Christmas Traffic Jams

Your telephone company hardly ever has traffic jams—except on Christmas. To handle the Christmas long distance traffic we would have to double the highways of speech between many places, and leave most of them idle the other 364 days of the year.

We will have everything we've got ready for this year's Christmas rush. Far more people than normal will be working Christmas Eve and Day. But if everyone wants to talk long distance as they did last year there will be traffic jams and delays. If your calling that day isn't particularly urgent it would help a lot if you called early Christmas week or a day or two after the holiday.

Thank you.
