ASHLAND U. S. O.

evening were pleased to find a fortune teller in attendance. Many availed themselves of the opportunity to hear the past reported and the future foretold. Miss Cora Lane, USO director, stated that the fortune teller's powers of divination were authenticated when next day a visitor from Camp White appeared who had made the trip solely to interview the seeress, having heard such favorable reports from returning soldiers of the diviner's occult powers.

Mrs. Kay Huffman's Sunday evening sing-song at 8 p.m. is still one of the best liked activities of the weekend, that of last Sunday evening being particularly fine.

FLAW IN SALUTE—

William Charles Parrish, Dayton, Ohio, at San Diego, Calif., copied the uniform correctly, but he muffed the manners.
Parrish, 31, was jailed last week for unlawfully wearing military dress. F.B.I. Agent Harold Nathan said the disguise might not have been detected except—Parrish saluted enlisted men before they saluted him.

Challenge to DeWitt Needs Swift Appeal

The ruling of United States Judge Fee in Portland that Gen. DeWitt, commander of the Western Defense Area, is without authority over citizens in the absence of martial law is one that should be appealed swiftly to the United States Supreme Court.

It would be a great pity if the reasonable and moderate regulations of this sensible and efficient commander were to be set aside on technical grounds. The necessities of the Japanese situation in the Western States have been admirably served by Gen. DeWitt; but if Judge Fee is right, this region may have to go under martial law, since we need these regulations.

However, Judge Fee appears to have gone somewhat afield from what was before him and to have transgressed the beneficial rule that courts do not rule on more than is necessary to decide the main point at issue. A finding that Gen. DeWitt does have power over aliens and that the Japanese who appealed to Judge McFee from the alien curfew order had forfeited his citizenship would have sufficed to dispose of the matter, and the rest of what Judge Fee says looks like what lawyers call "obiter dicta." Obiter dicta, while it may be persuasive, is not considered as establishing a positive precedent.

Whether in his remarks on these possibly extraneous issues Judge Fee has considerably broadened the rule in the Milligan case seems to be a question. The Milligan decision referred to trial before military commissions, and there have been no trials before military commissions nor any attempted in the Western Defense Command. There seems, therefore, good ground for taking this case up to the highest court, and hope that there Gen. DeWitt's powers, as he has been exercising them, will be affirmed, without any necessity for overruling the Milligan case.

As a matter of strict law, Judge Fee may or may not be correct. The chances seem to be that he is not. There is always a sort of legal "no-man's land" when war forces the necessary intrusion of military rule into and alongside civil affairs, and oftentimes the particular questions have to be decided in the light of military exigencies. The effect of Judge Fee's ruling, if it is sustained, could be very unfortunate.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINTS

By Dr. James A. Tobey

HOW TO KEEP WARM THIS WINTER

Fuel for homes is rationed as a necessary war measure. Although our houses, offices, and schools will not be as warm as usual this winter, no one need suffer. It is easy to keep comfortable.

In the past most of us erred on the side of too much dry heat in our homes. Too many people have been accustomed to temperatures of 75 degrees or more, when 68 is ample for the health of normal persons in normal times.

Now we shall have to get along with temperatures of 65 degrees Fahrenheit. This should be no hardship to healthy individuals who dress properly and eat correctly. In households having young children, elderly persons, invalids, and the sick, more heat is permitted.

"Wear a sweater and help win the war," is a good slogan for practical use this winter. Heavier clothing, of which there is no scarcity, should be worn more generally, both indoors and out, particularly by women. The English tell us that properly clothed persons have no trouble in room temperatures as low as 60.

What we eat helps to keep us warm. Food is the fuel of the human machine, producing heat and energy for bodily functions. If we are well-nourished, cold weather affects us less, but the thin, anemic person always has difficulty in keeping warm.

A mild cushion of body fat is likewise good insulation against cold. Being only a trifle overweight is an advantage in winter. This does not mean, of course, that anyone should be grossly fat, which is a disadvantage at any time.

Foods of high caloric, or heat-producing, value are abundant in America. Wheat and bread are plentiful, and there is a liberal supply of milk and dairy products, vegetables, and meats such as lamb, veal, and poultry.

By eating plenty of enriched white bread and butter, whole grain cereals with milk or cream, solid vegetables, and meats, along with such other protective foods as fruits, eggs, and green leafy and yellow vegetables, good nutrition and health are promoted. Such a sensible daily diet helps you cope with the cold.

On Every Front

... General Electric equipment is fighting with America's land army. From the rolling kitchen to the front line, electricity works for victory.

1. In the factory electricity stitches the seams of tank armor, and on the battlefield it controls the operation of these spearheads of modern combat.

2. In induction center and field hospital, the X ray helps safeguard the health of our fighting men, aiding in the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

3. Far from the usual power sources, mobile power plants supply electricity for 800,000,000 candlepower searchlights by which a newspaper can be read 12 miles away.

4. Blitz war requires swift communications! On the soldier's back, in field and sky, radio co-ordinates the striking force of American army planes, guns, and tanks.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.
