PAIR OF BAD BOYS TO COLLIDE AT ARMORY

Pete Belcastro, the wild Wop from Weed, Calif., will meet bad boy Joe Smolinski of Poland in the top main event of Promoter Mack Lillard's weekly wrestling card at Medford armory Monday night, April 24. The winner of this bout has been practically assured a go with Bob Kennaston of Gold Hill, the present world junior heavyweight champion, at Medford on May 1. Both Belcastro and Smolinski used to beat up on Kennaston just for practice when the ex-marine was learning the game but he has now become a finished grappler and has met with excellent success in his tour of the middle west and south since winning his title from Dude Chick Smolinski and Belcastro are anxious to get the chance to show Kennaston that they can still beat him so their bout should be full of action from beginning to end.

Jimmy Lott, the ex-Alabama football star, will meet Phil Romano, Aztec Indian, in the middle bout. Both are clean and scientific

Water Supplies Vary For State This Year

Irrigation farmers of Oregon who depend upon water stored in reservoirs have little to worry about this year so far as irrigation supplies are concerned, but those who obtain their water direct from streams will have a short irrigation season in most sections of the state unless unusually heavy precipitation occurs during the late spring and summer.

Such in general is the water forecast for the state of Oregon recently arrived at through a series of six meetings throughout the workers and always provide thrills wherever they appear.

The opener has a newcomer to Oregon in the person of Harry Cooper of Tennessee. Cooper, who is 25 years old, weighs 190 pounds and is a clean and scientific wrestler. For several weeks he has been working in southern California where he is highly regarded. He meets Vern Clark, the Michigan boy who tamed Smolinski in a previous bout at Medford.

southern and eastern part of the state, conducted by R. A. Work, superintendent of the Medford branch experiment station and head of the federal-state snow survey and irrigation water forecast service in Oregon.

This is the fourth consecutive year that these district meetings have been held where representatives of cooperating agencies have gathered to compare data and arrive at a combined estimate of stream flow prospects.

Snow surveys this season showed that at high altitudes the snow still showed a water content in some instances up to last year's unusually favorable supplies, and in most cases up to average.
