THE TRUTH WILL

LINDBERGH'S IDEAS DEFEAT THEMSELVES BY THE COMPANY THEY KEEP!

Although The Miner particularly agrees with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's statement that "this dabbling in European affairs can lead only to failure in the future as it has in the past . . . We demand that foreign nations refrain from interfering in our hemisphere, yet we constantly interfere in theirs," we wonder why the Flying Colonel has taken upon himself the responsibility of advising this government on foreign affairs.

We suspect that no longer is Lindbergh a lone eagle. Somewhere in the background, without doubt, is the fine touch of Herbert Hoover and other administration haters who are using the one-time national hero as a vocal front.

Despite our agreement, in part, with what Lindbergh says, we resent hearing him say it. The famous pilot has long since disqualified himself as a national figure and the idol of millions. His flight to England, his decoration by Hitler and his succeeding political pronouncements do not endear him to his countrymen.

A still, small voice whispers that Lindy's gabbling over the radio is a trial balloon in former President Hoover's campaign to grab the republican nomination. Lindbergh's words may ring with truth, but they smell like they've been in bad company.

NOW THAT WE'VE GOT THE SITE, LET'S GO AFTER THE INDUSTRY!

Several weeks ago Ashland voters rallied behind the golf course and voted to purchase the 97-acre tract, which includes much undeveloped acreage adjoining main line tracks of the Southern Pacific as well as a nine-hole course and clubhouse.

The purchase has assured golfers of continuance of unimproved land as an industrial site or sites. In the past several investors have eyed the Ashland area of the remaining and Orva Stevenship and the possession to the results of this endeavor have been the establishment of laws regulating the acquiring of property; the owner-ship and the possession to the possession with thoughts of mill development and now, when the opportunity comes, the city will be in a position to offer persuasive inducement.

With southern Oregon's largest stand of timber LESS THAN 10 MILES from the acreage-which has both water and track facilities-Ashland should be able to bring new payrolls here because voters were wise enough to authorize purchase of the golf club property.

This community can well use additional payrolls and now we will be able to do something about getting them to come here.

BE SURE TO READ THE NEW MINER FEATURES EVERY WEEK!

Readers of the Southern Oregon Miner may have noticed last week-and heaven help our insomnia if they didn't—the addition of a number of new features, including a serial story, full page of comics, a woman's page, more news pictures and Grantland Rice's sports column, as well as continuation of the Washington Merry-Go-Round, America's most famous authoritative column on behind-the-scenes in Washington, and H. I. Phillips' laugh-treat. The added departments will become a regular Miner feature every week.

Introduction of the new features in The Miner keeps pace with the modern trend in newspapers and enables us to give subscribers the greatest value in a weekly newspaper in our nearly nine years of existence. We hope readers will like the additions and we welcome comment—both complimentary and critical. The staff is anxious to give Ashland and its trading area a constantly improving paper.

Be sure to read all the new features, including "Carmen of the Rancho" by Frank H. Spearman. We are sure you'll get much more enjoyment and value from your Miner if you do.

Large Crowd Hears Judge Hill Speak On Science at Varsity

Judge Frederick C. Hill, C.S.B. of Los Angeles, Calif., Thursday evening in the Varsity theater on 'Christian Science: The Law of God Demonstrating Substance and Supply." Judge Hill, member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Mass., spoke as follows:

"The history of the human race is an unfolding record of mankind's endeavor to grasp the Make Perfect Grades meaning of substance and supply and thereby acquire a sufficient amount of something to meet his needs and demands. The results of stance is a material thing needing an owner. The supply is regarded as limited. Some have abundance: and some have nothing. Between these extremes is a vast throng ceaselessly engaged in laborious effort to get something and to hold it in possession, upon the assumption that "life, substance and intelligence" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 43) reside in matter.

Religion has been an important factor in the affairs of mankind, and from canonical writings the fact is disclosed that substance and supply are to be found in the mental realm, and not in the ma-terial world. The Bible's injunction is. "Get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding," "Honour the Lord with thy substance,' and in so doing there is sure re ward. "So shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine.'

No doubt the masses were just as confused then as they are now Instead of knowing and under standing what substance is, mankind has believed and accepted something-that life, substance and intelligence are in matterand this believing has separated him from God; hence, the need for salvation, the need for a redeemer

The greatest event in human history occurred 19 centuries ago when a child was born in Bethlehem of Judea. About 30 years later that child, now grown to manhood, appeared as a prophet preaching the gospel, healing the sick, and laying the basis for the redemption of mankind. As a result, the Christian religion has come down to us to use in the life which we "live in the flesh." The Christ, Truth, is destroying that ancient belief of a big God up in the skies and a little man down

Enter Christian Science

About the middle of the 19th century, Mary Baker Eddy, through her clear, spiritual insight caught the import of Christ Jesus' profound saying, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly," and through proof and demonstration there came to her the revelation, "All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all" (Science and Health, p. 468). Her revelation constitutes a challenge to the idea of the big God and the little man. It brought about a religious revo-lution throughout the world, and it furnishes a working basis for the establishment of understanding in place of belief.
