Mrs. Edyth Austin of Los Angeles, Calif., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Logan.

BELLVIEW NOTES

The Upper Valley Community Club met Wednesday, November 11 at the Grange Hall. Mrs. F. Boe and Mrs. Fred Engle were in charge of the program. Mrs. A. C. Joy and Mrs. John Hellmeyer were hostesses for the afternoon.

Any club member or any one who can have one or more soldiers to Thanksgiving dinner can phone Mrs. R. D. Reynolds, President of the club.

The Home Extension Unit met at the Grange Hall Wed., Nov. 18 holding an all day session. Mrs. Ferrell, The Home Demonstration Agent, presented the project "A Square Deal Meal". Mrs. Carl Henry and Mrs. Chester Applegate were hostesses for the covered dish luncheon served at noon. During the afternoon meeting the new officers were installed.

The Bellview P. T. A. will hold their regular meeting Wednesday evening November 25. The pupils will present a Thanksgiving program and three teachers, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Nye, and Miss Ronetvelt will be given a reception after the program.

The gas rationing board under the supervision of the teachers aided by resident helpers will be in session at the school house from 3 o'clock until 9 P.M. each day Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 19, 20 and 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Axel Jr. and two sons from Klamath Falls spent last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Axel Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Moore and daughter Barbara returned recently from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Moore and son of Eugene and they also visited on the coast for a few days.

The Bellview pupils are enjoying hot lunches which began last Monday. Mrs. J. Z. Walker is in charge of the cafeteria and each pupil will bring 5 cents per day to help pay expenses but pupils who are unable to furnish any money, the P.T.A. will pay the amount so that all may have the privilege of these hot lunches.

Mrs. Arthur Dankworth underwent a very major operation at the Community hospital Tuesday morning. She and her daughter Janelle just returned Sunday from a 10 days stay at San Francisco where they visited Mrs. Dankworth's brother C. C. Cooper and she also consulted specialists at the Stanford Clinic.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Martin returned Sunday from a week's visit with relatives at Santa Cruz and Hayward, California.

Mr. Earl Hamilton and Rev. J. Z. Walker made a trip to Cave Junction Sunday. Mrs. Milton Hamilton accompanied them as far as Grants Pass where she visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Eastman.

The young man at our information both did not quite catch the name of a visitor who called. "Pardon me, madam," he said politely, "but do you spell it with an 'e'?" "H-I-L-L," replied the lady with dignity.

Farm Outlook For 1943 Shows Many Adjustments Due

The wartime farm outlook calls for further adjustments in Oregon farm business operations and more careful planning of farm production and marketing operations than usual, according to a summary of prospective conditions in 1943 prepared by L. R. Breithaupt, Oregon State college extension agricultural economist.

Mr. L. Breithaupt returned recently from the annual national outlook conference in Washington, D. C. He assumed that the war will continue through 1943 and probably longer, causing the demand for farm products to be even greater than in 1942, he reports.

Although prices for some farm products are expected to average higher next year than in 1942, owing to supply-demand conditions, price ceilings will offset much of the upward pressure on farm prices resulting from great increase in demand. It is also probable that gross agricultural production will be smaller and farm expenses higher. Farmers will experience greater difficulties in producing and marketing maximum amounts of farm war products because of a shortage of labor and transportation. Growing conditions are not likely to be as much more favorable as in 1942.

The family living outlook, while relatively good, is not quite as favorable as last year either, the conference decided. The civilian population of the United States will have to get along with somewhat less food, for example, despite a record volume of production in 1942 and carry-over reserves.

Overseas shipments to military forces and the countries associated with America in the war will require an estimated 20 per cent of the food compared with the 10 per cent in 1942. The demand for meat, dairy products, eggs, sugar, potatoes, and vegetables is expected to be greater than the supply. The supply of cereals used for human food is large and will continue sufficient through 1943, even if production next year is only average.

story written by one of our Volunteers. Another soldier's wife through our help has landed the job she has been so eager to find. Many little services to soldiers were recorded on reports over the weekend such as, "gave out shaving kit, towels for showers, wrote a letter for a soldier, who was trying to catch a bus, and his mother, helped a soldier prepare his breakfast, discussed a book with a soldier, helped find living quarters, and started a quiz program." Each one of these going toward making Ashland USO a second home.

The barbequed franks for Cook Your Own Dinner were furnished by Mrs. Will Dodge, Mrs. Ed Doyle and Mr. Mike Tucker and the dessert of Homemade Cakes by Mesdames: P. S. Provost, F. F. Whittle, Gordon McCracken and Gerald Wenner.

The Sing-Song ended with a kitchen party, eating the leftover barbequed franks after feeding 50 or 60 in the afternoon, with Rudolph Haybrook of the National Fire Service, of London, England as guest of honor. They all sat around the kitchen hearing about some of the American Recreation Centers in England helping some volunteers in building morale in that war bound country.

Corp. Stanley Scheinbaum is developing his radio technique and his latest program "The soldiers speaks up for Home Hospitality" went on the X air this morning.

The twenty participants in the USO Ping-Pong Tournament have all been eliminated now, except our two undefeated players, servicemen Stoner and Cruz. The tournament has been running for two weeks, and just to add to the suspense, the final match will not be played off until next Saturday, the 21st.

The two girls who ventured as far as the first line in the tournament were straight-way defeated. "There are some good players here, fellas, I know, I was one of those two girls," says Jo Peachy, junior hostess in charge.

The tournament was arranged under the direction of Miss Opal Lintz, substitute director of the USO.

LET'S SERVE PORK For it's a meat gusty in flavor and rich in Vitamin B Dorothy Greig

Barbecued Pork Spareribs served on Sauerkraut is a dish blessed with both flavor and vitamins.

MOTHER was in one of her snorty moods. "Whoever thought up all this vitamin and minerals business anyway?" she demanded. "Makes good food sound like medicine." Just between us girls, it does a little, don't you think? Instead of waxing feverish over such intricacies, let's relax and think of vitamins and minerals simply in terms of good food: Milk every day for everyone, young and old. A quart for youngsters, a pint for grown-ups—in foods or to drink. Lots and lots of fruits and vegetables, raw and cooked—every day, rain or shine. (No, darling, nibbling raw carrots won't put a curl in your hair, just help give you keen eyesight.) Wholewheat cereals and wholewheat or enriched bread. (They'll make you grow, Janey, and bring roses to your cheeks.) An egg a day—and count in those used in cooking. Butter and other spreads—every day, too. Meat (or poultry or fish) once a day is not hard to take, certainly. Well, that's good and healthful eating. Now on the meat question, here are several recipes for dishes made of pork, suggested because pork fairly bulges with Vitamin B. (There are those vitamins popping up again in the conversation!).

With meat rationing, too, these recipes offer careful ways to make meat go a long way.

Barbecued Pork Spareribs
2 pounds spareribs
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon celery seed
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon paprika
1/4 cup brown sugar (firmly packed)
Mix together the salt, celery seed, chili powder, paprika and brown sugar, then rub over the spareribs. Broil on each side for about 8 minutes with the top of meat about three inches from the flame until the spareribs are well browned. Place in roasting pan and pour the Tomato Sauce over the spareribs.
Tomato Sauce:
1 can condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup water
2 teaspoons vinegar
1/2 tablespoon brown sugar
Bake covered in moderate oven (350° F) for one and one-half hours, basting every 30 minutes. Serves 4 to 5.

Baked Ham Ring
1 1/2 pounds raw ham, ground
1/2 pound fresh pork, ground
1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 can condensed tomato soup
2 eggs
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Combine all ingredients and mix well. Pack into a buttered ring mold and bake in a moderate oven (350° F) for 45 minutes. Fill the center of the ring with cooked carrots. Serves 8.
