

Ladies Night To Be Repeated at Armory For Monday Matches

Another "ladies night" is scheduled for Monday night's wrestling matches in the Medford armory, according to Mack Lillard, promoter. Last week's card was witnessed by more ladies than ever before, many being turned away because of the lack of standing room. The way this plan works, every paid admission may be accompanied by a pass that admits one lady free.

Promoter Lillard has arranged another all-main-event card for Monday night with Champion Dude Chick, the former Cheyenne cowboy, meeting Sockeye Jack McDonald, Seattle logger. McDonald is no doubt one of the greatest threats for Chick's crown and fans are assured of more fast action when these two get together.

Second up on the all-star card will be Red Lyons, the red-headed Joplin Ghost, who indulges in the terrific arguments with Referee Yokely, meeting Floyd Britt, who has won all but one of his matches since appearing here and is more than clever, even though he gets rough occasionally.

On the opener will be Bob Chick and the Secret. Chick's brother unmasked the Secret last week and at this writing it is not known whether the mean one will appear in costume.

Opening bout will start at 8:30 p. m. sharp and fans are urged to be early for seats.

1938 Spring Hats Will Be 'Saner'—Or Will They?

Spring stylists are getting more level-headed about hats, so they say. This collection proves them both right and wrong. You can draw your own conclusions about the little feathered bonnet worn above by Rita Johnson of the movies. The skyscraping quill is bright blue.

Rita changes to a tight-fitting, tight number that's given added height by a colorful bouquet of spring flowers. The soft veil adds "luxury." Nice, we'd say.

But wait a minute. What's this? Betty Furness, also of the movies, dons a "nose-length" veil sprinkled with sequin flowers, fastened on the top of her head with a handmade rose in cerise. This isn't a spring hat, really. It's for formal dinner wear, which makes us breathe easier.

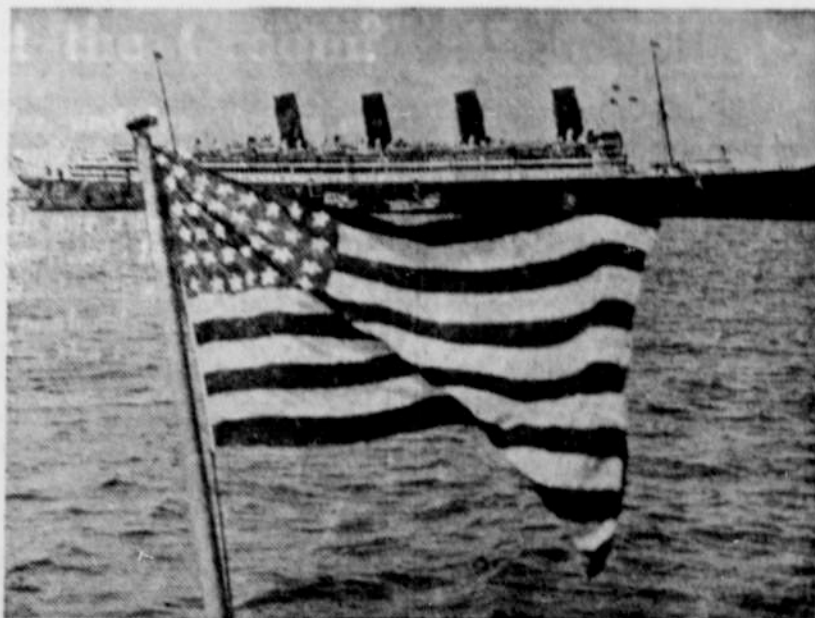

Here comes Betty Furness in something less startling and more springlike. John Fredericks designed this number, a dusty pink hat with a black suede band around the edge. The crown is high and a soft veil covers the face. What's your verdict... are 1938 hats better or worse?

• Mrs. William Bates and small son Edward with Dunsmuir spent the holidays with Mrs. Bate's father, Ed Doyle.

Nation Marks Flag Day

June 14 is Flag day, and here is a picturesque view of "Old Glory" as she flies from a United States revenue cutter, pushing its way up the bay at New York to meet an incoming liner. The Stars and Stripes are displayed in Ashland each year on Flag day.

Father of Father's Day

Here is Harry C. Meek of Chicago, credited as the originator of Father's day, celebrated throughout the United States June 19. Meek started the movement in 1915. He has testimonial letters from Presidents Harding and Coolidge, thanking him for making possible a day honoring the fathers of America.
