrats, mostly Georgians, gathered in the stadium of Georgia Tech at Atlanta for a homecoming and heard President Roosevelt deliver a characteristic speech, full of confidence, assurance of prosperity and praise for what the New Deal has accomplished. And he did not neglect to attack warmly the critics of his administration. In reviewing the economic and social advances since his inauguration he gave out what was considered the keynote for his campaign for reelection, and definitely announced his candidacy—unnecessarily—by asserting that life in the United States has improved in the last two and a half years and will continue to improve "if I have anything to do with it."

Mr. Roosevelt promised that lavish government spending was over and that the nation could look forward with assurance to a decreasing deficit, and asserted that the government credit is higher than that of any other great nation. He bitterly criticized the treasury policies prior to his entrance into the White House, traced the relief policies as opposed to doles and declared that the peak of appropriations has passed.

The President said farm income in the United States has risen since 1932 a total of nearly three billions, and this additional farm income "has meant the rebirth of city business, the reopening of closed factories, the doubling of automobile production, the improvement of transportation and the giving of new employment to millions of people."

"The word 'progress,'" concluded Mr. Roosevelt, "is a better word than 'recovery,' for it means not only a sound business and a sound agriculture from the material point of view, but it means, with equal importance, a sound improvement in American life as a result of continuing and forceful effort on the part of our people, and, through them, on the part of their government. I am certain that that is your purpose; and that is why I continue my confidence, my faith in the people of America."

In those phrases and in his high praise of the New Deal experiments, the President made clear his intention of carrying on his program for altering and bettering the social and economic life of the American people regardless of the return of material prosperity.

Governor Talmadge of Georgia, who, though a Democrat, is a severe critic of the President and many of his policies, pointedly absent himself from the meeting at Atlanta, spending the day on his farm. Several days later he replied to Mr. Roosevelt's speech in a radio address.

Republican opinion of the President's address might be summarized in the remark of Harrison E. Spangler, director of the Chicago G. O. P. headquarters: "Gulliver has started his travels again and we'll all be hearing some more tall stories."

Situation in Europe Is Becoming Tenser

EUROPEAN diplomats, especially the British and Premier Laval of France, are exceedingly clever and resourceful, but if they are to extricate their nations from the present threatening state of affairs they will need all their smartness. Though decision as to the imposition of an oil embargo against Italy was postponed until December 9 to give Laval a chance to conciliate Mussolini, the duce refused to make any gesture toward peace. Italians were authoritatively warned not to mistake diplomatic exchanges between their premier and the representatives of Great Britain and France as "peace talk," and were told there was no reason to believe Mussolini had modified his minimum terms already presented to Sir Eric Drummond and Laval's representative. Also he has declined further to conciliate Britain by removing more troops from Libya and has repeated his warning that he will consider an oil embargo an unfriendly gesture. He and all Italians are especially resentful against Great Britain, which apparently intends to insist on the oil ban. And now they are getting very sore at France, despite Laval's efforts to maintain friendly relations between the two countries.

Sir Samuel Hoare

There were reports that Italian troops were being massed along the French frontier.

The British government was engaged with the troublesome situation. Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, received timely orders from his physician to take a rest in Switzerland, and it was announced he would stop in Paris for a conference with Premier Laval. The admiralty was preparing for eventualities and ordered officers of the royal navy reserve to report at once for duty at Plymouth. These men have been serving as officers and engineers in the merchant marine.

All members of the League of Nations, including Italy, are exceedingly anxious to know what will be the course of the United States concerning the oil embargo.

End of Federal Relief Shifts Millions to WPA Rolls

WITH the end of November direct federal relief came to an end, and it was officially announced that 3,500,000 persons had been shifted from relief rolls to the WPA pay rolls and put to work. Other millions of employables who have been receiving the federal dole but who cannot be hired by the Works Progress administration because state quotas have been filled must be cared for by the states which will be helped by the final allotments made by the FERA before it went out of existence. As for the "unemployables," numbering perhaps 4,000,000, Aubrey Williams, assistant administrator, said the problem of their care would be solved satisfactorily.

Statistical charts on the relief situation, prepared by the research section of the FERA, were issued in pamphlet form and show that unemployment decreased about 3,000,000 in the first two years of the Roosevelt administration.

New Corn-Hog Program Announced by Wallace

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WALLACE announced the corn-hog program for 1936-37. Designed to maintain a balance between the interests of the producer and the consumer, this new plan will permit a 30 per cent increase in hog production next year over 1935, thus preparing the way for possible reductions in pork prices to the housewife; and to restrict corn acreage to about 95,000,000 acres, an increase of about 1,400,000 acres, over the amount harvested this year.

Sec'y Wallace

After appraisal by community committees and review by county allotment committees, a corn acreage base and a market hog base will be fixed. Co-operating producers must agree to plant corn next year on at least 25 per cent of their base acreages. They will be permitted to retire from 10 to 30 per cent of their base acreage for soil-improving or erosion-preventing purposes. Hog growers must agree to produce between 50 and 100 per cent of the base market production.

The 1936 corn adjustment payment will be 35 cents a bushel on the appraised yield times the adjusted acreage, less the pro rata share of local administrative expenses.

Corn adjustment payments will be made in two installments. The first, at the rate of 20 cents a bushel, is to be made about August 1. The second will come due about December 31, 1936, at the rate of 15 cents per bushel.

A payment of $1.25 per head will be made on each hog in the base. Deductions will be made at the rate of $2.50 per head if a producer fails to raise 50 per cent of his base numbers. The total payment to a producer will be the same for a production ranging from 50 per cent to 100 per cent of his base.

The 1937 rates will be announced by November 30, 1936, but the rate on corn will not be less than 30 cents per bushel and the rate on hogs will not be less than $1.25 per head.

President May Attend National Convention

THERE is a possibility that President Roosevelt will attend the national Democratic convention which will re-nominate him. It was reported in a Baltimore paper that he wished the convention to be held in an eastern city, and some one at the White House, when asked about this, replied: "Maybe, The President might want to go, and he would not want to travel too far." Philadelphia has been under consideration by Democratic leaders, it was learned, but the question of money remains a prime consideration in the choice of the host city.

Englishman Had 40 Wives; His 79 Children Argue

In the latter half of the Nineteenth century John Dunn, a white Englishman, settled in the Zululand territory of Africa. In the course of his life in Zululand he married 40 native women. Following the Zulu uprising of 1879 he was appointed one of the 13 chiefs controlling the country.

Artificial "Radium" May Change Cancer Treatment

Out of the maze of scientific discoveries in connection with the constitution of matter and the radioactive metals comes a promise to medicine of a great contribution. The famous Joliot team made the first step last January when they produced radio-active elements in the laboratory. Now with the help of other world-famous physicists they have transmitted to such common elements as aluminum, boron, and magnesium the power of radioactivity. With practically the same radiation as radium these transmuted metals are expected to be of immense value. Their limited period of activity may entirely change the treatment of cancer.

For a definite period of time they radiate beneficial rays and then become inert and harmless. Such a characteristic may make direct application to the diseased area possible and it may be that the cost of such treatment will be reduced.

Athletes Live Longer

According to a study of longevity made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, college athletes live longer than average men of the same age. Histories of 4,976 men who had distinguished themselves in intercollegiate sports were tabulated over a 20-year period. Baseball players recorded the highest mortality, crew men next, then track men; lastly, football players. Particularly favorable was the showing of men who won letters in several sports.
