MINUTE SERMON—

WEARY

Text: "A word in season to him that is weary." Isa. 50:4.

Weary knows no season. It takes no holidays. It is bound by no rules, recognizes no orders, holds none in awe, and cares not for name or fame. The paralyzing grip of it lays hold on the one "bowed by the weight of the centuries" and on him in exalted position.

The world is so full of so many tired, weary, and heavy-laden. The cry of a weary humanity echoes and re-echoes across the desert places of life. "O God, how tired, how very tired I am" comes from the lips of nameless millions. The farmer lifting his tired gaze across depleted fields, a soldier boy exhausted with overwhelming demands upon his strength, a mother harassed with the countless drains upon her heart and soul, a merchant prince caught in the whirl and rush of heartless competition, — yes, their name is legion, these tired, weary people.

What then? Always, always life turns for good or woe on two things. Nearest simply because it is most easily understood is the response of others to our needs. Their good "word in season" is our restoration, our help and our comfort, and our strength in times of weariness. But who are others? Why just you and I. For the weary one I am part of that great band of "others." At the peril of my soul I withhold that word that might ring so grandly in the heart of some tired, beaten, discouraged one.

Who can measure the strengthening uplift of a word in season to him that is weary, a human word spoken from a human heart?

But beyond any human comfort is the sustaining grace of God. "Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest." Jesus said that. He said that as the very voice of God. It is the word in season that we would share with you, a secret we would proclaim from the housetops.

When human resources break down or fail, when our own strength is as a "broken spear or spent arrow," when life tumbles in and a great weariness drags us down, then in that hour of need Jesus with tender authority "Come unto me and I will give you rest."

WITH THIS ISSUE—

The Miner is very happy in engaging the service of Ken Powell of Central Point American to come here and assist us in publishing our paper. We are greatly indebted to him. We are unable to get a linotype as yet and Mr. Powell left his own business to come here and help us out.

Campaign for Key Collection Till Oct. 15

The local campaign for the collection of old keys started this week and is to continue until October 15th. The collection is sponsored by the Paper and Twine Club of America, a national organization of paper men.

R. C. Wright, resident manager of Blake Moffitt & Towne, Medford is in charge of the local drive.

It is estimated that the supply of old keys in the United States totals 12,000,000 pounds. Old keys contain 80% nickel silver a vital metal needed by our Navy.

All proceeds from the sale of the metal is to be given to USO.

MAYBE HE DIDN'T NEED IT

A high wind struck the barn of Earl Smith at Paola, Kansas. Two weeks later he was rebuilding it when lightning struck and burned it. He had just placed the finishing touches on a new barn when another twister knocked it over.

BUGGIES SOLD

Buggies are back in the mid-west sale rings. Two were auctioned at the Shenandoah Live Stock Market at Shenandoah, Iowa, and one brought $25. More are expected to be sold after that good price.

WAR ENTREE—POPCORN

Sorority rushes at the University of Washington at Seattle, Wash., used to get those oooh! formal dinners and luncheons. This year they're getting popcorn balls and caramelized apples.

WHAT'S IN YOUR HEART

A MOUSE that dwelt near the abode of a great magician was kept in such constant distress by its fear of a cat that the magician taking pity on it, turned it into a cat itself. Immediately it began to suffer from its fear of a dog, so the magician turned it into a dog.

Then it began to suffer from fear of a tiger. The magician, therefore, turned it into a tiger. Then it began to suffer from fear of hunters, and the magician said in disgust: Be a mouse again, it is impossible to help you by giving you the body of a noble animal.

The thing that's in your heart—whether it be courage, or fear, love or hate—niggardliness or nobility—is going to manifest itself in your life. You can't, for long, camouflage the real you.

The man with the average mentality, but with control; with a definite goal, and a clear conception of how it can be gained, and, above all, with the power of application and labor, wins in the end.—Taft.

The man who grasps principles can successfully select his own methods. The man who tries methods, ignoring principles, is sure to have trouble.—Emerson.

The happy man is one who can turn a job into an opportunity.

It's common sense to be thrifty. If you save you are thrifty. War Bonds help you to save and help to save America. Buy your ten per cent every pay day.

SALVAGE AND SCRAP

The urgency of the scrap salvage drive increases as winter approaches. For, in many sections of the country snow will definitely retard scrap collection. And our steel mills can't wait for needed scrap.

Time is pressing. Our efforts must be redoubled to get in the scrap before snow flies. We cannot let our steel furnaces become idle for want of scrap. We cannot let our boys on the world's far-flung battle fronts suffer for want of weapons made of steel.

Charley: "Leave all hooch alone."
Art: "Why?"
Charley: "Because now they have cross-word puzzle hooch."
Art: "What is that? Never heard of it."
Charley: "You drink it virtual and they carry you out horizontal."

If you're a heartsick wife — mother — or sweetheart... you do a lot to give that boy a better chance to get back safe Well then... do it!

SOMEONE'S LIFE IS IN YOUR HANDS!

ROUND up your scrap metal—it's needed to make steel. Steel for armor plate to protect him from bombs and bullets. Steel for weapons to help him do the job that must be done before he can come home again.

You don't want production figures. It's enough to know that 50% of all new steel is made of scrap—that our steel mills now have only enough scrap in sight to last another 30 days at the most!

What happens after that depends on all of us. If production falls and you've not done your part, will you rest easy?

Next week we're starting a collection drive—to build the biggest stockpile of scrap metal you've ever seen. Then when the mills need it, we'll have it—because you came through... for his sake!
