Further Restrictions on Telephone Installations Are Necessary to Save Materials Vital to the War

The latest War Production Board Order further restricts the use by telephone companies of materials essential to the war effort. It restricts the building of cable or wire lines for the installation of new telephones, both business and residence, if more than a minimum of construction is involved—except for service necessary in the war effort or for public health, welfare and safety. It requires much wider use of party-line service.

The reason for these restrictions is to save additional quantities of critical materials used in providing telephone service—such as copper, aluminum, tin, steel, magnesium, zinc, nickel. These materials are urgently needed for the Nation's planes, tanks, guns, ships, munitions. They are VITAL TO VICTORY.

To install one extension telephone may require no more than 30 or 40 feet of copper wire, but to install thousands of them takes enough copper to wire a fleet of bombers.

The immediate effect of these restrictions upon the public will vary in different localities, depending upon what, if any, facilities are available. If you should be unable to secure the service you want, we know you will understand why. The temporary sacrifice of your personal convenience will make a worth while contribution to VICTORY—it is a real part of the price of protecting LIBERTY.
