LITTLE CHANGE IN MOTOR VEHICLE REGISTRATION

Motor vehicle registration in Oregon at the end of March totaled 364,339 vehicles, compared to 372,421 for the same period a year ago, it was announced today. This figure represents a reduction of but two percent under the registration for the first three months of 1942. Registration of passenger vehicles coming into this state from other states is responsible for the relatively small change in registration this year, it was said.

Glass Coffee Jars May Be Sealed by new Disk

Many of the glass containers that have replaced tin on the grocery shelves can be used for home canning this season even though the tops are not the same size as the common screwtop fruit jar, according to word received by the home economics extension division at Oregon State College.

Most of the non-standard size screwtop jars, such as those used for most coffee brands, are now made with a 2 1/2-inch top. The fruit jar manufacturing companies are now making sealer disks that will fit these and which can be sealed on by using the screwtop lids that come on the original package.

While these may not yet be stocked in some stores, the Extension service, as well as most dealers, has been notified that they will be available this season. Home makers are being urged to save all of these sealable glass containers as a means of increasing the amount of home canning supplies to handle the expected large home food preservation program this season.

While British highway deaths were 16 per cent lower in 1942 than in 1939, 27% more children died as a result of highway accidents. This should serve as a warning to American parents not to relax supervision in wartime.

GREEN FINGERS

By Ruth Taylor

Happy indeed are those fortunate people who live close to the land where they can watch and tend growing things. And doubly fortunate are those with "green fingers" who have a kinship with the elements of nature, those at whose touch the earth blossoms forth.

My grandmother was one of them. Give her a plot of ground no bigger than a pocket handkerchief and she started a garden. It was a haphazard sort of affair, for her flowers bordered the vegetables and wherever there was a spare inch of earth she started something growing. She was a spendthrift of time and hospitality, but a miser when it came to buying anything she could grow. Her garden was also her joy and her comfort, for she used to say if you had a quick temper and an impatient disposition there was no cure like a garden—you could watch all of life in it and you learned to wait patiently for the fruit of your handiwork.

This year we are urged to go back to the land, to start "Victory Gardens," to plant and tend and harvest from our own soil the fruit of the earth so that we may all be well fed. They did not call them Victory Gardens in pioneer days, nor in our grandparents' times. They were just part of the family task of earning a living back in the days when people lived as families, each member, adult or child, contributing his or her share to the common welfare. All we are being asked to do now is just what those before us did as a matter of course.

We must tend our gardens carefully this year. But in our gardens, both of the soil and of life, we must take care to plant the right seeds. We must watch over them, watering with care, not washing out the young plants with floods of emotion nor letting them damp out under the dank chill of indifference. We must weed out the false growths, the tares that choke, the hateful smothering things that suck the nourishment from the growing foods.

In our gardens let us study the

FRUIT TREES FOR HOME ORCHARDS RECOMMENDED

The greatly increased interest in home food production has also stimulated inquiries concerning desirable fruit trees for the home orchard, says Henry Hartman, head of the horticultural department at Oregon State College, Corvallis.

To meet the demand for information, Professor Hartman has just revised an earlier station circular of information, No. 308, entitled "Tree Fruits for the Home Orchard," in which he discusses varieties, planting, pollination, and related matters. He recommends choosing varieties that have proved their worth by actual test in Oregon, although at the same time looking ahead as much as possible to the trend in most desired fruits.

immutable laws of nature fulfilling the destiny of life itself. Let us weed out our unreasoning hatreds and prejudices and throw them on the compost heap or burn them up. Let us grow only those plants which nourish or give beauty—and let us border our gardens with the bright pinks of friendliness, the fragrant mignonette of understanding, the purple pansies of thoughtfulness.

And let us remember that a garden blooms not for one alone, but for all. As Henry Van Dyke said, let us make a garden for our kind feelings with the gate ever open to those who pass by.
