On April 3, 1917, the first armed American merchant ship, Aztec, was sunk near Brest by a German while cables were submarine. buzzing in the same waters with news of President Wilson's message to congress for a declaration of war. First to act, the senate adopted Resolution No. 1-introduced by Senator Martin of Virginia, which in 150 words pledged the nation's manpower and wealth to settling the state of war between the United States and Germany "which has been thrust upon us." The vote was 82 to 6. The six were LaFollette, Gronna, Lane, Stone, Vardaman and Harris. Harris shouted: "Unborn millions will bend their backs in toil in order to pay for the terrible step we are now about to take. I feel we are about to put the dollar sign upon the American flag."

John Sharpe Williams replied to this with: "If it be not treason, it grazes the edge of treason.'

Is it not time that some drastic steps were being taken to stop the killings on the highways? Two fatalities within a week is rather a gruesome record.

If all of our so-called service Word was received from F. Balclubs could be rolled into one and made a genuine boosters' organization, a saving of time, effort and money could be effected. And incidentally something worthwhile could be accomplished for the betterment of the community. So many "eating" clubs start off with lofty aims and purposes and in course of time fail to justify their existence, deteriorating into mutual admiration societies.

Stockpiles of Food for Peace

Here is what the U. S. Department of Agriculture means when it urges farmers to help produce "stockpiles of food for use after the war." The upper picture shows barrels of dried milk, just as good a year from now as today. The lower picture shows a warehouse filled with huge drums of cheese, even better with aging. These farm products, plus condensed milk, dried milk, cured pork, and canned meat and vegetables, constitute the stockpiles of defense food which, says Secretary Claude R. Wickard, will be needed by hungry Europe and "will exert the maximum influence at the peace conference table."

O'Neil said that it all depends on how much fight the reserves show in practice sessions as to how many will make the trip. If the reserves all get in and show a lot of determination and desire to make the trip he will take 22 players but if some of them continue to loaf in practice there will be but 19 on the traveling squad. The club will leave Ashland

Thursday morning and probably have a light work-out in Salem where they will probably stay all night and go on to Astoria Fri-day morning. They will return to Ashland sometime Saturday night.

JEAN FRIDEGER ON U OF O PUBLICITY COMMITTES

Jean Frideger of Ashland, a sophomore at the University of Oregon, has been appointed executive secretary of the publicity committee for the annual Homecoming celebration.

She is a student in business administration at the university and a graduate of Ashland high school.

Rodgers will continue to assist as in Klamath Falls with Mrs. Mary Hyatt.

Questionable Show Manager Reported

It has been reported that a Rev. L. A. Lambert of the National Bureau of Religious and Educational films is working in this section of Oregon. His method of working is to contact schools and churches to arrange for the showing of his films for which a collection is taken. A record of the Better Business Bureau of Rochester, Inc. serves as a warning for anyone doing business with Rev. Lambert. The bureau's files show that Lambert has been involved in a series of questionable business deals and unpaid bills since 1923. Rev. Bruce of the Ashland Methodist church who has had a previous experience with Lam-bert indicated that his films were extremely inferior.

It is also reported that Rev. Lambert places clasified ads in local papers for young men to travel with his crew.

Lions Continue Study

Safety of pedestrians on downtown streets again drew the attention of Ashland Lions at their dinner meeting at the Lithia hotel Tuesday evening.

Discussion centered around the advisability of crosswalk signs particularly in California. Consideration also was given to communications from Secretary of State Earl Snell and Traffic Engineer John Beakey. The letter from Snell was quite favorable for the signs while the letter from Beakey game. tended to oppose the project and advised a "go slow" policy in adopting the signs. Before adjourning the group voted unanimously in favor of crosswalk signs and advised the safety comproblem.

School Patrol Wins Praise of Motorists

Members of the Ashland schools safety patrol went into action Monday morning and from all reports they are conducting themselves like veterans and attracting favorable comments from all those who have seen them on duty.

Patrol members are now duty at the crosswalks at the Washington school and junior high school and at the intersection of Iowa street and Siskiyou boulevard. Their responsibility is to see to the safety of their fellow students at the crossings during the noon hour and before and after school.

The uniform of the young pa trolmen consists of yellow helmets and yellow Sam Brown belts with white raincoats to be worr in bad weather.

The city police and the Ashland Lions club cooperated in laying the plans and sponsoring the patrol which from all indications will become a permanent activity of the schools.

Donald Rude of San Mateo visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rude over the week-end.

LOWE BLAMED IN FATAL ACCIDENT

Number 45

A coroner's jury meeting Mon-day night on the accident which killed John R. Keach of Missoula, Mont, returned findings that the accident was due to negligence on the part of Marion Edward Lowe of Hornbrook, driver of the other car. In view of this evidence, Lowe will be charged with negligent homicide, according to District Attorney George W. Neilson.

The head-on collision occurred Sunday morning on the Pacific highway about two miles south of Ashland. Lowe, who was traveling north, testified that Keach was approaching on the wrong side of the road and that he swerved into Keach's lane to avoid a crash, but. Lowe testified, Keach also swerved into the lane in time to cause the terrific head-on crash. However, evidence submitted by State Policeman Phil Stansbury convinced the jury that Lowe was at Both cars were demolished by the impact and Arlene Daisy Murry, 19, of Ashland, a passenger in the Lowe machine, suffered two broken legs, while Lowe luckily escaped with minor injuries. The Community hospital reports that Miss Murry's condition, which was at first considered critical is now satisfactory.

Juniors Close Season At Grants Pass Tonite

Al Simpson's so far undefeated junior high football team will close a successful season tonight when they face the Grants Pass frosh on the Grants Pass turf at 8 o'clock. REV. FATHER BRUENAGEL

The Rev. Father Henry Bruenagel, 71, passed away at the Community hospital Thursday afternoon of last week following an illness of several days caused by injuries received in an accident. Father Bruenagel was born in Cologne, Germany. For his orders in the priesthood, he studied at Rome, Italy and St. Paul, Minn. He retired in 1936 because of ill health. His survivors include four cousins, Miss Ann Koenig of Ashland, Miss Mary Koenig and Henry Koenig of Bowman, N. D. and Ben Koenig of Minneapolis. Rosary was held at the Litwiller Funeral home Friday night and last rites were observed in the Portland cathedral Monday.
