NEWS FROM

Washington School By SCHOOL STUDENTS

SIXTH GRADE
Our room is the cafeteria and there are 54 to share it. The first day of school 49 people attended. There was much trouble getting every one seated. At first there was a table at the front and back of the room. Finally we got enough desks and everyone is seated.

There are 54 pupils in the sixth grade class. They have a president, vice president, secretary and sergeant-at-arms. The president is Charles Zarka. The other officers have not been chosen.

There are 35 enrolled in the first grade room and most of them will take the Shick test. The children are very happy with new little chairs and tables.

Room six has no new pupils from out of town but the following transferred from Lincoln side: Philip La Douceur, Barbara Dotson, Beverly Haynie, John Beare and Loren Graham.

ROOM 3
We have brought many interesting and beautiful sea shells and rocks to school. We have them on a large table. We study about them and enjoy it very much.

We have started a farm project which we are enjoying very much. Our house and barn is white with a blue roof. We have a large windmill. We are bringing farm animals and machinery for our farm, too.

SECOND GRADE
There are so many new pupils in the second grade at Washington school this fall. Bill Miles, Donald Hodgen, Jimmy Manning, Lloyd Haynie and Dick McNeerney transferred from Lincoln school. Mildred Williams came from Provolt; Roger Olson from Grants Pass; Billy Wooten from Willow Springs, and Donald Gould from Medford. IF FIRE -should force you from your home, the money you would have to pay for temporary quarters elsewhere could prove doubly burdensome because it would come at a time when you could least afford it.

That is why, in addition to your fire insurance, you should protect yourself with Rental Value INSURANCE. Following damage by fire or any other specified hazard, this policy would pay you each month the rental value of your home while it was being made habitable. Telephone us and we'll gladly give you full details. No obligation.
