

With every jump in the price of Tuna—the more we envy Ex-Editor Hall.

At last it appeared that prosperity was coming around the corner, but at a second glance it looks more like inflation.

The Nye-Wheeler-Clark combination, discouraged with the meager publicity they had been getting in the movies, are staging quite a show of their own.

A railroader visiting this office the other day reported that the SP is now moving more freight through Ashland than was moved when we were on the main line.

SOME OBSERVATIONS By OLD TIMER

To the Editor: Ashland is well situated to support one or more new industries. True, we don't have much to offer in available buildings, but we have ideal land sites. At least one industry, giving employment to a goodly number of people would place new money in circulation and every line of business would receive a share of each payroll dollar. If Ashland is to grow and prosper it is up to progressive and wide-awake citizens to sign up with the chamber of commerce.

We don't understand this advice to motorists to avoid the "jack rabbit" start. Jack rabbits hop over obstacles, never crash into them.

This dilly-dallying about the Washington school project is getting monotonous. Why not thread it out at an old-fashioned town meeting?

The Saturday night haircut should be abolished by legislative enactment.

Auto lights—not drivers—should be lit after dark.

Lost, strayed or stolen—a cantonment.

Verily, "them that has, gits."

Court Proceedings

The following traffic violators have appeared in the justice court this past week:

Orville E. Sweet was fined $5. and costs for violation of the basic rule.

Ted L. McNeerney paid $2. and costs for driving without a driver's license.

Homer W. Marshall was assessed court costs for driving with inadequate lights.

Joseph B. Lancaster was fined $2. and costs for passing with insufficient view.

Isabel Amaro failed to stop at a highway intersection and was fined $1. and costs.

Henry Diekman also was fined $1. and costs for failing to stop upon entering a main highway.

HUNTING SEASON OPEN SATURDAY

Oregon's deer season will open Saturday, Sept. 20, throughout the state and continue through Oct. 25. The bag limit this year, according to the Oregon state game commission, is one blacktail or one mule deer having not less than forked horns. Both deer coupons from the general hunting license must be attached to deer of either species when killed.

Limited doe deer seasons also will be held this year, and 3,800 tags already have been sold. One of the doe areas is located in portions of Lake and Klamath counties while the other is in portions of Lake, Crook and Wheeler counties. All hunters who possess doe tags must register at checking stations before entering the hunting area and must again register upon leaving the area, regardless of whether or not a kill has been made.

The 1941 antelope hunt will be in two areas. The first antelope season will open on Sept. 22 and continue through Oct. 5 in that part of Malheur county south of the Burns-Ontario highway. The other antelope season will open in portions of Lake and Harney counties on Sept. 28 and continue through Oct. 5. A supply of 3,000 special antelope tags authorized by the game commission has been almost exhausted. These tags costing $1 each for residents and non-residents alike, in addition to the regular hunting license fee, are good in either antelope area.

Special gun regulations this year make it unlawful to use shot-guns loaded with buckshot or bird shot to hunt or kill any big game.

Bourque Tells Lions Of New Ice Rink

Sparkey Bourque, manager of the Medford Ice Arena which is under construction, was guest speaker at the Ashland Lions meeting Tuesday evening. He told of the growing enthusiasm for ice skating throughout the country and of the popularity of ice revues and hockey. He also pointed out that in view of the possible army cantonment, the rink will be an important addition to the recreational facilities of the valley.

The ice surface of the rink will be 85 feet by 185 feet, which is large enough for regulation hockey. There will be a seating capacity of 2,200 and a coffee shop and large fireplace for the added comfort of spectators.

Al Schneider was initiated into the Ashland Den at the Tuesday evening session.

Clyde Fichtner, traffic and truant officer of the Medford city police, spoke on safety, urging that care, courtesy and common sense be exercised by every driver in order to cut down the ever-increasing number of traffic accidents. He said that boys who run afoul of the law are given every possible chance to mend their ways and are committed to the reform school only as a last resort. It was brought out at the meeting that through the local committee of the National Youth Administration, with headquarters in the county courthouse, young people without funds to continue their education can be given vocational training to prepare them for earning.

Mrs. H. H. Elhart of Ashland county membership chairman, will direct special publicity for P-TA enrollment week, to be observed throughout the county from Sept. 29 to Oct. 6.

School Employees Get Salary Increase

A general salary increase for the employees of the city schools was voted by the school board at its Tuesday night session. This raise, which was said to be about 7 percent, will apply to all employees with the exception of several last employed.

In determining the increases the following factors were considered: training, experience, specialization and additional responsibilities.

The Washington school problem also was discussed and since L. S. Traver, adviser and construction man for the state board of higher education, cannot make an investigation, it was voted to secure some other qualified building authority to assist the board with the problem.

School Supt. Norby discussed his plans for school budget procedure and announced the publication dates as Oct. 6 and 13, with final publication on Oct. 28.

GRIZZLIES MEET HONKERS TONITE ON NEW FIELD

Ashland football fans will get their first view of the 1941 edition of the Ashland high school Grizzlies in action on the new Walter Phillips turf tonight at 8 o'clock when they meet the Lakeview Honkers.

Both teams are playing under a new system and a new coach this season. The Grizzlies' new mentor is Frank O'Neil, who is doing an excellent job in shaping his eleven up for a gruelling season. Lakeview's new head man is Sylvester (Dutch) Wingard, a graduate of Oregon who comes to Lakeview from Battle Ground, Wash. He uses the single wingback formation which is entirely new to the Honkers.

The Grizzlies will put 10 veterans on the field tonight, Lawrence Hall at right guard being the only non-letter winner to start the game. Lakeview will field an entire outfit of veterans with a line average of about 160 pounds compared to Ashland's team average of 157.

The school board announces that about seven rows of seats will be ready tonight with the rest scheduled to be in use soon, probably in time for the Grants Pass game a week from tonight. The press box also will be ready tonight.

The Ashland high girls' drill team, an attraction at all high school athletic events, will be presented tonight. Only one major-ette from last season, Yvonne Christlieb, is on hand and tonight's drill will be sort of a contest to find the two girls who will work with her for the season.

Grade A Milk Rules Require New Caps

A new and more sanitary cap is required for all grade A milk and cream bottled in Oregon under new grade A regulations drawn by the state department of agriculture.

The regulations require that all bottling and capping shall be done by machine and that the cap or cover shall cover the pouring lip of the bottle at least to its largest diameter. Under these rules, hand-capping will be obsolete and caps must be purchased in sanitary tubes and kept therein until used.

While the regulations were drawn the middle of August, the department expects to give dairymen and plants until the end of the year to reach full compliance, says A. W. Metzger, chief of the foods and dairies division.
