A Little Light on the Subject Saves Embarrassment!

Not being able to see what you're doing often leads to an embarrassing waste of effort . . . and, like in the picture above, lack of lighting often attracts the wrong sort of people. Protect your home, your belongings with light! Prowlers loathe bright homes and a lack of concealing shadows. A good way to "lock the barn door before the horse is stolen" is to keep a light burning when you're away. Electricity is good, PROVEN burglar protection!
