

BELLVIEW

● The Bellview P-TA held its regular monthly meeting Friday evening, October 16.

Bob Dunn gave a splendid report on the International Stock show which he attended.

P-TA members discussed the possibility of hiring some one to cook and serve hot lunches this winter instead of the plan which had been followed in the past.

The program committee for the next meeting, which will be held Friday evening, November 20, is composed of Miss Julia Quinby and Miss Eunice Hager. The refreshment committee is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Byrd and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Longstreth. During the regular meeting of the Bellview Grange at the club house Tuesday evening the charter was draped for Mrs. Ethel Parsons, who passed away recently. The Grange plans to sponsor another dance on November 7. Announcement was made by the agricultural committee that a shipment of hogs from the states affected by the drouth are for sale and any one wishing to purchase any should get in touch with R. G. Fowler, county agent.

● TAX EXPERTS all agree that real property in all fairness can only stand a total of 25 mills (2½ per cent) tax, and the city of Ashland levy alone is about 27 mills this year, making our total tax over six per cent. This, along with the very unfair assessment values which many are facing leaves Ashland running with nearly 40 per cent delinquency. It is, simply, inability to pay on the part of many. I believe in efficient city government and good wages and salaries, but I do believe there are ways to reduce these taxes and also lower our city light and water rates. That's why I am running for councilman. —R. A. MINKLER. (42p)
