HINDSIGHT ON SPORTS

By I TOLD YOU SO

Barney Riggs, young catcher with the Ashland high school baseball team this spring, got his first trout with the Medford Craters last night at the Craters park. Riggs was asked to report for a 7:30 p. m. batting practice prior to the league scheduled Grants Pass-Medford game.

It was through the efforts of this column that Riggs was first brought to the attention of Dutch Lieber, Crater manager, and the sports department of the Miner takes a bow for getting Riggs on the roster.

Whether or not Riggs will see action in any games with the Craters this year remains to be seen and will rest on his ability shown in practice, according to Lieber. But Barney doesn't care if he doesn't get to play this season for he knows he is getting the break all young baseball-minded youngsters dream of in getting in with a league and having the opportunity to learn the finer points of the national pastime which he cannot obtain in high school ball.

Barney says he will do his best and try not to let his friends down. He is indeed grateful for the chance the Miner has obtained for him and his friends hereabout wish him every success with the Craters.

John (turning over): "Oh you two just fight it out yourselves."

Game Commission Adopts Measures For 1942 Hunting

Nineteen forty-two regulations were formulated by the Oregon State Game commission at its hearing on June 13 but final action will not be taken until the meeting is reconvened on June 27. This will allow those who have any objections an opportunity to present them to the commission before the formal order is made.

A limited number of permits will be issued again for the taking of cow elk, antelope and antlerless deer. These permits will not be issued until after August 1 and all applications received prior to that date will be held and considered received as of August 1. If by that time more applications are on hand than the quota of tags to be issued, a drawing will be held. Otherwise, the permits will be issued in the order applications are received.

Due to lack of sufficient personnel to man checking stations this year, hunters will not be required to check in and out of the special hunting areas at designated checking stations. Instead each hunter will be furnished, at the time his tag is issued, a special check-out form which he will be required to fill out and send to the game commission office immediately upon completion of his hunting trip.

Prince Exhibits Savage Tendencies in Monday Bout

Medford armory will be the scene of another outstanding wrestling program next Monday night when Promoter Mack Lillard presents another of his heavy weight cards.

Prince Selaki Mihalkis returned to Medford last Monday after a two year absence and Lillard expects to be able to sign him again next Monday. Mihalkis, widely known throughout the valley both in and out of the ring, exhibited a lot of rough stuff against George Craig last Monday which is contrary to his past Medford matches.

Sockeye Jack McDonald won his second straight main event last time out by stopping giant Chief Thunderbird and Lillard is in search of some outstanding man to give McDonald a tough tussle. However, Lillard says he will be unable to announce a lineup until late today or tomorrow.
