The Paper That Has Something To Say--And Says It!

THIS AND THAT

By OLD TIMER

To the Editor:

We are pleased to note that there is a campaign now on to eliminate the abbreviation "Xmas" for Christmas. When we substitute the unknown quantity (X) we lose the reason for our observance of Christmas. We need more than ever to realize the true import of Christmas.

By the time we have joined the Red Cross, bought Christmas seals and donated to the Christmas party fund, some of us will be lucky to have a nickel left for a Christmas cigar.

We again rise to remark that the parking of automobiles so close to the street crossings, thereby obstructing the view of traffic, is a menace to public safety and should not be tolerated.

Our prisons are hardly more than retreats, sanitariums, country clubs, where the tired criminal recuperates for new projects.

It is reported that enough silk stockings will be given for Christmas to keep skirts short another year.

We used to send missionaries to the Hawaiian Islands. Now we send football players.

Credit Is Given for Navy Enlistments

Secretary Knox of the navy department has announced that local communities are given credit for each naval recruit and that local selective service quotas are reduced accordingly.

Every young man who joins the navy or naval reserve thus helps to fill the local selective service quota. Young men within selective service age limits who have not been deferred would do well to consider the opportunities the US navy offers for specialized training and advancement while serving their country in its emergency.

Age limits for the regular navy are 17 to 31, and for the naval reserve the limits are 17 to 50. All applicants under 21 must have the written consent of their parents or guardians.

Many Players Report for Basketball Squad

Nearly 40 prospective basketball players have reported to Coach Jerry Gastineau for the Ashland high Grizzlies' 1941-42 squad. Practice is being held every night in the junior high gym. Gastineau and his assistant coach, Frank O'Neil, do not plan to cut the squad for at least two weeks. Under this plan, every player will have an equal chance to make the varsity team. Those not qualifying for the main squad will be taken by O'Neil and have a schedule of their own arranged.

The Grizzlies open their season against Redmond there Dec. 11 and play Bend there Dec. 12 and 13.

Sons Prepare for Season Opener Dec. 12

Basketball practice has started at the college gym for seven regulars and three reserves of last year's Southern Oregon College of Education team under the direction of Jean Eberhart.

The Sons open their 1941-42 campaign here Dec. 12 and 13 with Eastern Oregon providing the competition. Last year the SOCE and EOCE teams tied for the Oregon Intercollegiate basketball crown.

Eberhart also was greeted by six new men and is expecting others when the winter quarter starts.

Another fatal accident occurred on the Pacific highway south of Ashland Wednesday evening when Mrs. Etta Florence Burns, 41, a nurse in the Shasta Dam hospital, was instantly killed when the car in which she was riding overturned.

There was no other car involved in the accident. The report of the state highway patrol indicated that the road surface was wet but not icy. Chester Royce, of the U. S. bureau of reclamation at Redding, Calif., who accompanied Mrs. Burns, escaped without injury. The car, a 1941 Chevrolet coupe, was badly damaged.

The army truck skidded and nosed into a ditch, but the victims were not seriously hurt and were placed in an army ambulance which proceeded north with the convoy.

Holly Gift Shipments Need no Inspection

The individual who wants to include some cut holly in Christmas gift packages or who wants to send a package of cut holly or other Yuletide greenery need not worry about getting inspection on the shipment.

The state department of agriculture points out that this year, as in the past several years, all gift shipments of cut holly may be made to any point without inspection, certification or license. No inspection stickers are needed for such shipments and the department is informed by the post office officials that such shipments may be labeled properly as merchandise.

Christmas trees, salal, huckleberry, fir, cedar boughs and other cut greenery may be shipped also without necessity for inspection.

Only commercial shipments of holly are handled through the department of agriculture and any commercial shippers who have questions to ask should get in touch with the nearest department inspector.

TRUCK SURVEY NOT COMPLETE

Truck and bus owners who have not yet filled out and returned national defense inventory questionnaires received a second card this week from the secretary of state's office.

Accompanying the second questionnaire was the reminder that immediate completion of the survey is essential to national defense plans, according to Secretary of State Earl Snell, who is in charge of the inventory in Oregon. Government plans for the mobilization of highway transportation in case of emergency depends upon segregation and analysis of the information sought in the survey.

Seventy percent of the questionnaire cards sent out in Oregon have been returned to date, Snell said, declaring this was one of the best returns reported in the nation. The second mailing of questionnaire cards went to the remaining 30 percent.

Light delivery and pick-up trucks are included in the truck and bus inventory and owners of these vehicles are asked to fill out the questionnaires, the secretary of state said. Many owners have thought their vehicles were not included in the category of trucks, but for the purposes of the defense inventory, these vehicles are to be considered as trucks.

Snell stressed the fact that the government is not intending to take vehicles out of commercial use at a time when they are needed for private service, nor does it intend to use privately owned vehicles without giving adequate compensation. All owners whose vehicles are desired will be asked to hire or lease them voluntarily at a time when they are not needed by the owners.

The well known Roth String Quartet will give a concert at the Southern Oregon College of Education at 8:15 Monday evening, Dec. 8.

Some of their recent appearances have been at the 18th Festival of the International Society for Contemporary Music held in the United States for the first time this year and at a series of concerts at the University of Southern California, Stanford university and the University of Kansas City.

Recently Erno Balogh composed a new work for them which they are including in their programs this year. During the summer they were in Hollywood where they appeared in a picture based on Schubert's life directed by Alexander Korda.

Those in charge of the arrangements for the concert state that this is really a rare opportunity for residents of southern Oregon to hear in person an organization that they have enjoyed many times on the radio. The stage is all set, details are complete and Ashland merchants will ring up the curtain on the 1941 Christmas opening here this evening, offering a preview of new Christmas merchandise and starting what is expected to be a new record for local Christmas buying.

Highlighted by the appearance of Santa Claus at 7 p. m., coming direct from his North Pole workshop and bringing a large variety of free noisemakers for the youngsters of the Ashland trading area, the affair is expected to draw a capacity throng of 10,000 persons. Windows are to be unveiled at 7:45 p. m., after old St. Nick has given the youngsters their favors.

The high school band, under the direction of Gordon Tripp, will be on hand during the evening, providing Christmas music for the occasion. Ashland street decorations were being completed late yesterday.

SPRAGUE FAVOR OF SEAL SALE

Governor Charles A. Sprague added his voice this week in support of the 35th annual Christmas seal sale, which opened Monday and is being conducted over the state by the Oregon Tuberculosis association and affiliated county public health associations.

In pointing out the progress which has been made in control of the disease Governor Sprague commented:

"Fifty years ago tuberculosis was considered incurable. It now is common knowledge that the disease can be prevented and cured.

"Yet the chances of becoming a victim of tuberculosis are still great, when approximately 400 citizens of our state leave their homes every year to seek care in our three tuberculosis hospitals. And there are about 2000 others ill of the disease. Probably half are unaware that they have it."

Oregon is attempting to raise $90,000 through seal sales this year, according to Lewis H. Mills, Oregon Tuberculosis association president. Ninety-five percent of this sum will remain in Oregon to be used by the Oregon Tuberculosis association and the county public health groups. Five percent will be sent to the National Tuberculosis association.
