Defense Plans Made For U of O Campus

Students returning to the University of Oregon at the beginning of winter term on Jan. 5 will find that a complete defense system has been worked out for the campus, it was announced in Eugene by Dr. Donald M. Erb, president of the university.

While Eugene is not in a defense area and therefore much less likely to be attacked than many other schools on the Pacific coast, university officials are taking every precaution for the protection of students and property, Dr. Erb pointed out.

All students will be instructed in civilian defense work and many will be given the opportunity of enrolling in special classes. It is expected that students on their return home at the end of the school year will be able to play an important part in the defense work of their home communities.

War Hero to Speak

Ashland people will have an unique opportunity to hear a famous Bible teacher, author, world traveler and first world war hero when Colonel F. J. Miles speaks in the First Baptist church from Jan. 18 to 23. He will speak three times on Sunday, including a mass meeting at 3 o'clock, and each evening Monday to Friday following at 7:30 p. m.

Colonel Miles was senior chaplain with the "Aussies" and saw service in Gallipoli, Mesopotamia, Palestine and the Western front. He was decorated three times by the late King George of Great Britain for bravery and self-sacrifice, receiving the Distinguished Service Order and the Order of the British Empire, two of the highest honors conferred.

Dr. Miles was at one time president of the Christian Endeavor Union of Great Britain and Ireland. For some years now he has been field secretary for the Russian Missionary society. He knows Russia well from having been there at various times. He is at present touring the United States and Canada holding Bible conferences in various centers. It is rarely that Ashland can secure such an outstanding Christian man.

"THANK YOU—from all of us"

"Just before Christmas, we told you that we would appreciate your lending us a hand over the Holiday Season by not sending greetings by Long Distance.

"We asked this in order to help keep the lines available for calls important to defense.

"In spite of all our extra operators could do, there were many more calls than could be handled without delay. We are exceedingly sorry for the delay, but grateful for the friendly cooperation you gave us all through these busy days. Thank you. It really helped a lot.

"We assure you that we will do our level best, under existing conditions, to render you the finest service possible during the coming year."
