NEWS FROM Lincoln School
By SCHOOL PUPILS

The children of Room 6 have elected new officers and room monitors. The president is Venita Roberson; vice president, Loretta Rush, and secretary, Camille Frulan.

Nov. 21, Nancy Beers of Room 6 moved to Klamath Falls. The same day Jeannine Presley went to her home in Burns. All of the children miss them very much.

On Tuesday, some of the children of Lincoln school went to the high school to see a movie about traffic safety. Stanley Church, director of traffic safety, told them how pedestrians can help prevent auto accidents. He also told them about bicycle safety. The picture showed very clearly the rules for traffic safety.

Navy Recruits 180 Men in This District

Lt. Glenn F. DeGrawe, officer in charge of navy recruiting in this area, announced Tuesday that this territory "shipped" a total of 180 men during the month of November.

The following breakdown reveals the sources from which the men were taken:
Portland 47, Medford 21, Salem 16, Corvallis 12, Spokane 12, Marshfield 10, Eugene 9, Walla Walla 9, Lewiston 9, Baker 9, Klamath Falls 7, McMinnville 6, La Grande 6, Bend 5, The Dalles 1, Astoria 1.

The accepted applicants represent almost 33 percent of all those who applied, 533 having made application throughout the district during the month. This boosts the

HINDSIGHT ON SPORTS

By I TOLD YOU SO

The people who run the athletic department of the Myrtle Point high school apparently are smarter than some people give them credit for being. A few weeks ago a sports column in a Medford paper took several digs at Myrtle Point for not accepting Medford high's challenge to a Thanksgiving day football game to be played in Medford.

At the time, both schools were undefeated in class A high school football competition. Medford wanted the game so as to eliminate one of the other from the state's mythical title race. According to the Medford paper, Myrtle Point refused the challenge because they thought Medford was too tough for their team.

This department would rather think Myrtle Point officials had a premonition of what was to come on Medford's regularly-scheduled game with the then once-beaten Ashland Grizzlies. If that be true, Myrtle Point officials can take a bow for their premonition was correct. As you will well remember, Ashland smacked down the highly-rated Black Tornado to the tune of 20 to 13. This happened on the Medford turf on the evening of Nov. 7. Why then, should Myrtle Point have signed for a game with Medford who had once been beaten? This, understand, is if Myrtle Point officials had the premonition that Ashland wasn't going to bite the dust at the hands of the Pearpickers.

And then there is the little incident at The Dalles last Friday night when a guy named Keith DeCourcy riddled the Medford line to bits to run up a 28 to 0 score. Maybe Myrtle Point had a premonition about this too. Maybe, in general, they thought Medford just wasn't of championship material and don't deserve to be "raked over the coals" for their refusal to play Medford.
