CAMP WHITE NEWS NOTES

Camp White, Oregon, Jan. 25. Artillery firing will be conducted on the Beagle Range of Camp White reservation January 25 to 30 inclusive, it was announced today from headquarters. Firing will be carried on between the hours of 12 noon and 6 p. m. Beagle range is defined as the area nine miles north of Medford that lies in a rectangle six miles wide to the west of Rogue river and extends north 10 miles from the mouth of Little Butte creek. Military and civilian personnel are warned to stay out of the area unless they have business. Range guards will be posted to enforce

Pvt. Gerald McIntyre of Chicago, a fellow visitor, declared the occasion might be his birthday too, and claimed a good share of the cake. Both boys reported they had been coming to the Ashland USO regularly every week end, that they have been in the Service since last fall. They rounded out the party by a seance with the Saturday evening fortune teller and reported the result as encouraging, prognostication having included a "an early trip, a big success in life, and an increase in this order."

Star KP of Sunday afternoon at the USO was Pvt. John F. Evers, who evinced such skill in taking over the new task of bread slicing that in record time he had turned out enough thin slices to make all the sandwiches needed for the Sunday evening buffet service. Pvt. Evers stated that he had learned to cook at home; he does not like to cook by the book or recipe, but prefers to improvise. This occasion was Pvt. Evers first visit to Ashland. He stated he liked the home atmosphere of the Ashland USO. Being from Lincoln, Neb. he approved of the week-end snow which, he, said, reminded him of home.

Ruth Ball and Marita Wiltse, two Junior High School Camp Fire Girls, contributed their share this week to the war effort, by distributing and posting the USO weekly bulletins throughout the city, despite inclement weather.

THE CROSSROADS ARE BARE

NEW YORK CITY—Pleasure cars on Times Square were scarcer than hen's teeth on the morning after the OPA's emergency order, banning the sale of gasoline to holders of "A," "B," and "C" ration cards, went into effect. Once jammed with honking motor cars, "The Crossroads of the World" was quiet with only a few scattered taxis, trucks and busses in sight. Reluctant to use the little gas they might have left, New York's motorists took to the subways as soon as the order went through. Seventeen states on the Eastern seaboard were affected by the ruling.

WAR GOES ON IN THE SOLOMONS

War goes on in the Solomons with planes, warships and troops of both sides fighting every day. Sometimes fleets clash in major naval conflicts, but for the most part it is troop battles on Guadalcanal and raids on enemy bases by our big bombers that keep this vital front from Rabaul to Henderson Field alive with action.

ASHLAND U.S.O. NEWS NOTES

The regular meeting of the Service Men's Wives Club convened this week in the USO center dining room at a covered dish luncheon with twenty-two members present. Former chairman Mrs. Wesley Cartwright having moved away, a new chairman was elected, Mrs. S. H. Bur-on, from Mich. The co-chairman is Mrs. Julius Sahara from Chicago; the treasurer, Mrs. Frances Hunter from New Jersey.

After a short business meeting the club played cards. New members attending this meeting were from widespread regions of the country. They were Mrs. Betty Lee Hubbard, Mrs. Louise R. Orkin, Mrs. Harry Rhodes Jr., Mrs. Helen Shirk., and Mrs. Frances K. Willis. The chairman issued an invitation to all army wives newly arrived in Ashland to attend the next meeting at 12:30 Tuesday in the Ashland USO Center.

Miss Frances E. Dodds, USO director of Ashland, announces that the USO would greatly appreciate the loan of a sewing machine and a victrola. The victrola is especially needed for the Listeners Hour on Tuesday evening. Need for a sewing machine arises frequently. Anyone having either of the above in working condition which can be spared temporarily to the USO is asked to call Miss Dodds at the Ashland center.

The Ashland USO is sponsoring a ball, the Winter Formal, Wednesday evening, January 27. Plans for the affair are in the hands of the executive group, headed by Miss Mary Jean Hendricks assisted by Misses Marie Pocheln, Madge Mitchell, Dorothea Burkett, and Margaret Barnhouse.

The plans have been outlined under the general supervision of Miss Virginia Hales and Mrs. Frances White, sponsors of the Jr. Hostess League, and approved by Miss Frances E. Dodds, director of the Ashland USO. The committee announces plans are going through for elaborate decorations. Refreshments of ice cream and cake will be provided. Contrary to previous announcements the ball will be held in the Ashland USO clubhouse.

The Ashland USO reports the enlistment of an army wife as a volunteer worker in the USO along with local women who are standing by. Mrs. Frances Hunter is doing her bit on the home front while her husband, Lt. Alex. Hunter is serving with the Engineers, 91st Division, Camp White. Mrs. Hunter is doing regular shift in the USO hostess work, and in addition to this, has been assisting the USO office by doing extra typing or other clerical work in arrears.

Miss Frances E. Dodds, director of the Ashland USO has urged that girls sign up for the Camp White dance February 11. This dance is the Valentine Sweetheart Formal, at Service Club Number 2.

The Ashland USO Club House was the scene of a birthday party Saturday evening, honoring Pvt. Hugh McNabb who hails from Harrisburg, Illinois. Pvt. McNabb proclaimed a delight full time, the birthday cake "wonderful", and stayed for a dance after the cake was distributed.

We had some snow the other day. We had a warm rain. Now the snow has gone away. Wimble
