"THE TRUTH WILL SET YOU FREE"

It Shall Prevail!

The role of science in this discordant time was touched on recently by Dr. E. H. Skinner, in an editorial in the Kansas City Medical Journal.

"Science," he wrote, "can provide the means and the measures to bring this old world out of this chaos of despair that has been imposed by the philosophy of totalitarianism. Science can and will establish the scheme of life for all the world that will permit all nations to live according to their individual competence, and for as long as they exercise this competence for the benefit of themselves and their neighbors.

"Even though countries are wiped out and even though faith itself takes an awful beating, the scientific merit within these smitten spots will eventually be triumphant. True science cannot be wrong, for science is fact. Facts can suffer defeat but they will rise again in their own right and gather strength in the process.

"Courage is the only emotional factor that gives anyone the stamina to fight on. It takes as much courage for one to be a scientist in the midst of war as to be in the line of battle. . . . Science is the truth that shall ultimately prevail."

Science sets men free. It is when we pervert the achievements of science and turn them to such purposes as war, that this truth is temporarily lost. It is science which gives us the machines that produce greater leisure, greater earning power, greater opportunities for advancement and success. It is science which fights disease and banishes pain and illness and makes for longer, fuller life. Science is individual initiative, individual intelligence, individual ambition, turned to the service of all people.—Industrial News Review.

A Monotonous Story!

Such headlines as "15,000 on Biggest Walk-out," "Boston Navy Dock Tie-up," "G. M. Strike Threatens" etc., are becoming a monotonously old, old story to the American people who are footing the bill for the all-out defense drive.

While precious man-hours of work are being lost in defense industries, thousands of selective service men are struggling through army maneuvers with poor or make-believe equipment. It is not difficult to imagine the thoughts of these men serving the country for less than a dollar a day—helping to build up an army which will be an empty gesture unless properly equipped. Modern warfare has proved time and again that courage and manpower are not enough when faced with waves of mechanized divisions.

Worst of the current crop of strikes is perhaps that of the San Francisco machinists who already had closed shop contracts with the ship owners, were getting good wages, had good hours and had a fair means for settling disputes without interruption of work or loss to anyone. Strike excesses have even begun to worry labor leaders who sense the growing tide of public resentment against them. William Green, president of the A. F. of L., said in regard to the San Francisco strike, "The members should live up to their agreement and handle their grievances in an orderly manner."

Strikes in vital defense industries with such an apparent lack of excuse cause the question to arise as to just what is involved in this form of "sabotage."

I Am An American!

For the third successive year, the people of the United States will celebrate "I Am an American" day on May 18. From a letter received from the office of the attorney general we quote the following paragraph:

"As you can realize, "I Am an American" day has special significance this year. Probably never in the history of the United States has American citizenship and its implications meant more than it does today. In times like these, when our democracy stands out in strong contrast to governments that have subjugated

While garlands of Buddy Poppies are being placed on the graves of America's hero dead throughout the nation on Memorial Day by 3500 local units of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., a wreath of Buddy Poppies, made by disabled veterans, will be placed on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery.

their people, it is important to observe and commemorate the privileges of American citizenship as widely as possible."

To frame a tax bill under existing conditions that shrinks from laying even a small direct tax upon the overwhelming majority of the people is to place far too low an estimate upon the character of that people.—New York Times.

To the Farmer:

The opening of our new meat market in Ashland enables us to handle a large quantity of livestock, affording you a ready market at prevailing prices without the necessity of losses accruing from long shipments to distant yards and time lost in receiving payments from brokers.

We welcome you at all times to come in and see us, tell us what you have to offer and allow us to quote you our prices.

In our market which is the most modern and sanitary in southern Oregon, we will handle only grade A quality state or government inspected meats at all times.

We welcome you to our opening in the new Drive-in Market on C street this Saturday.

W. D. HUBER, Owner.

New Rodeo Grounds Site of 4th Round-up

The "Circle Diamond Corral," a structure by Fred Beck, will be the site of a big home-talent round-up on the 4th of July, according to plans of the Ashland Trail Riders.

The "Circle Diamond" which is nearing completion on Willow street near Helman Baths is being constructed in western style with the chutes solidly built from heavy poles. The corral will have a turf arena measuring about 100 feet by 300 feet surrounded by heavy fencing for the safety of spectators. Seating space will be available for 1800 and according to present plans, field lights will be installed making it possible for night entertainments.

REMEMBER WHEN

—you were a youngster on the farm? In the evening you went to the field to meet father. He gave you a "boost up" and you rode home on one of the horses. There'll never be another ride with a thrill equal to that one. Remember?

The "boost" given us by so many friends is greatly appreciated. It has been gained by years of faithful service.
