Priorities for Farm Machinery Received

A detailed list of materials allocations for manufacture of all types of farm machinery and equipment during the coming year has been received by Robert B. Taylor, Adams, chairman of the Oregon USDA defense board. The list, based on the OPM order restricting materials for manufacture of new machinery to 83 percent of the 1940 figure, and materials for parts to 150 percent, will be available at county USDA defense board offices.

The program set up by OPM further emphasizes the need of prompt ordering of parts and necessary new equipment on the part of farmers, Taylor said. Distribution of what new equipment that is made will probably be on the basis of demand and need, and it is up to farmers to express their needs by ordering now, he advised.

GUILD MET FRIDAY

The Martha Gillette guild of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Miss Nina Emery last Friday evening. Assisting hostesses were Miss Hazel Stephens and Miss Edna Goheen. Miss Edith Bork presided at the business meeting and Mrs. Arthur Wick led devotions. Miss Edna Goheen, who was program chairman, introduced Mrs. Bertha Winter, who told of interesting experiences on her recent trip to Alaska.

Nation's Youth Bolster Men Behind U. S. Guns

PORTLAND—(Special)—Every thirty days Oregon NYA supplies 333 of the national total of 36,400 shop-trained NYA youth who join the battle of production behind the men behind U. S. guns, according to a report just made public by Aubrey Williams, administrator of the National Youth Administration.
"Under the defense program the NYA makes available practical shop experience to youth between 17 and 24 years of age," the report states.

"Emphasis is placed on preparation of workers to do the jobs required in ship building, aviation, machine tools and the mechanized branches of the armed forces. Young men are groomed for war production jobs by doing similar jobs on NYA projects. From February 1, 1941, to December 1, 1941, a total of 2,845 Oregon youth have gone from NYA projects to jobs in private industry."
The report indicates a complete streamlining of the NYA program throughout the country with emphasis on quick basic training along lines where a scarcity of defense workers may be expected in the immediate future.

According to Administrator Williams, a grand total of 374,451 youth went from the NYA program to jobs in private industry from February to December of this year. Total number of youth at present employed nationally in NYA work experience shops and resident centers is 242,000.
