

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

open-door policy, the nine-power pact and other treaties in connection with China? Will the United States place economic barriers in effect against Japan, and if so, what effect would they have?

How about South America and our relations with them? What was the real reason for the Lima conference and what were the results? What are Europe's special trade strategies in South America and how has Europe benefited thereby? Has Europe benefited at the expense of the United States?

These questions and hundreds of others dealing with world affairs must have been running through your mind. It will be my endeavor to give you the answer.

What is happening in Mexico, the expropriation of oil lands, of agrarian lands, and what are our relations with the country on the south? Will Mexico develop into another Spain? Why does the United States permit Mexico to confiscate oil lands and farm properties belonging to citizens of the United States, and why does she so strenuously object to similar measures on the part of European powers?

It will be my endeavor to cover these and many other world questions in this column for the readers of The Miner each week and over the air through radio KGW at 6:15 p. m. each Friday.

Belligerent Belcastro Plans to Smear Schroll At Armory Monday

Pete Belcastro, the mad Italian from Weed, Calif., will face the crocodile clutch expert from Kansas, Frankie Schroll, in Mack Lillard's top main event at Medford armory next Monday night. Schroll won the right to a top spot when he stopped Hugh Adams last week with his pet hold and Pete will continue in the main event by virtue of his win over Shiek Mar Allah.

Belcastro always injects the explosives in every bout in which he appears and Schroll will have to get dirty if he expects to win. Hugh (Whiskers) Adams, the ex-House of Davider, is scheduled to squabble with Shiek Mar Allah in the middle bout. Adams is a clever workman while the Persian has had his terror reign halted only by Belcastro.

The opening match will be a return engagement between Andy Tremaine, Phoenix, Arizona, and Eddie Rogers of Kalamazoo, Mich. This pair put on one of the most clever bouts seen in the armory in a long time last week and Tremaine was lucky to emerge the winner.

Dangerous Danny McShain, the light-heavyweight champion who was scheduled to appear on this card, wrestled Jesse James in Hollywood last Monday and the worst riot ever seen in California was the result. McShain is held to appear before the California Boxing and Wrestling commission next Monday so will be unable to fulfill his engagement at Medford.

INGLE'S TAKE GAME
Ingle's Drugstore Cowboys Tuesday night took a 46-25 victory from Medford's Salvation Army quintet on the SONS floor, making the locals' 12th straight victory.

Townsendites Install Club Officers Here

Members of the Ashland Townsend club recently installed new officers for 1939 as follows: A. Segsworth, president; Clarence Lane, vice president, and S. S. Davenport, secretary-treasurer.

The Townsend dances, which have been a regular attraction in the VFW hall, will be continued during February and March.

SPILL THE MILK

Two Ashland milkmen—Cashie Wait and H. B. Carter—Monday collided while delivering their routes at the intersection of B and Third streets. Wait received minor bruises which, because of his advanced age, were being observed closely. Both trucks were damaged.

RECORD TO DATE

Ashland Junior High 26, Grants Pass 13.
Ashland 18, Grants Pass 14.
Ashland 27, Medford 14.
Ashland 19, Medford 21.
Ashland 35, Corvallis 25.
Ashland 36, Albany 15.
Ashland 44, Roseburg 21.
Ashland 24, Klamath Falls 23.

Against the strongest junior high competition that can be found in the state, Ashland has scored seven victories and suffered one defeat by a two-point margin. The locals are exactly half way through their heavy schedule.

If the pace can be maintained the present crop of Junior high athletes will surpass the record made by last season's championship team which won 15 games out of 18 played against Junior high and class B senior high schools.

So far six contests have been played on the road and only two at home. With most of the remaining contests to be played here, Ashland will have a decided advantage.

One of the few remaining games to be played on a "foreign" floor will be tonight at the Altamont Junior high in Klamath Falls. Altamont has never yet been able to defeat Ashland in basketball but they have a veteran team this year and are all set to give the locals a drubbing. Ashland will probably find Altamont's small floor a decided handicap.

FARM DEBT PLAN AID TO CREDITOR

Creditors of farmers as well as farm debtors are eligible for Farm Security administration debt adjustment services, according to Eugene Hampton, county FSA supervisor, 211 Fluhrer building, Medford. Equitable settlement of outstanding debts can be effected through confidential and friendly negotiations between the creditor and debtor involved.

Many creditors have been spared the cost of expensive foreclosure proceedings, the difficulty of finding suitable tenants for their lands, and the often hopeless task of securing payment on old obligations. Impartial review and negotiations sponsored by the debt adjustment service have made this possible.

Meanwhile the farm operator involved, with a working relationship already established with the creditor, can continue his operations on a sound basis and again assume a just debt burden. Consolidation, refinancing, extensions and adjustments result in restoring the farmer's capacity to pay and enable him to continue established farming operations.

Reaching a basis on which the creditor can again realize a reasonable return from his investment and the debtor can meet his obligations not only aids the two parties involved but eventually contributes to the welfare of the entire community. Similarly the county government benefits in that payment of back taxes is considered in nearly every adjustment.

County voluntary debt adjustment committees cooperate the FDA supervisors in laying plans for adjustment in cases.

Great Weather for Ice Skating

YES, it's been great weather lately for ice skating and snow sports, but not for starting a balky motor that coughs and jerks these frigid forenoons! We've a special remedy for that kind of annoyance that's inexpensive, effective and results in quick, smooth starts, better mileage. Drive in this week and hear the details—no obligation!
