● Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wade, Bert, Esther and Glen Wade made a business trip to Dunsmuir, Calif., the first of this week.

● A large crowd attended the dance at the Grange hall last Friday night. The Grange plans to sponsor another of these dances Friday, June 18.

Milady's Aid by FRAN

WHETHER you are house-trailer conscious or favor the roadside cottage plan for a vagabonding trip, or intend to make your summer headquarters a beach hut, or are one of those few brave souls still intrigued with the idea of wrestling canvas tents into a semblance of home, you'll enjoy that vacation trip if your clothes are right.

The day of huge ill-fitting khaki pants and middle blouses is quite gone, praise be, and this year fashion has plotted to make you comfortable and attractive while you are vacationing.

Clever, fitted overalls have swept the country as the just right traveling attire, and here is an idea for you to try: Why don't you make yours of gay printed seer-sucker? For sheer comfort and convenience this crinkly material which needs no ironing is the tops. If you "go near the water" and get a good soaking it's no matter, if you are in seersucker. Ten minutes in the sun and your overalls are as good as new. No more worry about such unexpected happenings as capsized boats, sudden showers, dust storms, and what not.

You will find that these overalls launder easily, will dry overnight, and never need ironing. The prints to be had in this material are simply amazing. Have you seen the one with the gaudy beach hats, dollar-sized, spread helter-skelter over the cloth? Or the one with topsy turvy palm trees interspersed with funny fat little tropical fish? There is simply no end to the amusing patterns to be had, and for shirts to complete the ensemble, get the same material in plain colors.

To hold your hair in place while on the road, chiffon ropes are just the thing. Squares of filmy chiffon in luscious colors may be braided together or twisted or knotted and worn tied around your head with the ends sticking mischievously up in front, or tied in back of your head in a more sedate fashion.

For footwear, those new good

HILTS NEWS

● Eighth grade graduation exercises were held at the Legion hall Friday evening following presentation of the operetta, "Tom Sawyer," under direction of Miss Gansburg. The 14 graduates to receive diplomas were Barbara Roush, Elizabeth Clevenger, Shirley Walker, Gloria Georges, Margaret Coleman, Alba Cappello, Raymond Coleman, Buster Nelson, Junior Dunaway, Gerald Goodwin, Donald Hard, Val Temple, Victor Zanotto and Gildo Cervellini. Paul Green of Hornbrook presented the American Legion scholarship medal to Margaret Coleman. Barbara Roush presented the class teacher, Mrs. King, with a gift from the graduates. Robert Dennis, county superintendent, gave out diplomas.

● Six Hilts students graduated from the Yreka high school at commencement exercises Thursday evening. Those receiving diplomas were Vera Dutro, Robert Hard, Fred Haynes, Jr., Ivar Anderson, Robert Trinca and Waldemar Ohlund. Waldemar Ohlund was presented with a scholarship prize of $50.

● Mr. and Mrs. Albert Williams and Johnny Williams of Grants Pass were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams Sunday.

● Don True finished logging operations at Hilts and has moved his crew to Fort Jones.

looking sneakers are just right. They are comfortable, look well with your anklets, and are the ready-for-anything type of shoe equally at home on the beach or tennis court. And here again your love for color need not be thwarted, for they are as bright or as tame in color as you would wish.

And now--WHY NOT concentrate on tanning evenly to the shade that best suits you instead of trying to get darker than Mrs. Jones--take along one of those huge transparent cellophane capes and hoods that won't impede your tanning but will protect you from burning in case you doze off while sunbathing--keep a clever chatty log book of your trip and all the things you did and thought while vacationing.

By request, let's go a little deeper into theatre etiquette. Yes, a lady should wear a hat to the theater, but should remove it if it is a view-hazard. No, when you are ready to leave the theater it is unnecessary for your escort to stand and wait for you to pass in front of him, if he is between you and the nearest aisle. Indeed, if the show is on at the time, it is correct for him to lead out. Once the aisle is reached he should stop and wait to attend you up the aisle.
