county, County Clerk George Carter of Medford is unopposed in the primary and his reelection will be both deserved and wise. Carter has earned the respect of voters from both parties by his efficient, friendly work.

COUNTY TREASURER—Ralph E. Sweeney of Medford, a democrat, also is unopposed in the primary and his is another case of earned reelection. Sweeney's banking experience has enabled him to place county records and handling of money in such an orderly manner that any lay person can readily understand the exact status of all county and school funds every day in the year. Sweeney, like Republican Carter, is a bright spot on the record of his party.

FOR COUNTY CORONER—Both candidates for the coroner's position are well qualified, both have proved their ability. In Ashland the question largely resolves itself around the detail of preference in deputy coroners—Dodge for Perl, Litwiller for Conger. Both candidates are republican and past custom has been to alternate the post from one group to the other about every eight years.

OTHER CONTESTED OFFICES—Being less sure of ourselves from here on out, we'll leave the rest to those who are more fully informed on the remaining candidates.

SWARTSLEY HONORED—George H. Swartsley, junior in pharmacy from Ashland, was one of three OSC students invited to enter Rho Chi, national honor society in pharmacy, this spring. Rho Chi promotes scholarship and fellowship among the pharmacy students. ● Subscribe for The Miner today.
