

New Fall Clothes Are Pretty But They Are Also Practical

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IF YOU are enrolled at college, if you are a debutante, if you are a full-fledged socialite, or if you are a career girl, you will be going places this fall and winter, and that means pretty clothes and many of 'em.

The "trick" is to assemble a wardrobe of costumes that have the style-correctness and indefinable charm that will make you the reigning glamour girl in the smartly alert stadium group, at the college "prom," at afternoon tea or bridge. The illustration herewith is designed to offer suggestions for costumes that will do just that.

Wherever smart crowds parade into the stadium this fall you will find fragrant fresh flowers posed romantically on muffs an deuffs as well as on coat collars and revers, and on canes, if you please. Here's hoping your far-away soldier, or a doting parent at home will be wiring you one of the newest style corsages to wear to that football game.

If you are seeking ways to allot your clothes allowance wisely, we would suggest the purchase of a youthful-looking kidskin jacket such as that worn by the cheer-enthusiast seated to the left in the group. A flattering gray or beige fur like this will "go with everything," your sports frocks, your dresses for town wear and travel, or your new "date" dress.

It's simply perfect to wear to football games. As a background for a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums such as the girl pictured is wearing gray kidskin is the ideal answer. For an apropos ensemble, the streamers must carry out the college colors. Coach your florist beforehand to attach your college letter right in the heart of the flower as though it had grown there. The stunning hat that completes this costume is black with the new curtain drape that conceals the hair at the back in a soft line. The hunter's green frock of sheer wool, with tailored lines and nipped-in waist, as shown above to the right, is a smart choice to wear to the game and the tea dance afterward. A corsage of roses is matched to the rose petaled crown of the saucy pillbox hat. It is the very latest fashion to wear your flowers at the belt line, after the manner pictured.

One of the necessary luxuries of a debutante or fair college girl is a simple classic gown fashioned of a delectable pastel woolen. The styling of the pastel frock above to the left in the group is particularly attractive. There is restrained fullness at the front of the skirt. The bodice is beautifully detailed, with the new and popular slenderizing midriff effect. Pompadour hat and long suede gloves complete this charming "date" dress. Evidently, according to this picture, "he" wired "her" one of the extremely popular patriotic corsages of red roses, blue cornflowers and white carnation petals.

The fall and winter social whirl makes it almost imperative that every girl who goes places own a black velvet "date" dress. Black velvet is equal to any occasion. Below, to the right, you see a glamour dress on a glamour girl. The square-cut neck is extremely flattering. A stunning bracelet, a jeweled brooch, the new long gloves, a towering turban draped of cerise velvet done in the milliner's happiest manner, and an exotic corsage of rubrum lilies dramatize this "portrait of a lady" to the 'nth degree.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—William Cullen Bryant once engaged in a fist-fight in City Hall park with James Gordon Bennett, as the culmination of a violent political argument. Others of our poets have occasionally mixed in politics, held political jobs or died in battle, but the tradition has held that they are cloistered folk, not to be taken too seriously in matters of any great moment.

Archibald MacLeish, one of the best of contemporary American poets, and librarian of congress, has been asked to accept the administration of the new Washington agency called the Office of Facts and Figures. He and his agency will try to get reason, if not rhyme, into the daily outpouring of unrelated and sometimes contradictory statistics of national defense and foreign policies. In Juvenal's line, "That poet seems to be capable of walking a tight rope . . . all with the power of a magician."

There was quite a buzz of opposition throughout the country when Mr. MacLeish was made librarian of congress, three years ago. There was, however, some precedent for poets in government jobs and in politics, as well as on the firing line. There was Eugene Ware, topical versifier, who held down a good job in the pension department, about 30 years ago, and did it well. Then there was shaggy old Walt Whitman, in the same department at a time when the government seemed to need tight-rope walkers and magicians, to say nothing of poets, even more than it does now.

Gen. William Haines Lytle was a poet and politician—the author of "I Am Dying, Egypt, Dying," of school-boy recitation fame. He became a colonel of the Tenth Ohio Volunteers and died leading a charge at Chickamauga. As to poets in general coming to the aid of their country, there may be cited John McRae, who wrote "Flanders Field"; Joyce Kilmer and Rupert Brooke. Each gave his life.

Mr. MacLeish is, like his predecessor, Eugene Ware, somewhat of a topical versifier, but a much better poet. He frankly teams up poetry and propaganda—always for democracy as a faith and not as an institution.

On his graduation from Yale in 1915, he was grooved into a business career by his parents, and was surprisingly good at that too. Disregarding his parents' warnings that there were "no gold mines on Parnassus," he knocked off and made his career as a poet—on up to and beyond his winning of the $1,000 Pulitzer prize for his poem "Conquistador" in 1933. During the current war years, he has driven a sharp lance against our pre-war artificers of literary lace-work and their companionate wanderers in foggy introspection. He was born in Gloucester, Ill.

Wear a Collection Of Pins and Clips

If you wear your fancy jewelry clips and pins as fashion dictates you will look like a military heroine displaying a collection of honor medals. The latest is to wear, not merely a single clip or pin but a whole bevy of them. It works somewhat like the charm bracelet idea. You collect versatile clips and display them on your blouse or lapel. You can get twin clips, triplet, quadruplet and even quintuplet groups. This is especially so in regard to butterfly motifs. A flock of jeweled wings is often seen fluttering on the new costumes. Some of the clip sets have, say, three units which are held in leash with delicate link chains. Makes a stunning effect.

Enormous glittering flower sprays will be worn on fur coats this winter, or will be worn with the simple basic dark dress to take the place of trimming or other ornamentation. The return of long necklaces is also important jewelry news.

Luxurious Fabrics May Soon Be Harder to Buy

Fabrics used in the fall collections almost overawe one with their elegance. Some merchants say this is the grand climax before we settle down to utilitarian weaves, and that lavish silks will be less and less available. However, the present handsome silks are setting the pace for rayon weaves produced in our own country that will reproduce handsome failles, satins, brocades, and so on.

Stiff silk weaves such as failles, taffetas, tie silks, lustrous, firm satins, and rich velvets are linked this season to the new slim silhouettes and are also being made up in stunning costume and evening blouses.

New Fall Bags

Long and narrow, beautifully appointed with the "last word" in contrivances to make life easier by safeguarding your valuables, and taking care of your "hanky," your lipstick and other make-up essentials, the new bags are everything you want them to be in convenience as well as esthetic appearance. An oriental influence is reflected in the initials which take a distinctly Chinese slant on the bag shown at the top. Bracelet, earclips, and twin lapel bowknot pins matching metal add a cosmopolitan touch. The new black suede bag shown below has a pocket and smart tucked detail.

Beloved Singer Pleaded For Mercy, Not Justice

The beloved Madame Schumann-Heink was a woman of rare charm and geniality. She was the first to make fun of her own shortcomings, and was often heard to comment good-humoredly on her decidedly matronly figure.

On one occasion, a fashionable portrait painter asked her to sit for her portrait. The plump opera star hesitated for a long while before making her decision.

"Don't be afraid, Madame," said the artist teasingly. "I'll do you justice."

"Ah," replied the prima donna, "it isn't justice I ask at your hands; it is mercy!"
